An ingenious American in London has discovered the interesting fact that all watches are compasses. If the hand indicating the hour be pointed toward the sun, the south will be found half-way between the hour and the figure XII. For example, at eight o'clock, point the hour hand to the sun, and due south will be found in the direction of the figure X. It is said that Stanley did not know this, and was much interested in a fact which might prove of great service to an explorer.

Merit Wins. We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never landed remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we have refused to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Sold by Dr. R. H. HOLLIDAY, Druggist, Clinton, and Dr. J. R. SMITH, Mount Olive, N. C.

Manners are shadows of virtues, the momentary display of those qualities which our fellow-creatures love and respect. If we strive to become then what we strive to appear, manners may often be rendered useful guides to the performance of our duties.

A Safe Investment. In one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of the purchase price. This safe plan can be had from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of the Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflammation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at Dr. R. H. HOLLIDAY'S Druggist, Clinton, and Dr. J. R. SMITH, Druggist, Mt. Olive, N. C.

SPIRITED GIRLS.—A man who has been travelling in the "far West" says—but he probably misrepresents the matter—that when an Idaho girl is kissed she indignantly exclaims, "Now put that right back where you took it from!"

You are in a Bad Fix. But we will care you if you will pay us. Our message goes to the weak, nervous and debilitated, who, by early evil habits, or later indiscretions, have trifled away their vigor of body, mind and manhood, and suffer all those effects which lead to premature decay, consumption or insanity. If this means you, send for and read our Book of LIFE, written by the greatest Specialist of the day, and sent (sealed) for 6 cents in stamps. Address: Dr. Parker's Medical and Surgical Institute, 151 North Spruce St., Nashville, Tenn.

CONSUMPTION SURELY CURED. TO THE EDITOR.—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. D., 151 North Spruce St., New York.

CLEAR CUT ISSUES.

Not in fifty years has there been a campaign in which the great issues, which concern the welfare of the people, have been so clearly defined, universally discussed and generally understood as in the fight which has just resulted in a people's victory; and right here it should be remembered that formerly in "off years" the fights have, and that have been made almost entirely on personal or local grounds. But what of the issues in the "on year" or Presidential fights? In every campaign but one since the war the two great parties have tried to prevent offending the monopolists and money powers generally, and at the same time to stick in a clause in their platform to catch the vote of the farming and laboring man. They were afraid to take a stand, afraid to discuss issues. The party leaders on both sides were striving for the same thing—to get office and patronage, and the interest of the people were little thought of after their votes were captured. So since the platforms of both sides were simply bids for votes they read very much alike and neither meant anything. For instance read the following:

We favor a tariff which, yielding a revenue adequate to support the government economically administered, will fully compensate for all differences between the cost of manufacturing in this and foreign countries, including the cost of labor; and we demand that the present tariff be reformed so that the duties upon imported goods shall bear less heavily upon articles which laboring men are compelled to buy than upon luxuries, and that, as far as practicable, raw materials for manufacturing be put upon the free list.

It is one of the planks in the campaign of —. We leave the name of the party and the date blank on purpose, to let our readers guess if they can to which party it belongs. The corresponding plank in the platform of the other party is almost precisely the same in substance and words.

Cleveland becomes President. His eyes are opened. He sees the corruption of the government, how the people are daily bled to create millionaires. One eye sees the monstrous injustice of the tariff tax, the other the corrupt and thieving monetary system. He is ashamed of a party that will sit still and wink at such robbery and oppression. He decides to sound the bugle note of alarm and to make a ten strike for the liberty of his people. The party leaders beseege him and say hush, it will never do! We can't trust the people, and if we fight the money men we are kicked from power. The honest Cleveland yields. They make him shut one eye and half close the other. Wall Street and the National banks are left in their glory and 47 per cent tariff is to be lowered only a pittance. The other side takes advantage of the weakening—they promise the money powers and the manufacturers everything. Thus a half hearted fight on the part of Democracy is beaten by Republican boodles. What has become of the people? They are still bleeding, bleeding, bleeding to poverty, and there is no hand to stop the knife or physician to heal the wounds. Do the people sit still in hopeless despair? No! They arouse themselves, organize and put their heads together to investigate the cause of the trouble. They see it. They set forth and define the issues on which a campaign for honest government

CUMBERLAND NEWS.

HEAVY COTTON RECEIPTS.—THE FAIR LAST WEEK.—THE CAROLINA MACHINE WORKS—FINE PLAYS AT THE OPERA.

Col. Sutton for Speaker of the House—The Sampson Victory.

(Special Correspondence.) FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., November 12th, '90.

The Cumberland fair last week had weather "to tackle," but was a success "all the same." The weather Tuesday and Wednesday was good, and the attendance large for those days. Thursday and Friday, however, it was abominably bad weather. It rained and kept at it. The crowd on Thursday was quite large. The exhibition was the best in the history of the society, and this was the 29th annual fair. The city was full of visitors and they enjoyed themselves. Many young lady visitors are still here. The cotton receipts in Fayetteville since September 15 are 13,500 bales. This is 8,500 more bales than was received at this date last year. The price paid at Goldsboro and Raleigh last week was $3 to $3 1/2, while in Fayetteville the buyer readily paid 9 cents. Our exceptional freight rates, on account of water competition and the many factories which get their supply of the staple from here enable the buyers to pay higher prices than the other inland markets.

The Rose Osborne Company played two nights last week at the Opera House, in "Satan" and "Forget Me Not." The Henry Minstrels also gave two performances, and captivated the people with the best minstrel show ever here. In fact you scribe has never seen as good, even in New York and Washington. The Opera House was packed, and many people had to stand both nights. The seating capacity of the house is one thousand.

Little Lord Fauntleroy will be presented at the Opera House Wednesday night. The box sheets shows that all the reserved seats will be taken two days before, as everybody nearly is anxious to see this celebrated play.

The Fayetteville Choral Association was organized recently with fifty-five members will soon reach 150 of the best people in the city. Monthly entertainments will be given.

The Independent Company has organized a band with eighteen pieces. Among the instruments are four clarionets, Mess. Novitzky, Reinsberg, Sheetz and others are among the leaders. It will be one of the best in North Carolina.

The North Carolina Machine Works were chartered recently, and the building are rapidly going up. Mr. W. H. Russell, of the Shocko Machine Works, of New Hampshire, is the largest stockholder. Machinery for wood will be manufactured, and all kinds of machinery repaired. The capital stock is $20,000. This is an important addition to the industries of the city.

Col. Thos. H. Sutton was elected to the Legislature by 1,855 majority, and Mr. McGill by 1,825. They made excellent representatives before, and now go back for their third term. Col. Sutton is a candidate for Speaker of the House, and the sign post to his election. His eminent abilities and valuable experience in matters of legislation entitle him to the position. He was a leader in the House two years ago, and made a capital reputation, and a record so good that our people gave him a majority 1,200 larger than that of two years ago. He is a people's man, and letters are coming to him from representatives elect from all parts of the State, pledging him their hearty support for the Speakership. Old Cumberland expects Sampson and adjoining counties to support him.

The First Baptist Church of this city will celebrate its 53rd anniversary on the 26th inst., the exercises to continue three days. Among the men of note who will be here are Revs. Drs. Pritchard, C. Durham, F. W. Eason, W. B. Cobb and many others. It will be an interesting occasion. This congregation has recently built a new parsonage, repaired the church and raised the pastor's salary to $1,200.

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

DRESS.

It is every woman's duty, first to herself, second to her family, and third to society to appear neat, attractive and to an advantage in every way possible.

The Change in Woman's Dress. The elaborately dressed woman, on the street especially, is destined to be a rarity. Flashy styles will be given over to the marked woman who seeks for attention—attention so far as criticisms of their own sex and the sneers of the men are concerned. That the time is ripe for a material change in the fashions is conceded by all women of taste and intelligence. Styles have run to the extreme, until only a little distance remained to the point of the exceedingly ridiculous. The strain on the purse has been severely felt. Changes, and of a radical nature, became so frequent that even the wealthiest found difficulty in keeping pace with them. The reaction which has set in is both timely and healthy. Women on every hand are welcoming the dawn of the simple in dress, while man will have extended to him the honor he has always esteemed the greatest that could be conferred upon him—to walk the street with a woman in neat, but simple attire.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Woman in Politics. It is when politics enter upon the personal phase that the woman shines, says a writer in Harper's. It is she who, a brother, a husband, or a dear friend who is in one or the other party contests, she proceeds with a subtleness, peculiar to her sex, to crown his efforts with success; and if she does not succeed it is not for lack of persistence or adroitness. It is when the women drop their arguments and take to their own peculiar arts that they are powerful and to be feared, if against you and to be worshipped if for you.

FASHION NOTES.

The Princess of Wales has displayed a penchant for brown which is likely to make the color fashionable. This is fortunate, as it is a most becoming color to most women, and can be charmingly blended with gold, soft pink shades and palest blue.

The straight, plain skirt, so becoming to slim figures and so trying to stout ones is not to be worn much longer. There are signs of change; more drapery in the front may be worn by those who do not wish to emphasize every curve of their figures, and a tendency to small paniers on the hips is evident.

The new autumn color is called "bark." It is a rich reddish-brown, exactly the color of the bark on the Venice lagoon with the sun seen through them—neither brown, nor red, nor orange, but a mixture of all three; and a fine, rich, becoming mixture it is, quite suitable to both blondes and brunettes.

There is a revulsion against the very close-fitting tight skirts and white steels and pads are not visible, dresses are made full at the back, with a natural and graceful flow. Some of the newest street dresses are quite plain in front and at the sides, with folds behind, or have fan folds in front, plain sides and folds behind.

IF A GIRL IS BORN. In January, she will be a prudent housewife, given to melancholy, but good tempered. If in February, a humane and affectionate wife and tender mother. If in March, a frivolous chatterbox, somewhat given to quarreling. If in April, inconstant, not very intelligent, but likely to be good looking. If in May, handsome, amiable, and likely to be happy. If in June, impetuous, will marry early and be frivolous. If in July, passably handsome, but with a sulky temper. If in August, amiable and practical, and likely to marry rich. If in September, discreet, affable, and much liked. If in October, pretty and coquettish, and likely to be unhappy. If in November, liberal, kind, and of a mild disposition. If in December, well-proportioned, fond of novelty, and extravagant.

MR. CLAY'S TARIFF IDEAS.

An Extract from His Tariff Debate with Mr. Calhoun—Senator Carlisle on the Same Platform—Direct Taxation the Result of Production of all we Consume.

Your reference, in your issue of the 6th instant, to "20 per cent." as being "Mr. Clay's idea of a tariff," induces me to call your attention to what Mr. Clay said about "protection" in his debate with Mr. Calhoun in 1838, while the compromise tariff was nearing its minimum of 20 per centum: "No one, Mr. President, in the commencement of the protective policy, ever supposed that it was to be perpetual. We hoped and believed that temporary protection, extended to our infant manufactures would bring them up and enable them to withstand competition with those of Europe. We thought, as the wise French minister did, who, when urged by a British minister to consent to the equal introduction into the two countries of their respective productions, replied that free trade might be very well for a country whose manufactures had reached perfection, but was not entirely adopted to a country which wished to build up its manufactures. If the protective policy were to entirely cease in 1842 it would have existed twenty-six years from 1816, or eighteen from 1824; quite as long as, at either of those periods, its friends supposed it to be necessary."

Mr. Clay was living now, he would stand just where Beck stood, and where Carlisle now stands—for a tariff for "revenue only."

By the way, if the Protectionists succeed in securing the production in this country of every article needed by the people, direct taxation will become necessary, and then the people will begin to understand the extent of the extravagance and corruption of the Government. So be it, if there is no other redemption! But it will not come to that; the recent election forebodes the downfall of the plutocrats, and we may hope that the great heart of the American people is true to the principles of justice and fraternity. Let us all rejoice! Yours very truly, B. F. GRADY.

AN ANCIENT RELIC.

That No Longer Succeeds in Drawing Votes.

The Lodge force bill and the Topoka Capital did splendid service in wiping out Republican majorities, and a vote of thanks are due them. If the force bill had passed the Senate, and a newspaper like the Topoka Capital established in every State, the Republican vote would have been too small to count. The war closed a long time ago, hence the old-fashioned bloody shirt campaign of sectional hate fails to draw the votes.—National Economist.

Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for 40 years, and would say that in all my practice, I have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Cure, manufactured by you. I have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.
