THE CAUCASIAN.

CLINTON, N. C., JUNE 30, 1892.

A CORRECT COPY.

Some persons and newspapers have been charging that the sub-treasury demands of the Alliance were identical with the St. Louis platform adopted a few years ago, and other things that would be objectionable to many people. They have tried to prejudice people against the Alliance by such misrepresentations. The following is a correct and official copy of the St. Louis demands:

First—We demand the passage of such laws as may be necessary and proper for the separation of the Treasury from all banking institutions. That the Government should collect and disburse all its revenues, dispense with the national banks as financial agents, and that without the use of banking corporations, establish a system of finance, by means of a sub-treasury system, which shall furnish a sound, safe and efficient means of distribution direct to the people at a tax not to exceed 2 per cent. per capita, as set forth in the sub-treasury scheme of the Farmers' Alliance, or some better system; also, for payments in discharge of its obligations for public improvements.

a We demand free coinage of silver.

b We demand that the amount of circulating medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

c. We demand a graduated income tax.

d. We believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand all National and State revenues shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the Government economically and honestly administered.

e. We demand that postal savings banks be established by the Government for the safe deposit of the savings of the people and to facilitate exchange.

LAND.

Second—The land, including all the natural resources of wealth is the heritage of the people and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, and alien ownership of land should be prohibited. All land now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs, and all lands now owned by aliens, should be reclaimed by the Government and held for actual settlers only.

TRANSPORTATION.

Third—Transportation being a means of exchange and a public necessity, the Government should own and operate the railroads in the interest of the people.

The telegraph and telephone, like the post office system, being a necessity for transmission of news, should be owned and operated by the Government in the interest of the people.

ERVIN P. OSBORNE.

The above is certified to by the whole North Carolina delegates to the St. Louis Convention. The delegates were as follows: Marion Butler, J. F. Brinson, Revs. L. Hoover, W. C. Wilcox, B. H. Bunting, P. H. Massey, W. F. Johnson, A. C. Shuford, H. McKent, Rev. J. C. Brown.

DONATED BY.

There are people who wish to oppose the Alliance and not being able to do so fairly or meet its speakers in argument, stoop to misrepresent and abuse.

NOTES BY A REFORMER.

Justice Bradley, of the Supreme Court, who died but a short time ago, in discussing the legal tender cases that were decided by that court, said: "The heart of the nation must not be crushed out. The people must be made able to pay their debts and meet their obligations. The debtor interest of the country represents its bone and sinew, and must be encouraged to pursue its vocations. If relief were not afforded universal bankruptcy would ensue and industry would be stopped, and government would be paralyzed in paralysis of the people." Those were the words of Justice Bradley at the time the Shylocks of the country were seeking to destroy the financial character of the greenback and burn it up in their steady march toward a single gold standard. The people save gold, silver and greenback, but they were too heedless and indifferent to their own interests to defeat the schemes of the money changers. The single gold standard was reached, over the prostrate form of the people, and hence the words of Justice Bradley, though not so intended, bore a prophetic character. "The debtor interest," "the bone and sinew of the country," has not been "encouraged," and as a consequence "universal bankruptcy" and "paralysis of the people" is imminent.

SOUTH CLINTON.

Mr. John C. Slocumb will deliver a Sunday School address at the Chestnutt School House on the second Sunday in July at 10 o'clock. The public is invited.

Mr. J. A. Ferrell had a cotton blossom on last Saturday morning, June 25th.

Beaman's X Roads is located in one corner of three townships, Honeycutt's, Hall's and Mingo, and is a land of milk and sorghum, and as we are about done our crops, ever man can sit and rest under his own vine and appletree.

The creek is low and the boys can go a baking.

Crops are looking fine, but are overrun with grass.

W. H. Jones says he has a dog that fails to eat just before rain. I wish the old fellow would lose his appetite now for awhile.

Hickory Grove church has a good Sabbath school, under the management of D. Holland and G. C. West.

Mrs. Mary Granthan, from near Dunn, is visiting relatives in this community.

The young ladies have not given up the Leap Year fight yet. I hear of some trying to make engagements on full terms.

For a young man to try to farm by himself is a failure, so some are striking while the iron is hot.

On Wednesday, June 22nd, as the wife of Mr. Kin Sauls was returning home from Mr. W. R. Warren's, a neighbor, she heard growling similar to that of a dog, and in looking in the road before her she discovered that instead of growls from a dog they were that of a bear. She became alarmed and ran a quarter of a mile to Mr. Tew's and informed him that she had been attacked by a bear. Mr. Tew was aware that Mr. Warren had some hounds and got him, joined by the other neighbors, to go in pursuit of his bearship. The pursuers had not gone more than a quarter of a mile when one of the hounds bayed the bear. The other hounds jumped a rabbit and broke off the hound that was baying the bear from further sport. Thus his bearship was prevented from being captured. No huckleberries in our township this year.

W.

BRANCH.

Mrs. A. E. Averitt, of Wakefield, is visiting relatives and friends in Pender. She gives a glowing description of the Wakefield commencement, this being the best year the school has known. Under the efficient management of Rev. O. L. Stringfield and Prof. W. J. Ferrell, the principals, with the brilliant assistants, Mrs. O. L. S. and Misses Chambley and Worth, and the splendid new institute, the coming year bids fair to be a success indeed. Parents wishing to prepare their children for college could not better the opportunities offered by the Wakefield Institute in North Carolina.

Rev. D. W. Herring, of China, will preach at Wells Chapel on second Sunday in July. His many friends will be pleased to hear him. Come all.

Farmers are having good seasons, plenty of hard work and grass in abundance.

Crops are doing well and gardens are extra fine. Though late, Mrs. B. B. Newkirk has a cabbage measuring four feet and nine inches in diameter. So you see the Lord will give the bottom, be they sweet, or bitter, and thus it proves in the spil of low Sampson's gardens.

Mr. B. B. Newkirk is in possession of an eyeless cat, which is seven months old, and can bat its eye-lids perfectly, though no sign of an eye is to be seen, its sense of hearing is remarkable.

Mr. J. M. Alderman has returned home from Wakefield, where he has been attending school. We wish him a pleasant vacation.

Mr. D. Harvey Newkirk, who has been quite a sufferer since February first, we are grateful to state, is convalescing, and is now able to ride to church. We hope he will soon be able to be the jolly youth of a few months back.

Many, very many hearts have been made sad at the death of our christian leader, Col. L. L. Polk. It is not, to be regretted by our Alliancemen alone, but by the denomination, in which he was a power for good, and the Nation at large, will miss him. His loved ones have our heartfelt sympathy.

SEPTIMUS.

HALL'S.

Mr. EGTOR—As our section not been reported in sometime I will send you a few notes.

Most of us are "old-hoppers" and have very little time for writing.

Crops are looking well and the present indications are that we will have plenty of "hog and hominy" for another year.

Mr. S. R. McPhail has a twenty acre field of the best corn we have seen.

Miss Lillie Moore, of Clinton, recently spent a few days with Miss Berta Hobbs.

Misses Florence Lassiter and Ada Stevens, of Smithfield, as the guest of Miss Pheoa McPhail, are visiting among us.

Miss Alice Radford, also of Smithfield, has been visiting this section, but has returned home.

All of our boys and girls are home from school, and what a lively time with the young people!

The whole community has a gloom cast over it in the death of Miss Lizzie Hinsmith. She died on last Saturday, after a short illness of bilious fever.

The Goshen Democrat Class held a contest at Keener's last Saturday night. The medal was awarded to Miss Lona Weeks, and presented in a short and appropriate talk by Mr. O. F. Herring.

Mr. Nathan Barefoot, of Mingo.

Dear Sir: For names of your twins, if females I suggest Varah and Farah; if males Kerry and Hemp.

Z.

MINGO.

Mr. R. Ind. Lewis has the finest corn any cotton and potatoes I have seen. He had the first cotton blosson I have heard of. He is done hilling corn and is now visiting his son-in-law, Dr. Cooper.

Miss Belle Pew died on the 23d of this month. She will be missed at Elizabeth church. She was a faithful member of our Sunday School.

Mrs. Edwards died on the 25th and was buried at Cedar Creek on Sunday, the 26th.

Mr. Jimmie Lewis has done more work this summer than two such boys ought to do.

Mr. J. O. Culbreth is doing the best business at Boykin's Bridge now than he has ever done.

I hope them Dismal boys will not get any more kicking.

TIGE.

LISBON.

Mr. Preston S. Van, a cadet from Scotland Neck Military School, went up to take charge of a school at Aulander, N. C., last week. He was accompanied by Miss Maggie Giddens, who will spend a while with her uncle, Rev. J. M. Curtis, at Aulander.

SENATOR PEFFER'S PLAN.

In the Inter-Ocean of April 21st the following communications appeared on banks and banking:

UNITED STATES SENATE,
Washington, D. C., March 16.

Replying to your request under date of the 15th instant in relation to the supplying the place of national bank circulation, I have to say that in my own judgment the best substitute is what the people of Kansas favored fourteen years ago, namely, United States notes, commonly called greenbacks, for as you know, national bank notes are redeemable in United States notes. I think it would be well to abolish the whole system of bank note issues. No banking institution should be permitted to issue anything which is to be used as legal tender money unless the issue is supported by the power and the material used, whatever it may be, should not be redeemable in anything. It ought to go out to the people as money, full legal, ready for duty, without any weight or impediment or conditions of any sort, whatever. What we use as money should be absolutely free from all conditions, so that there could be no "runs" on banks in time of stringency, and no panics because debtors are unable to obtain legal tender money. I believe that the time has come to nationalize our money. We took one long step in that direction when we adopted our national banking system. We taxed State bank notes out of existence, substituted a national currency for a purely local currency, and it was only a short time after embarking in this new enterprise until we discovered that the bankers of the country were masters of the financial situation. We find that instead of serving the people they served themselves. In 1882 there were $356,000,000 of bank note circulation. Since that time about $240,000,000 of it has been retired, not because the people did not need the money, but because the banks realized a profit from the sale of their bond at the premium—the bonds that they had deposited as security for circulation. Our experience and that of other nations has been that banking corporations are private schemes for profit to individual persons, and our observation has taught us that there is only one safe way to avoid the dangers, to which that sort of financial management subject us; that is for the nation itself to prepare its own money, every dollar of it, issue it to the people direct, by through government agencies, wholly without the use and intervention of banking corporations or other private agencies.

I understand from the foregoing that I would not only substitute United States notes, or treasury notes, if you choose, for national bank notes as they are being retired, but I would substitute that sort of money for all bank issues; and I would do even more than that. I would not make money out of a promise to pay; that is to say, I would not write out a promise to pay money and call that promise money, but I would use a piece of paper just as we are now using a piece of gold or a piece of silver and make that money, providing in the contract what its functions shall be. That puts the influence, the credit and the power of all the people behind the money. Then we will have gold and silver and paper at par one with the other; and that, it will reduce rates of interest down to the level of profit on labor, so that men can make as much money farming or blacksmithing or carpentering as they can by lending money, will give us a safe currency, a sound financial system, and no more money panics. Yours truly,

W. A. PEFFER.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

Mrs. Emery in her great little book, "The Seven Financial Conspiracies," tells us that the bill making greenbacks legal tender for all debts public and private except duties on imports and interest on the public debt, was passed February 25th, 1862.

The Act creating the national banking system was passed June 3rd, 1864.

The Act providing for the contraction of the currency is the simplest, most lunatic thing ever created. It is entitled "An Act to provide ways and means to support the government," passed April 12th, 1866.

The credit strengthening act by which the 5 30 bonds were made payable in coin, was approved March 18, 1862.

The refunding act providing for the perpetuation of the National debt, and placing upon posterity a continuous burden of interest was approved July 14, 1870.

The Act demonetizing silver was passed February 12, 1873.

The resumption Act by which all these series of notes and bonds were to be redeemed in coin was approved January 14, 1875.

These are seven steps to Shylock's throne.

The issues of greenbacks, treasury notes and coupon bonds is a very complicated subject, and can not be fully discussed in one article. That which most interests our readers is the history of paper money beginning with the war. The first issue of this kind was for $150,000,000, approved July 17, 1861. This act was amended August 5, 1862. This was further amended February 12, 1862, and in these three Acts the famous $450,000,000 of demand notes were included.

The greenback proper as commonly understood, was authorized by the Act of February 25, 1861. And, stripped of the exception clause contains the principle that is the root of all contention. Stripped of all confusing verbiage this principle is that our government may issue legal tender paper, redeemable in no particular substance or commodity, bearing no interest, and payable at face value for all debts public and private. It does not say that gold and silver shall not be money. All subsequent financial legislation is a history of the struggle of the gold bugs to drive the greenback of existence.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters is done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same place, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life." Only 50 cents a bottle, at R. H. Holliday's Drug-store, Clinton, N. C., and John R. Smith, Druggist, Mt. Olive, N. C.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

TESTING COWS.

To those who do not keep cows we would urge them seriously to raise female calves and breed them to come into milking at about thirty months old. Twenty seven to thirty months is better for a well grown young cown.

The Germans have a proverb that "the foot of the sheep is golden," but we believe in the cow, and her products to help our farmers of to-day will but give her a thorough trial.

To those who keep many cows we would say you had better test your cows for you do not know which ones are living on the products of the others. There are drones and workers among cows as among bees and men. You must discover the drones to discard them, and the best ones to treasure them the more.

One way to test a cow is to put one day's milk aside and churn the whole of it by itself and repeat for every cow kept at stated intervals, but is a deal of extra work. A simple way, however, is to buy a Babcock Tester and test the amount of fat in every cow's milk. Of course in order to make a proper test you will have every cow's milk weighed—a simple thing, and then a short calculation will show which are paying and which are not.—F. E. Emery, Agriculturist, N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station.

A TEST OF SOME COWS IN A WELL KNOWN DAIRY.

Messrs. W. G. Upchurch & Bro. have become convinced that some of the cows in their Rhamkat's Dairy are much better than others and, in fact, they have been feeding some of them at an expense greater than their products have been worth.

In order to begin a test of this he arranged to have Mr. C. E. Seymour of the Agricultural and Mecanical College visit his breed and make a few trials with the Babcock Tester to determine the percentage of fat in the milk, under the direction of the Agriculturist of the N. C. Experiment Station.

Accordingly on May 25th Mr. Seymour made the following trials which show enough to prove Mr. Upchurch's convictions to have been well founded, and that even in so well selected a heard as his thorough-bred Jerseys, it will pay him to select further in the light the Babcock Tester can throw on his yields. Six trials of the milk of individual cows were made, one of the mixed milk of the herd at one milking and two of the two lots of skim-milk. The milk for the day is estimated at twice that for one milking, and the butter yield is calculated as if the total fat for the day was five-sixth of the butter. Here are the figures:

	Yield of milk in lbs. one milking.	Per cent of fat found.	Yield of Fat in lbs.
Rosa Wilson	14	4.66	0.652
Woodland's Fairy	8.3	6.06	0.503
Flora Valley	18	4.20	0.756
Rosa Stella	13	5.58	0.725
Martha Pool (grade cow)	9	4.19	0.377
Pet	137	2.55	3.493
Mixed milk (whole herd)			1.634
Skim milk for eve of 24th
Skim milk for A. M. of 25th

At the time these trials were made the weather was cool and very favorable to good results in creaming the milk. Mr. Upchurch skims after 26 hours setting, hence skim milk had soured and was thick before the sample of the skim milk which could have and probably did have some more fat in it than the one fourth of one per cent. shown by the test. But even this small amount, if no more fat was lost in warm weather, would waste enough fat which could be saved by the Babcock Separator to return nearly fifty dollars in the year's work with this dairy. This indicates that a Tester and a Babcock Separator would be profitable investments in the Messrs. Upchurchs' Dairy.—F. E. Emery, Agriculturist, N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station.

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

ADVICE TO THE ENGAGED.

TO THE MAN.

If you intend to treat yourself any better than you treat your wife, don't take one.

If you think that a woman is any weaker minded than a man, stop where you are.

If you suppose that running the house consists in paying the bills, don't undertake it.

If you have an idea that you are too good for a picked-up dinner, remain a bachelor.

If you have found it a hard task to be happy yourself, don't try to make any one else happy.

If you are marrying her for her figure, it would be wise on your part to watch her diet very closely.

If you have chosen a pretty woman, without regard to her other qualities, bail; you are on the wrong road.

If you incline to the opinion that any manners are good enough for home manners, don't try to have a home.

If you are of the opinion that marriage makes man and wife one, and you are to be that one, send in your regrets at once.

If you are one of those men who think 10 per cent. of their income belongs to the tap-room, in heavens name let marriage alone.

TO THE WOMAN.

If you are extremely fond of dancing, you would do well to marry a dancing master.

If you don't feel that you are qualified to be a poor man's wife, don't marry a rich one.

If you are marrying for money only, you must only expect to get what money can buy.

If you are going to marry a man for his looks, you must not be surprised when he gives you black ones.

If you are marrying a man to reform him, it behooves you to exercise all the zeal and patience of the reformer.

If you are going into the thing blindly, don't hold up your hands in holy horror when you get your oves opened.

If you only contemplate taking a husband in order to gain greater freedom, don't be surprised if he should profit by your example.

If you have been engaged three times before this, you had better wait six months; perhaps this engagement may be followed by still another.

If you have an idea that a cook-book and an allowance can make a happy home, you should get yourself to a nunery with all convenient speed.

If you expect that God will bless your home because you put that sentiment in yellow worsted and an oak frume, you are doomed to disappointment.

If you have an idea that married life is any easier than it was in your mother's time because you can live in a boarding house and put your washing out, don't try it.

If you are fond of dress and show an empty pride, and take pleasure in the frivolities of life, don't marry a man at all; merely marry something that will pass for a man.

SAUCE FOR THE SEX.

"I can take a hundred words a minute," said the stenographer. "I often take more than that," remarked the other in sorrowful accents; "but then I have to—I'm married.—Boston Transcript.

"Mamma," said a young lady, is it proper that Charley should kiss me before we are married?" "Certainly, you are engaged to him, and besides, if you care to have him kiss you, you had better let him do it now."

"An appartment is so convenient," said Mrs. Trotter; "when you see any one coming to call that you don't want to see, all you have to do is to walk down stairs while they are coming up in an elevator.—N. Y. Sun.

He (anurily)—"Look at this bill. Eighteen dollars for perfumery—for mere odors that fade away forever.

She (calmly)—Gone to meet the smoke of the forty dollars worth of cigars you have consumed since the 1st of January.

Mother—What! Do you mean to tell me that during your wedding tour you mended your husband's clothes? My! my! What could have possessed you?

Bride—Dear me! What's the matter?

Mother—You foolish girl! Now he'll expect you to keep on doing it.—N. Y. Weekly.

Miss. Gush—And Ethel, what is the baby's name?

Mrs. Newmother—I've named him Ethelbert Algenon.

Miss Gush—But I always thought the father named the boys?"

Mrs. Newmother—If you could hear what his father calls him when he is walking the floor with him in the early dawn you wouldn't wonder I took matters in my own hands.—Life.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25, 1891.

CAPITAL CHEMICAL COMPANY,

Gentlemen:—Last spring I had twenty seven boils. I was unfit for work. I had a severe headache. I secured one package of the Capital Blood Purifier and had it reduced to liquid form, and after the use of same for two weeks no more boils appeared. I pronounce it the best blood medicine I have ever used.

Yours sincerely,

H. S. BOLTEUR,
Freedman National Economist.
