DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEW BARBER SHOP. When you wish an easy shave, As good as barber ever gave, Just call on me at my saloon At morning, eve or noon; I cut and dress the hair with grace, To suit the contour of the face. My room is neat and towels clean, Scissors sharp and razors keen, And everything I think you'll find; To suit the face and please the mind, And all my art and skill can do If you just call, do for you. PAUL SHERARD, The Clinton Barber.

OUR GIRLS.

Two Things Needful.

Women are awakening to the fact that they have permitted their intellectual faculties to lie dormant and have willingly remained in intellectual bondage. It is only about twenty years since the first woman's college appeared in the land. As a gauge of the difference between feminine and masculine mental training, contrast the hundreds and thousands of young men who go to college to the one young woman. The son of the family goes to college as a matter of course; the young woman of the family after great discussion and consultation. How much oftener is she sent to some inferior school, where, instead of a broad, thorough collegiate training, she is content with a smattering of many things and a general finishing-off process! Many young women of the present day, after leaving school, glean a sort of aftermath of information and culture which stands them in good stead; but the reason we have not Shakespeares, Bacon's, Humes, and Carlyles among women is not because they have not intellectual caliber, but because women, having been held in domestic bondage, which is now in a measure cast off, voluntarily remain in some what the same condition. We most firmly believe that the body is all the more sound and healthy if it is the abode of a sound mind, and that much of the non-adjustment of physical force found in our homes, especially among the daughters, is due to the fact that the powers of their minds are not properly developed and trained. A strong will, an absorbing pursuit, exalt the spirit, and listlessness, dyspepsia, imperfect circulation, which breed hysteria, melancholy, and hypochondria, pass into oblivion in consequence.

It is not the custom for women to take physical exercises as men do. There is a beginning—awakening in this respect, but muscle received by attention from women as from men. A man with an iron biceps is proud of it. To him it is an emblem of strength and power. Only now and then a rare woman possesses anything more than a flabby, ill-developed biceps. The physical repression of women begins in the early childhood and is continued throughout life. A young woman whom we know, and who is striving after some little muscular culture attempted to remove from its place a heavy standard lamp of wrought iron. She could scarcely stir it, and an athletic young relative, prompted by courtesy, hastened to her assistance; but she declined his aid, vexed with herself at having so little muscular ability. Putting forth all her strength, she at length brought the lamp to the desired position. Every day she carried the lamp from one place to another, as the occasion arose for it, and in five days she found she could easily carry the lamp in one hand, and, if she wished, hold it at arm's length. Her muscles were ready to respond to even an irregular effort to educate them. How few women can open a car window! The frantic, futile, puny striving avails nothing, except to enlist a man's sympathy and muscle in the contest. The popular notion which assigns all the physical strength to the man, and expects next to none of the woman, does the latter a great physical injustice. It is exercise which is needed to secure proper circulation, proper nutrition, and consequent building up of tissues which are the component parts of a healthy body.

Deafness Can't Be Cured by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A KISS IN THE DARK.

Horace Vernet, the artist, was going from Versailles to Paris by railway. In the same compartment with him were two ladies whom he had never seen before, but who were evidently acquainted with him. They examined him minutely, and commented freely on his martial bearing, his hale old age, the style of his dress, etc. They continued their annoyance until finally the painter determined to put an end to the persecution. As the train passed through the tunnel of St. Cloud the three travelers were wrapped in complete darkness. Vernet raised the back of his hand to his mouth and kissed it twice violently. On emerging from the obscurity he found that the ladies had withdrawn their attention from him, and were accosting each other of having been kissed by a man in the dark. Presently they arrived in Paris, and Vernet, on leaving them, said: "Ladies, I shall be puzzled all my life by the inquiry, which of these two ladies kissed me?"—St. Louis Republican.

B. B. B. Botanic Blood Balm. If you try this remedy you will say as many others have said, that it is the best blood purifier and tonic. Write Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for book of convincing testimony.

J. J. Hardy, Covert, Ga., writes: "B. B. B. is a quick cure for catarrh. Three bottles cured me. I had been troubled several years."

W. A. Pepper, Fredonia, Ala., writes: "B. B. B. cured my mother of ulcerated sore throat."

PIKE'S PEAK. A correspondent, who climbed to the top of Pike's Peak one July day, found the signal service officer melting snow for his water supply, the only one he gets. The officer said: "Some times I stand at the window with my telescope. The wind without is keen and cutting as a knife. I can see the houses of Colorado Springs, twenty miles away, the visitors sitting in their shirt-sleeves, sipping iced drinks to keep cool and the ladies walking about in white summer robes. I lower the glass; the summer scene is gone. Green trees, animal life, men and women fade away like creatures in a dream, and I am the only living thing in a world of eternal ice and snow and silence."—News and Observer.

TRUE ETIQUETTE. It must be remembered that there are two kinds of etiquette—that founded upon the golden rule of "Do unto others as you would have them do to you"—the sweetest, most perfect blossom of a Christian civilization—and that which is the dictate of a punctilious and over-wrought ceremony.
