A dastardly outrage was committed by a negro watchman on a defenceless white girl near Charlotte, last week. He has not been caught up yet. If he is, he will probably be lynched.

The State Chronicle says: The department of agriculture has received a machine known as the compo-meter. It is on the order of a typewriter but is adapted to all kinds of commercial and scientific computations. It is operated by keys like a typewriter and is the only machine ever invented which will perform multiplication, division, square root, interest, etc., by the simple operation of automatic keys. With this machine twice as much work can be accomplished as without it.
The machine is indeed a necessity in the statistical work of the department, as the work of tabulating agricultural statistics, crop reports, etc., is enormous during a twelve months.

There is much talk of war in Europe. It also seems that Russia will soon be in possession of Constantinople.

It is related as a curious fact that Paris, with a population of nearly 2,500,000 souls, has less than 100 negroes within its limits. Statisticians say that the negro population of France cannot number a negro population exceeding 500.—Ex.

A Type of Divine Love.

should hinder me granting him a favor some other time." Now, I want you to know that kindness is a royal flower, and blessed be God, the king of mercy and goodness, we may pluck this royal flower and not wear it on the outside of our nature, but wear it in our soul and wear it forever, its radiance and aroma not more wonderful for time than wonderful for eternity.

POWER OF THE TONGUE.
Still further, I must speak of kindness of tongue. When you meet any one do you say a pleasant thing or an unpleasant? Do you tell him of agreeable things you have heard about him or the disagreeable? When he leaves you does he feel better or does he feel worse?
Oh, the power of the tongue for the production of happiness or misery! One word thick from the way the tongue is used in we might take the hint that it has a dangerous power. First it is chained to the back part of the mouth by strong muscle. Then it is surrounded by the teeth of the lower jaw, so many ivory bars; and then by the teeth of the upper jaw, more ivory bars. Then outside of all are the two lips, with the power of compression and arrest. And yet, notwithstanding these four imprisonments or limitations, how many take no hint in regard to the dangerous power of the tongue, and the results are laceration, sacrifice and damnation.

There are those if they know a good thing about you and a bad thing, will mention the bad thing and not the good thing. Now, there are two sides to almost every one's character, and we have the choice of overhearing the virtue or the vice. We can greet Paul and the ship's crew as they come up the beach of Malta with the words:
"What a sorry looking set you are!" How little of navigation you must know to run on this sea! Didn't you know better than to put out on the Mediterranean this wintry month?
It was not much of a ship, anyhow, or it would not have gone to pieces so soon as that. Well, what do you want?
We have had enough work to make a living for ourselves without having thrust on us two hundred and seventy-six ragamuffins."

Not so said the Maltese. I think they said: "Come in! Sit down by the fire and warm yourselves! Glad that you all got off with your lives.
Make yourselves at home. You are welcome to all we have until some ship comes in sight and you resume your voyage. Here, let me put a bandage on your forehead, for that is an ugly gash you got from the floating timbers, and here is a man with a broken arm. We will have a doctor come to attend to this fracture." And though for three months the kindness went on, we have but little more than this brief record. "The barbarous people showed us no little kindness." Oh, say the cordial thing! Say the useful thing! Say the hospitable thing!
Say the helpful thing! Say the Christian thing! Say the kind thing! I admit that this is a case for a thousand amenities than for others. Some are born pessimists, and some are born optimists, and that demonstrates itself all through everything. It is a cloudy morning.
You meet a pessimist and you say, "What weather today?" He answers, "It's going to storm," and umbrella under arm and a waterproof overcoat show that he is honest in that utterance.

On the same block, a minute after, you meet an optimist, and you say:
"What weather today?" "Good weather," this is only a fog and will soon scatter." The absence of umbrella and absence of waterproof overcoat show that it is an honest utterance. On your way at noon to luncheon you meet an optimistic merchant, and you say, "What do you think of the commercial prospects?" He says: "Glorious. Great crops must bring great business. We are going to have such an autumn and winter of prosperity as we have never seen."

On your way back to your store you meet a pessimistic merchant. "What
pects?" you ask. And he answers:
"Well, I don't know. So much grain will surfeit the country. Farmers have more bushels but less prices, and the grain gamblers will get their flint in.
There is the McKinley bill, and the hay crop is short in some places, and in the southern part of Wisconsin they had a hailstorm and our business is as dull as it ever was."

LOOK UP! LOOK UP! TRUST IN GOD!
You will find the same difference in judgment of character. A man of good reputation is assailed and charged with some evil deed. At the first story the pessimist will believe in guilt. "The papers said so, and that's enough.
Down with him!" The optimist will say: "I don't believe a word of it. I don't think that a man that has been as useful and seemingly honest for twenty years could have got off the track like that. There are two sides to this story, and I will wait to hear the other side before I condemn him."

My hearer, if you are by nature a pessimist, make a special effort by the grace of God to extirpate the dolorous and hypercritical from your disposition. Believe nothing against anybody until the wrong is established by at least two witnesses of integrity. And if guilt be proved, flout out the extenuating circumstances if there are any.

And then commit to memory so that you can quote for yourself and quote for others that exquisite thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians about charity that endureth long and is kind and bopeeth all things and endureth all things. By pen, by voice, in public and in private, say all the good about people you can think of, and if there be nothing good, then tighten the chain of muscle on the back end of your tongue and keep the ivory bars of teeth on the lower jaw and the ivory bars of teeth on the upper jaw locked and the gate of your lips tightly closed and your tongue shut up.

What a place Brooklyn would be to live in, and all the other cities and neighborhoods to live in, if charity dominated! What if all the young and old gospellers were dead. The Lord hasten their funerals! What if little tattle and whispering were out of fashion! What if in whispering out the value of other people's character in our moral arithmetic we stuck to addition instead of subtraction! Kindness! Let us, morning, noon and night, pray for it until we get it. When you can speak a good word for some one, speak it. If you can conscientiously give a letter of commendation, give it. Watch for opportunities for doing good and after you are dead.

All my life has been affected by the letter of introduction to the Rev. Dr.
Van Vranken, of New Brunswick Theological seminary, wrote for me, a boy under him, when I was seeking a settlement in which to preach the Gospel.
The letter gave me my first pulpit. Dr.
Van Vranken has been dead more than thirty years, yet I feel the touch of that magnificent old professor. Strange sensations was it when I received a kind message from Rev. Thomas Guard, of Baltimore, the great Methodist orator, six weeks after his death. By way of the eternal world? Oh, no, by way of this world.

I did not meet the friend to whom he gave the message until nearly two months after Thomas Guard had ascended. So you can start a word about some one that will be on its travels and vigorous long after the funeral psalm has been sung at your obsequies. Kindness! Why, if fifty men all aglow with it should walk through the lost world, methinks they would almost abolish perdition.

INSPIRING EXAMPLES OF KINDNESS.
Furthermore, there is kindness of action. That is what Joseph showed to his outrageous brothers. That is what David showed to Mephibosheth for his father Jonathan's sake. That is what Onesiphorus showed to Paul in the Roman penitentiary. That is what William Cowper recognized when he said he would not trust a man who would with his foot needlessly crush a worm.

This is what our assassinated President Lincoln demonstrated when his private secretary found him in the Capitol grounds trying to get a bird back to the nest from which it had fallen, and which quality the illustrious man exhibited years before which having some lawyers in the carriage on the way to court passed on the road a swine fast in the mire, after awhile cried to his horses, "Ho!" and said to the gentlemen, "I must go back and help that hog out of the mire." And he did go back, and put on solid ground that most uninteresting quad-ranted.

That was the spirit that was manifested by my departed friend, Honorable Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia (and lover of man never exchanged earth for heaven), when at Washington. A senator's wife, who told my wife of the circumstances, said to him, "Mr. Stephens, come and see my dead canary bird." And he answered, "No, I could not look at the poor thing without crying."

That is the spirit that Grant showed when at the surrender at Appomattox he said to General Lee, "As many of your soldiers are farmers and will need the horses and mules to make the crops to keep their families from suffering next winter, let each Confederate who can claim a horse or a mule take it along with him."

That is the spirit which last night ten thousand mothers showed to their sick children coming to give the drink at the twentieth call as cheerfully and as tenderly as at the first call. Suppose all this assemblage, and all to whom these words shall come by printer's type, should resolve to make kindness an overruling, undegringing and all pervading principle of their life, and then carry out the resolution, why, in six months the whole earth would feel it. "What is the matter?" It seems to me that the world is getting to be a better place to live in. Why, after all is worth living. Why, there is Shylock, my neighbor, has withdrawn his lawsuit of foreclosure against that man, and because he has had so much sickness in his family, he is going to have the house for one year rent free. There is an old lawyer in that young lawyer's office, and do you know what he has gone in there for? Why, he is helping fix up a case which is too big for the young man to handle, and the white haired attorney is hunting up previous decisions and making out a brief for the boy.

"Down at the bank I heard yesterday a note was due, and the young merchant could not meet it, and an old merchant went in and got for him three months' extension, which for the young merchant is the difference between bankruptcy and success in business.
And in our street is an artist who had a fine picture of the 'Rapids of Niagara,' he could not sell it, and his family were suffering, and they were themselves in the rapids; and a lady heard of it and said, 'I do not need the picture, but for the encouragement of art and helping you out of your distress I will take it,' and on the drawing room wall are the 'Rapids of Niagara.'" Do you know that a strange thing has taken place in the pulpit and all the old ministers are helping the young ministers, and all the old doctors are helping the young doctors, and the farmers are assisting each other in gathering the harvest, and for that farmer who is sick the neighbors have made a 'bee,' as they call it, and they have all turned in to help him get his crops into the garner?

AN ALMOST INCREDIBLE INSTANCE.
"And they tell me that the older and more skillful reporters who have permanent positions on papers are helping the young fellows who are just beginning to try and don't know exactly how to do it. And after a few easures and interpolations on the reporter's part they say: 'Now, here is a readable account of that tragedy. Hand it in and I am sure the managing editor will take it.' And I heard this morning of a poor old man whose three children were in bed debate as to who should take care of him in his declining days."

"The oldest son declared it was his right because he was the oldest, and the youngest son said it was his right because he was the youngest, and Mary said it was her right because she better understand her father's vertigo and rheumatism and poor spells, and know better how to nurse him, and the only way the difficulty could be settled was by the old man's promise that he would divide the year into three parts, and spend a third of his time with each one of them."

"And neighboring stores in the same line of goods on the same block are acting kindly to each other, and when one is a little short of a certain kind of goods, his neighbor says, 'I will help you until you can replenish your shelves.' It seems to me that those words of faith are being fulfilled when he says, 'The carpenter encouraged the goldsmith, and he that smooths with the hammer, him that smote the anvil, saying, 'It is ready for the soldering.' What is the matter? It seems to me our old world is picking up. Why, the millennium must be coming in. Kindness has gotten the victory."

My hearers, you know and I know we are far from that state of things.
But why not inaugurate a new disposition of gentility? If we cannot yet have a millennium on a large scale, let us have it on a small scale, and under our own vestments. Kindness! If this world is ever brought to God that is the thing that will do it. You cannot fret the world down, although you may fret the world down. You cannot scold it into excellence or reformation or god-liness.

The east wind and the west wind were one day talking with each other, and the east wind said to the west wind: "Don't you wish you had my power? Why, when I start they hail me by storm signals all along the coast.
I can twist a ship's mast as easily as a cow's hoof cracks an alder. With one sweep of my wing I have strewn the coast from Newfoundland to Key West with perished ship timber. I can lift and have lifted the Atlantic ocean.
I am the terror of all invalidism, and to fight me back forests must be cut down for fires, and the miles of continents are called on to feed the furnaces. Under my breath the nations crouch into sepulchers. Don't you wish you had my power?" said the east wind.

The west wind made no answer, but started on its mission, coming somewhere out of the rosy bowers of the sky, and all the rivers and lakes and seas smiled at its coming. The gardens bloomed, and the orchards ripened, and the wheat fields turned their silver into gold, and health clapped its hands, and joy shouted from the hillsides, and the nations lifted their foreheads into the light, and the earth had a doxology for the sky, and the sky an anthem for the earth, and the warmth, and the sparkle, and the gladness, and the foliage, and the flowers, and the fruits, and the beauty, and the life were the only answer the west wind made to the insolence of the east wind's interrogation.

JOHN HOWARD, FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE AND IDA LEWIS.
Kindness to all! Surely it ought not to be a difficult grace to culture when we see towering above the centuries such an example that one glimpse of it ought to melt and transform all nations. Kindness brought our Lord from the manger to the cross; kindness to persecutors, kindness to the crippled, and the leprosy, and the dropsical, and the demoniacal characterized him all the way, and on the cross, kindness to the bandits suffering on the side of him, and kindness to the executioners while yet they pushed the spear and hammered the spikes, and howled the blasphemies.

All the stories of the John Howards, and the Florence Nightingales, and the Grace Darlings, and the Ida Lewises pale before the transcendent example of him whose birth and life and death are the greatest story that the world ever heard, and the theme of the midnight hosanna that heaven ever lifted. Yea, the very kindness that allowed both hands to be nailed to the horizontal timber of the cross with that crucial thump! thump! now stretches down from the skies those same hands filled with balm for all our wounds, forgiveness for all our sins, and peace for all our souls.

And while we take this matchless kindness from God, may it be found that we have uttered our last bitter word, written our last cutting paragraph, done our last satirical action, felt our last revengeful heart throb.
And it would not be a bad epiphany for any of us if by the grace of God from this time forth we lived such beneficent lives that the tombstone's child could appropriately cut upon the plain slab that marks our grave a suggestion from the text, "He showed us no little kindness."

But not until the last child of God has got ashore from the earthly storms that drove him on the rocks like Mediterranean Euroclydons, not until all the thrones of heaven are mounted, and all the conquerors crowned, and all the harpes and trumpets and organs of heaven are thrummed or blown or sounded, and the ransomed of all climes and ages are in full chorus under the jubilation swing of angelic baton, and we shall for thousands of years have seen the river from under the throne rolling into the "sea of glass mingled with fire," and this world we now inhabit shall be so far in the past that only a stretch of celestial memory can recall that it ever existed at all. Not until then will we understand what Nehemiah calls "the good kindness," and David calls "the marvelous kindness," and Isaiah calls "the everlasting kindness" of God!

Good looks.
Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy, condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive, you have a sallow complexion, if your stomach be dis-ordered you have a Dyspeptic Look, and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched Look. Secure good health and you will have good looks.
Electric Bitters is the great alterative and Tonic acts directly upon these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion.
