"The commissary marshal will al who applies for the same an equal piece of soap, which he should redistribute to each of his group, and they will carry the same personally until used up, when he will be supplied with more. Cleanliness, boys, is next to Godliness."

It will appear from the above, taken from two Democratic papers that there were three distinguishing reforms entered upon by the Coxey Army at the camp that they named for the Editor-in chief of THE CAU-CASIAN, viz. :

First-They held religious services. Second-They added 150 new re ed at one time.

Third-They began the use of soap. And we trust that not even a member of the degenerate remnant of the Democratic party will dare deny that these things are right and good.
