Published according to Post Office at Clinton, N. C., as a second class mail matter.

CLINTON, N. C.,—APRIL 30, 1891.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Maj. Wm. A. Hearse, at Winston, N. C. He was one of the most competent editors in the State.

The consolidation of the News and Observer and Intelligence will bring together two strong editors. We wish them the best of success.

Von Meik, the greatest man in Europe, next to Gilstone and Prince Bismarck, is dead. He will go down to history as one of Europe's great soldiers.

The Wilmington Messenger has changed form to an eight column four page paper. Its merits we hope will never change, except for the better. It is a readable and popular paper.

Senator Reagan has resigned to accept a position as chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas at a salary of $6,000 a year. Gov. Hogg immediately appointed Horace Child as U. S. Senator. Mills wanted the appointment, but Hogg didn't think he was the man.

ON THE ARCTIC CIRCLE.

Adventures of an Englishman in the Frozen Regions of North America.

Washington Pike, an English explorer, has returned from the Arctic circle. Leaving Calgary in June, 1889, Mr. Pike proceeded to Athabasca Land, and from there to Fort Resolution, on Slave river. Here he secured the services of two Indian guides and helpers and started for the barren lands in search of musk ox, caribou and other large game. He had a very successful hunt, killing about forty musk ox and as many caribou as they were in position to handle. On that trip Mr. Pike went as far north as Fish River, this being the river on which Franklin's first expedition to the north pole was lost. He experienced many adventures. The party was lost for fourteen days and endured terrible sufferings. They started to cross the Yukon range of mountains to the Pacific coast. After journeying for some twelve days they found that instead of being, as they supposed, on McLeod river, they were on what afterward turned out to be the Nation. Here the guides admitted they were lost, and nothing remained for the party to do but retrace their steps, which they did with but enough provisions for a few days. In two days they were out of food, and to make a long story short, they starved for fourteen days.

Mr. Pike absolutely refuses to say anything of their tortures during the time, but many facts were gleaned from those who saw them on their return to the rapids, and were compelled to tell the truth. As an example of the terrible state of affairs, some hundreds of miles were tramped with bare feet on ice, and their frozen condition when rescued was simply terrible, while some of the party were so reduced from cold and hunger as to be totally helpless.

When asked to describe the barren lands Mr. Pike said that it was an immense tract of barren rock on which grew a kind of moss and shrub, on which deer that run by thousands feed and appear to be very fond of it.

There are numerous lakes among rocky bluffs whose waters freeze in the cold season to the depth of from seven to nine feet. He reports temperatures as low as 60 degrees in the winter, but the summer months, July and August, he says, are very hot. Six months during the year the sun never shines on these barren parts.

Mr. Pike reports moose very scarce. "I says there are large numbers of musk ox and thousands of caribou, but the latter taking to the woods in winter. Mr. Pike is the only white man who has ever trod the path of the Franklin sufferers on the Fish river. Travel during this trip was almost entirely done on foot, dog teams being used for the carrying of provisions and wood. The currency is in skins. A skin is valued at fifty cents.—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

An English Sea Crab. "I have a curiosity here," remarked a down town restaurateur, "the first of the kind seen in this country for a long time," pointing to a red backed lobster, which looked like a cross between a lobster and a Gulf crab. The shell was ten inches long, the claws black at the tips, and large enough to hold in a vise a quarter of lamb. "I was passing by Park row the other day when my attention was drawn to a sailor who was offering this fellow for three dollars to a crowd that had gathered around him. The sailor said he had brought it from Liverpool, as no doubt he had. It is an English sea crab, found only in deep water in or near the English coast.

"Only once in a great while does one get so far from home as New York. This is a little more than a baby, for it weighs but eight pounds. The average for full grown crabs is at least double that. I had not had this fellow a day when an English customer of mine offered me twenty dollars for it, with the privilege of keeping it on exhibition until he called for it. A choice company of his friends will get a rare crab salad treat from it Sunday afternoon."—New York Times.

ODDS AND ENDS. There is not always fortune in store for the young man who clerks in a store. It is estimated that Indian wars have cost the United States government $700,000,000. Darwin published his "Origin of Species" when 50 and his "Descent of Man" when 82. Sarasate, the violinist, has pocketed $25,000 as the net profit of a two months' tour in England. Your calling card sent in response to an invitation implies regret that you cannot attend in person. Most great musicians have been eccentric, and yet to be a composer a man must have good sound sense. It is claimed that Sabine parish, La., is the only county in the United States wherein there are no homestead mort-

Sermons in the Stones.

Again, if any one asks the question of the text, "What mean ye by these stones?" the reply is, we mean the communion of saints. Do you know that there is not a single denomination of Christians in America that has not contributed something toward the building of this house? And if ever, standing in this place, there shall be a man who shall try by anything he says to stir up bitterness between different denominations of Christians, may his tongue falter and his cheek blanch and his hair turn gray. For indeed, if there is any church on earth where there is a mingling of all denominations it is our church. I just wish that John Calvin and Arminius, if they were not too busy, would come out on the battlements and see us.

Sometimes in our prayer meetings I have heard brethren use the phrases of a beautiful hymn, and we know where they came from, and in the same prayer meetings I have heard brethren make unfiled exclamation, "Amen!" "Praise ye the Lord!" and we did not have to guess twice where they came from. When a man kneels at our church door, if he comes from a sect where they will not give him a cordial welcome, we say, "Come in by confession of faith." While the American Baptist, the Methodist, and John Wesley the Methodist, and John Knox the glorious old Scotch Presbyterian, are shaking hands in heaven, all churches on earth can afford to come into close communion. "One Lord, one faith, one baptism."

Oh, my brethren, we have had enough of Big Bethel fights—the Fourth Tenth New York regiment fighting the Fifteenth Massachusetts regiment. Now let all those who are for Christ and stand on the same side get shoulder to shoulder, and this church, instead of having a sprinkling of the divisions, let us have a massing of the waves in our glorious immersion in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.

I saw a little child once in its dying hour put one arm around its father's neck and the other arm around its mother's neck, and bring them close together, saying, "I will take you with me, I will take you with me, I will take you with me." Do you know that at this altar your arms and daughters will take themselves the vows of the Christian, and from this place you will carry out, some of you, your precious dead? Between this baptismal font and this communion table you will have some of the tenderest of life's experiences. God bless you, old and young and middle aged. The money you have given to this church today will be, I hope, the best financial investment you have ever made.

Your worldly investments may depend upon the whims of the money market, or the honesty of business associates, but the money you have given to the house of the Lord shall stand you in large percentages and declare eternal dividends long after the noontide sun shall have gone out like a spark from a smitten anvil and all the stars are dead.

The Englishman's Breakfast. An American should always understand what is meant by a breakfast in London. It will not do to take the fact in his lodgings, or if he lives in a hotel, in the coffee room at a fixed charge. There are two distinct classes of breakfasts, the light and the substantial, with prices to match. The first is one cup of coffee, one boiled egg and three slices of toast; the latter is one small chop, one egg, a penny loaf of bread, a buttered muffin and coffee. The principal dish of this latter meal is varied in lodging houses from day to day, the lodging becoming sausage on Tuesday, ham on Wednesday, fried sole on Thursday, and the lonely chop again, with the subsequent rotation kept up ad infinitum.—London Cor. Chicago Herald.

In relation to his scheme for a tubular railway across the Straits of Dover, Sir John Lubbock has pointed out that, unlike the tunnel, the tube can be destroyed if frequented with torpedoes or mines by the fleet, and hence could never be used by an enemy to maintain the communication of an army of invasion.

A Mammoth and Magnificent Array of

NEW NEW SPRING SPRING GOOD GOODS.

Sometimes I have congratulated myself on the selections of fashionable fabrics, but not until this season have I had such a prolific source of congratulations, for after an extended tour to all of the leading cities North and East, from which I have just returned, I have no hesitancy in stating that I now exhibit the most perfect assortment of Dry Goods to thoroughly equip a strictly first-class Establishment, ever shown from our Western mountains to our eastern seashore. Some of the new styles are startling in beauty, unique in design, and novelties of the highest and most perfect grades. If we cannot suit you in this brilliant constellation of high grade novelties, it would seem to us that the life and work of a Dry Goods merchant was a failure.

Although it looks like an almost hopeless task, yet we endeavor to give you some faint idea of what is most likely to be interesting to you. Full lines in

NOVELTIES,
