A GRIEVOUS COMPLAINT.

"It's hard on a fellow, I do declare! Said Tommy one day, with a pout; "In every one of the suits I wear The pockets are 'most worn out. They're 'bout as big as the ear of a mole, And I never have more than three; And there's always coming a mean little hole That loses my knife for me.

"I can't make 'em hold but a few little things-Some cookies, an apple or two, A knife and pencil and bunch of strings, Some nails and maybe a screw, And marbles, of course, and a top and ball,
And shells and pebbles and such,
And some odds and ends—yes, bonest, that's all!
You can see for yourself 'tisn't much.

"I'd like a suit of some patent kind, With pockets made wide and long; Above and below and before and behind, Sewed extra heavy and strong. I'd want about a dozen or so, All easy and quick to get at; And I should be perfectly happy, I know, With a handy rig like that."
