I will not chide; I will forgive; I will not keep anger." This appeal recognized the element to which it appealed. So Jesus Christ taught, and so did his apostles teach. Open the New Testament and you find it upon almost every page. First-Christ teaches the intrinsic divinity of humanity in his doctrine of child salvation. He teaches it with an emphasis that marks the thought preeminently in his ministry. His disciples had driven the children away from the great master. Christ turns upon them with anger. The Word says that "He was moved with indignation," but the Greek declares that he was angry. This word signifying anger is used only once to describe the emotions that swept the heart of Christ, and this was the occasion. Jesus turned to his shortsighted disciples with those immortal words never to be forgotten, "Suffer the little
