SAMPSON'S BILL ARR.

[Special Correspondence to THE CAUCASIAN.]

I have on hand a fine lot of weather. If not in stock I can have it telegraphed you, three or four kinds every twenty-four hours—rain, sleet, shine or snow. Bill Smith says he has got some mighty good weather over on his place, but I have got too much for home use and it must be disposed of. I can't sell it I am going to give it away. I think Old Probabilities has put up a job on me and changed the seasons, but I believe he has been dead two or three years and hasn't had much to do with it, but I reckon he wrote his will before he died, and his mind was a little shaky, and the four seasons are now in a big law suit trying to see which part is his rights, and I think spring has been the victorious party and the jury has given him the whole platter.

This weather bureau must have a heap of drawers in it or got it packed as prominently as a woman's trunk when she starts on a two week's trip. Every time they pull open one of them drawers out of the weather bureau at Washington some thing happens, nobody knows what is going to come—a negro postmaster or a discharged revenue collector, but we will get something different every thirty-two seconds. Let everybody help and get hold of the keys to that bureau and lock up every draw except the one that has got sunshine in it. If they would just mess with the political weather, and let the weather on my farm alone, I would be better satisfied. The West has got a blizzard and froze out, the South has got the negro under a cloud, Ohio has gone Democratic and got left, New England manufacturers are preaching religion and free-law of the ballot-box and grinding the poor working classes to death. Mr. Ingalls has got the key to the draw that has got an earthquake in it, preaching conspiracy and the torch to the negroes. Zeb Vance is after the key. Go it Zeb, for God's sake don't let him unlock the draw with the earthquake in it. I tried one and I don't like it. Well these days have got so a man can't count on nothing for certain. We have weather to plant garden peas, with weather to make them come up and grow and bloom, and then we feel proud and tell our neighbors what a fine prospect we have, how much we are going to ship and then discuss the market price and what we are going to do with the money.

Hespie shall have a new dress and a spring bonnet; and I am going to buy me a new spring wagon, and pay Noah for ironing that new blackzug ox yoke I made the other day while it was raining. But, gewhillekins! they telegraphed me one more kind of weather and killed all my peas. My hopes are all gone, and I feel like little Billy said when he got caught in the goose hole. I had a yearling in the lot and the hogs had messed with him so much by rolling their fists in his forehead he got so he would but you. Billy won't as big as the other hogs but he thought he would try it too. The geese had worked a hole under the fence out at the lot well, where they would go in and out, to pick up the corn that was dropped at the barn door.

Billy had just put on pants, and his mamma was mighty proud of him. Every time she would look at him I could see a smile come over her face, and her heart swell up as big as the whole of creation. I was selfish enough to steal some of Billy's mamma's love to him because he favored his dad; but I saw she had enough for us both and I was satisfied. Well, Billy went in the lot, stepped up to that yearling and he bowed up and made for Billy and he made for the fence, he could not get over it so he dived under the fence through the goose hole, I saw the situation and ran to beat off the yearling, Billy had got half way through, and the yearling butted where his pants hung loose and sent the other half through. It did not hurt him, he landed on the other side kerwhim. Billy got up and locked through the crack stuck his hands in his pockets and said "durn that yearling!" I feel rather the same way about the weather.

Every body must help me and let see if we can't change things for good in this country, every time I look around here everything looks so gloomy, I have been thinking about going away to Georgia. I got a nice piece of mud land, I think I had a nice "Drane" on it I wouldn't have to ditch, I could turf a barren waste into a paradise. Spring will surely come. The weather will change. The seasons regular and I am,

Is it Right?

[FOR THE CAUCASIAN.]

MR MARION BUTLER, Editor CAUCASIAN:

Dear Sir—I have never written an article for your paper, or any other paper, but there is a matter about which somebody should write and something be done.

Our people have made sorry crops for several years owing to the seasons, but that is providential and there is no murmuring. They are preparing and doing all they can to make another crop, but under very unfavorable circumstances, owing to labor. The turpentine farmers of the South came out here in January and sent their agents all through the country exciting and demoralizing labor with fine promises and fabulous prices, and carried off hundreds of laborers from our township, which was discouraging for the future outlook, but not all hopes of making another crop was lost, they went to work with the few hands left, after the excitement was over, hired some and rented to others, as best they could, and seemed to be getting along very well under the circumstances, owing to the favorable winter; all was quiet until a few days ago, when lo and behold, our quiet community was disturbed and excitement ran to fever heat by another of Georgia's great turpentine farmers prowling all through the country exciting and abducting those that were hired for wages, breaking up contracts between landlord and tenant by misrepresentations and fabulous prices offered to decoy them off.

And now, Mr. Editor, in conclusion, you know that the people of Sampson county are patient and forbearing in not resisting the outrages and wrongs that are heaped upon them by these emissaries that come among us. Our people are moral, and the records of last term of court will prove that no county in the State can show a better record. Last but not least, the Sampsonians are an industrious and brave people, and every township in the county, and in fact, in North Carolina, should speak in language not to be misunderstood, that they will no longer bear these wrongs. No State South has been imposed upon as North Carolina in that particular. If people want to emigrate let them go on their own account, and not be deceived off by agents and emissaries after crops have been pitched. More anon, W. H. CROSS.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs, she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, she bought a bottle and to her delight found here it benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Dr. R. H. HOLLEMAN'S Drugstore; large bottles 50 cents and one dollar.

Alliance Department.

BLUFF ALLIANCE.

Holston, N. C.

While many members of Bluff are so careless and indifferent that they do not attend the meetings regularly, there are a score who are as true, as the needle to the pole, to Alliance work. I have by dint of perseverance secured and forwarded $85.75 have recently collected $8.75, and $3 in notes yet to collect, making a total in cash contributed to the State Business Agency fund $94.50. Several of the members have dimittances secured and have been expelled, and in the face of many misfortunes and disadvantages the true members are still at work hoping and anticipating a better time coming. May it speedily come. Brethren rally around the Alliance banner; be true to its leaders, vote for none but honest lighted gentlemen, put your trust in God, and let the demands to Congress be made in a bold, determined and fearless manner, and the bright day-star of hope will once more illumine our path way. Never abandon the principles of the Alliance but ever remain true to it. One more word. If the Alliance ceases to exist then the farmer is financially dead forever and without the shadow of a hope of resurrection.

There are to-day 2,063 sub-Alliances in North Carolina, and ninety-five counties have county Alliances besides. That is all the counties save one, and that one is New Hanover. There are some sub-Alliances in that county, but as yet the county Alliance has not been formed. The State Alliance office here has enlarged its offices, and now occupies the entire building, which it has occupied jointly with the Call—Raleigh cor. Wil. Messenger.

A Washington correspondent of the News and Observer says—

Vance will be re-elected if the Alliance does not prevent it. The indications are that he will get that support. He has always been the choice of the farmers of North Carolina, and he has been given to understand that they still appreciate his great worth and devotion to principle. Of all the farmers in the Senate, he was selected to introduce the agricultural depository bill, which is the offsprig of the National Alliance, and which is regarded by that organization as test legislation. It begins the fight against the National Bank and Railroad monopolies. The House and Senate will both have an opportunity to make a record on it. The Alliance has determined to push the measure to a vote. The first hearing will be had about April, when President Polk will address the Senate committee on agriculture.
