THE WORK OF THE ENEMY.

Perhaps we have already used enough space in trying to show how the organized shlylockism of the country is seeking to fasten and permanently weld the Cleveland-Sherman-Carlisle-Rothschild gold standard-sweating system on the people. But we wish, for one more time, to emphasize the fact and to say something of the methods employed, and then leave the whole matter to the consideration and conscience of all who read the CAUCASIAN. If what we shall show does not arouse the people among which this paper circulates, it may be set down as a fact that they are too stupid and dolish to comprehend what is going on, or to understand the great danger threatened.

We have already referred to the organization of millionaires which calls itself the "Reform Club." This club has headquarters at 52, William street, New York. This is the locality in which Cleveland had his law office. It is where his former partner now has an office. The chairman of this "Reform Club" is C. S. Fairchild, who was Secretary of the Treasury during Cleveland's first term. Every member of the club is a banker, speculator or gambler.

We recently told how this club wrote letters to nearly all the country papers regardless of politics, offering to do their printing free if the papers would circulate the "Reform Club's" ideas. These millionaires can afford to spend immense sums of money for this purpose and they are spending it. The executive committee of the club recently made a report of the work it has done and intended to do. The CAUCASIAN has secured a copy of this report, and the extracts taken from it and printed below are interesting. They show how the goldbugs are working and forcing their papers and falsehoods before the people.

If these facts do not awaken the Populists and reformers to some action in seeing that their own papers are more widely circulated, and the baneful effects of this pernicious goldbug literature counteracted, the great, coming fight will be lost to the people.

The report tells about arrangements for having speakers to canvass whole States. It has sent out eight hundred and thirty-two thousand "goldbug" books since December. This, however, is a small part of the work done. In division 3, the report says:

"The plan for broadside supplement supply outlined in our last report and approved by the committee in March has already gone into successful operation, and we are now supplying every two weeks, properly dated and printed with the names of the papers respectively circulating them, broadside supplements sufficient to accompany the full editions of two hundred local papers in every part of the country, most largely in the south, the west, and the southwest. In this way, at a minimum of expense, the sound currency literature is carried direct into the homes of rural voters as a part, in most cases, of the only paper which they take and which they therefore read from beginning to end. Some 400,000 full page sheets of sound currency literature distributed each fortnight."

This ought to arouse the resentment of every honest farmer in the country. Just notice how these goldbugs speak of the rural voter and how they talk about getting their "rural voter" taken. Nobody but a miserable, drivelling idiot wants any better proof than this that the goldbugs are trying to keep the people fooled.

Division 4, of this goldbug report says:

"In our last report we noted our preparation for the supply of 'plate matter.' Since then arrangements have been perfected, and we are now supplying over one hundred papers (and the number is rapidly increasing) with what is known as 'plate' matter, the papers in question being those of some what larger circulation than the average ones. These taking our broadside supplements—the local distribution of the plate papers in the different parts of the country being in general similar to that of those which take the supplements."

So it is seen that those fellows have already bought up about three hundred papers in the west and south and they are still buying them. Just note that they say "and the number is still increasing."

The report then says that a branch office of the club is to be established in Washington, and that already they have branches in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Buffalo and various other points.

Here is a very interesting part of the club's report. Read it and study it: "The circulation of documents, which was a matter of thousands last autumn, of ten thousands in the winter, and of hundreds of thousands in the early part of the spring, has already become a million. The rate of expenditure is rapidly rising—especially during the last few weeks, when, for the first time, our cost has been large enough to accommodate sufficient force properly to handle the work which we have attempted. The printing alone of the most of MATTER SENT OUT WEEKLY involves large figures, the second class postage on that part of this handled is a considerable sum, the express on the scores of PACKAGES DAILY FORWARDED, a still greater one; and ordinary postage on the vast amount that must be prepared, a greater one yet. Our staff, including editors, shipping clerks, stenographers and addressing and forwarding hands, is over thirty in number and has so steadily increased that we have lately been obliged to add fifty per cent to the office room, which we had doubled on May 1st. Our total receipts from subscriptions to date have been some $27,000. It will need some $20,000 more to carry us to November 1st, when for a couple of months it may be expected our expenditures will decrease—to some extent. THE OUTLOOK. Here, the approaches of final preparations for the national convention in June, 1896. So far we have had every cause to appreciate the hearty support given our work, equally by members of ALL POLITICAL PARTIES. But we must be able to count upon even more prompt and generous assistance than we have heretofore received if we are to continue through the year, even on the most economical basis possible, anything like the work to which we are committed.

The outlook is most encouraging. Never in so short a period have we seen so great a revival of feeling as that which has developed every where in connection with the present setting of the tide toward sound currency is indicative of great change in popular conviction as well as the latent yielding of a great part of the country to the sound money cause. It is a sign that lunacy was then epidemic."

The CAUCASIAN is unable to present to the people a stronger proof than this, that the goldbugs and Shlylocks are at work silently but effectively. They are not holding great conventions. They are not talking. They are spending money; and why? Would they spend money for the benefit of the great people? Does their club mean any good to anybody but themselves? Reader, you may answer these questions to suit yourself.

Is the work of this great Shlylock organization having any effect? They think so any way; and the sad fact is that the effect is bad for the people. The Atlanta Constitution says:

"The President expressed himself as greatly pleased with the results of the campaign of education recently inaugurated in the south and west by the gold standard and believes that the 'silver cause' has spent its force. The reports received at the White House are to the effect that the goldbugs will control the next national convention."

The Baltimore News, a big paper, recently published letters from editors of prominent newspapers in the south, giving their individual opinions on the silver question, and setting forth the drift of public opinion in their respective locations. Editorially, the News says:

"The most important thing in the southern situation is the steady subsidence of the silver craze. Whether because times are getting better or because the press is largely English or sound money the main thing is very well pronounced than it was a few months ago."

The States represented in the letters are Virginia, Alabama, Texas, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia and Louisiana.

People of North Carolina, the facts are before you. The Philistines are upon you. Will you let the little son of a hired newspaper lull you to sleep? Will you allow it to lull your neighbor to sleep? If you do, you will soon be stung into blind desperation, and like Sampson of old, you will be goaded into exerting your might to avenge yourself on those who deceive you. You will savagely help to pull down the temple of our liberties, but you will be crushed under the ruins.

SOME BIG FLOPPERS.

The power of gold and the power of official patronage have been more clearly and blatantly shown during the months of the year 1895 than ever before in the history of this country. The gold-leaders have dictated terms to this government, and the President has ordered those to whom he has given full places to bow down to the golden calf, and they have done so with a cringing obsequiousness and servility that are sorely disgusting to whatever of manhood there is left among the people of the United States.

This power was mighty, in a silent way, in 1873 when the great monetary crime of the century was sneakily accomplished by demoralizing silver. No American who has any knowledge of the country's history now denies that one John Sherman was a chief leader in that scheme. It has not been generally known that he was guilty of a duplicity so bold and impudent that he was not suspected, but he was. Here is the proof. On January 16th 1873, John Sherman, while making a speech in the Senate on the banking bill, 1313, said: "If any one fact is proven by the experience of mankind it is that gold and silver are the best possible standards of value. They have been so recognized by every nation from the earliest period of recorded history. In religion, habits, productions or climate, they have not differed in this primary respect. The gold and silver standards have been tried with other standards from the iron of Lycurgus to the finest bank note engraving of modern times, and all have failed in the conviction that gold and silver are the only true standard." [See Congressional Globe, 3rd session of 42nd Congress, page 59.] On the very next day, January 17, House bill 2934, which demoralized silver passed the Senate under the leadership of John Sherman. [See Congressional Globe, page 574.] So it seems that while this Senator was openly advocating one thing, he was sneakily engaged in effecting another. His flip was a cheat. He was the agent of the "Money Power," and he is very rich to-day.

In 1878 John G. Carlisle, while speaking of the scheme demoralizing silver said: "According to my view of the subject the conspiracy which seems to have been formed here and in Europe to destroy, by legislation and otherwise, from three-sevenths to one-half of the metallic money of the world is the most gigantic crime of the age or any other age. The consummation of such a scheme would ultimately entail more misery upon the human race than all the wars, pestilences and famines that have ever occurred in the history of the world. The absolute and instantaneous destruction of half the entire movable property of the world, including houses, ships, railroads and all other appliances for carrying on commerce, while it would be felt more sensibly at the moment, would not produce anything like the prolonged distress and disorganization of the country that must inevitably result from the permanent annihilation of the one-half of the metallic money of the world."

But when John G. Carlisle became a member of the Cabinet, he yielded to the mandate of the "Money Power," and he is now stamping the country in favor of the gold standard. The "gold cure" which it seems that the Charlotte Observer has taken has made the editor of that paper a little giddy. It is by no means sure that the cause of free silver, financial reform and honest money has been hurt by the action of the Democratic party in Kentucky. It is true that the Republicans of that State have already held their State convention and bowed down to the golden idol, and it is these two facts that have made the Charlotte Observer happy. But the editor that paper is several years behind the procession. The time was, when the Republican and Democratic parties could both be gotten to betray the people, then the people were helpless and the cause of truth and justice were for the time hopelessly crushed. [But not so now; for there is to-day in Kentucky a live, growing, vigorous and patriotic youth, who is a member of the great national and united family, known as the People's party. When scarcity of money, falling prices and increasing hard times caused a considerable number of the members of the Democratic and Republican parties to realize that the leaders of their respective parties had deserted their principles and betrayed the machinery of the parties into the hands of the gold trust, they refused to desert their principles and to follow such false and blighting leadership any longer. They came together and formed a People's Party.

As fast as the other patriots in the two old parties learn the truth, they will join their brethren under the banner of the People's party. Every patriot who stays longer in the two old parties is not only hoping against hope, but is really helping to make things harder and pile the burden of debt higher on his own shoulders.

Therefore, we are inclined to believe that the action of the Democratic party in Kentucky will help the cause of free silver and financial reform instead of hurting it. It will open the eyes of thousands and bring them quicker to the side of the other followers of Jefferson and Lincoln under the People's Party banner. Yes, the People's Party of Kentucky will hold its State convention in a few weeks. It will put forth a clean, square and honest declaration for free silver and financial reform. Then the issue will be squarely drawn, and the eyes of thousands in that State and millions in the whole country will be opened to the real situation—they will see the base deception and vile treachery of all the leaders of the two old parties in all their horrible wickedness.

A BIG DODGE.

One of the biggest and most cowardly dodges of the year was made by the convention of Republican League clubs, which met in Cleveland, Ohio last week. There were two thousand delegates present, and nearly every State and territory was represented. The Republicans have been quite sarcastic over the fact that women have gained some prominence as Populists, and have made much effort to ridicule the influence of woman in the great reform movement. But at this immense Republican convention there were a number of women delegates—some from New York and others from the West. These women strove to get the convention to declare in favor of free silver and for the people of the country. Did the convention do it? Not much. Several resolutions concerning silver were discussed; but this big gathering of people absolutely snubbed the matter by not declaring for anything at all with reference to silver. All these two thousand delegates could not muster up courage to speak out on the subject. It was one great conglomeration of moral cowards. Not a single one of the Republican aspirants for the presidential nomination was present. It is quite evident that they feared being put to the test, and they either did not know or did not want to tell where they were at. The lame excuse given for not making a declaration was that it was the business of the National Convention to make a platform, and that the league convention had no right to express an opinion. This simply means that the "bosses," who will be ruled by the money power, have not received their full instructions, and as they did not instruct, the convention did not act.

THE PREMATURE OPINION OF A GOLD-BUGGER.

The failure of the free coiners to carry Kentucky is very significant and has inflicted great damage upon the cause. Mississippi is the next State in which the contest is to be waged, but there the result is less doubtful. The silver people appearing to have the majority. Speaking generally of the country it may be safely said that the cause of sound money is gaining ground and that within a year some marvellous changes may be looked for.—Charlotte Observer

The "stamped" continues. Mr. L. L. Witherspoon, a prominent lawyer of Newton, has denounced the two old parties as frauds, and has aligned himself with the Populists—the party that honestly and openly and unflinchingly advocates free silver coinage—"equal rights to all and special privileges to none." When such men as this come out of the old gangs it means something. Of course the old party papers say that they have sustained no loss, &c., &c., and all that sort of thing; but we notice that these same papers are always saying that so many people of such a place or section are "coming back to Democracy;" and then the same papers "hallelujah" ever the statement. We believe one little preacher who had a Democratic flock and got scared about the permanency of his job is the only individual the Democrats can name who has said anything about "going back." THE CAUCASIAN has printed numerous letters during the past few months giving residence and signatures of men of prominence who have roundly declared the old Democratic machine to be a rotten fraud, and that they were no longer connected with it. The People's Party is growing today as it never grew before. Let every true man keep right in the middle of the road.

TRYING TO REVIVE THE "TARIFF."

The entire efforts of the Republican machine—both State and national—are directed to an effort to make the "tariff" the big issue of the campaign. They will dodge or straddle the financial question so far as platforms go. They will nominate a goldbug for President, and they would like more than anything else to get the people to wrangling over the "tariff" again so that the monetary question may be obscured. At the great meeting of Republican League clubs, held in Cleveland last week, the president of the league tried to arouse some enthusiasm by saying: "No amount of beating the tomtoms or raising the dust over the currency question will blind the people to the fact that three precious years of the commercial life of the republic have been sacrificed by the Democratic party on the altar of free trade. The question is not, shall we use more silver? There is no opposition in this country to the enlarged use of silver; if it can be brought about without disturbing our present relations with other countries, but the question is, shall the American market be opened to the world on a cheaper basis than the American citizens themselves? Shall the workmen and tradesmen of foreign countries enjoy the privileges of the market made valuable by the higher ideals of life and intelligence of the American people when they in no way contribute to the condition, pay no share of the taxes, and in no way assist in sustaining the American government?"

The people may watch now for the Democrats to try to meet this issue. Let everybody thank the Lord for the People's Party which will not permit the great overshadowing issue of reform—the financial question—to be lost sight of, but will keep it steadily in the front where they alone have pushed it.

it expect that pretended reformers like the News and Observer and Wilmington Messenger will see a new light and flock to the standard of the gold bugger? The Charlotte Observer is no doubt on the inside and knows that British gold is being sent over here to be used in appealing to the consciences of straddling, chameleon reformers. This fund of British gold will be supplemented by funds raised in New York, by the banks generally and by the Tory "sound money" clubs of the poor little struggling towns in every State in the union. This money will convert some, but for every one so converted (not to say bought), there will be ten patriots to come to the People's Party as their only place of refuge, and the only hope of our free institutions. Yes, there will be great changes, and the great, plain people will watch them closely and act accordingly. Notice! The goldbugs may capture the Democratic State convention, but the cause of free silver in that State will be stronger than before.

THREATENING A BOYCOTT.

The latest twang of the lash, which is being used by the goldbugs to whip the "conservative business interests" into line with shlylockism, comes from that autocratic body—the Chamber of Commerce, of New York. The shlylocks do not hesitate to stoop to bribery and corruption, and the latest from them show that they will not stop at anything.

Gustav H. Schwab, chairman of the committee having in charge the "sound money" crusade of the Chamber of Commerce, is of the opinion that the advocacy of the free coinage of silver in many parts of the south will be detrimental to the best interests of the Atlanta exposition. He writes: "The frequent reaching of our business men who are interested in the Atlanta exposition declare that they will not stay at home if the silver crusade continues in Georgia, but that they will induce others to do the same."

So, so! When these mighty dictators of national policy find some men they cannot buy, they threaten them. They will not come down to the Southern States exposition, if the southern people do not stop their demands for what will help the people. And they will keep others from coming. They will break up the south's great industrial undertaking. They will crush the life out of it, so to speak. The audacity of this threat is nerve-ringing. It is hair-raising. There ought to be an answer to this proclamation, and that answer ought to be a regulation by the State of Georgia which would not let a man from the city of New York enter the State while the exposition is open.

WE RECENTLY HAD INFORMATION FROM

a correspondent in Harnett county saying that Democratic papers were being sent to parties who never subscribed for the papers. Now we have a correspondent from Chatham who says: "The North Carolinian is being sent marked paid to people who cannot read or write, and who never subscribed for a paper in their life." Read about "The Work of the Enemy" elsewhere, and you'll see into the scheme.

It is said that immense pressure is being brought to bear on Chairman Poy, of the Democratic executive committee, to call a convention for the purpose of considering silver. The results of the adoption of free silver resolutions by the committee seems to have made the chairman and all other leaders somewhat touchy on this subject. They step around it like it was dynamite.

Millions of documents—tons of literature are being sent over the country by the gold bug machine of New York. Many a mind may be poisoned by this stuff. Are you doing anything to counteract it by circulating papers that are fighting for the people?

Mr. J. Z. Green has begun the publication of The Watchman, at Salisbury, as a reform paper. It is backed by a number of the best people of Rowan county. Mr. Green is a vigorous young writer, and his papers are full of telling and instructive matter.

The most stupendous mistake that can be made by the people is to think that they can be united without organization. The people's enemies are already organized, and are doing great work. The power of money is always to be feared.

What is a "Democrat?" What is "sound money?" We have asked this question often. We want to know. Can't some Democrat tell? Can't some sound money man illuminate the subject? "Why don't the people be still and be fooled like good people?" is the question which occurs with nightmarish force to the old politicians.

BOILING AT BOTH ENDS. Cleveland, Carlisle, Waterson and Joe Caldwell are all on record as saying that they will bolt the next Democratic national convention if it declares for free silver and financial reform. Of course they will go to the Republican party. Almost every day and almost every hour Democrats all around us and all over the country are vowing that they will not stay in the Democratic party if it declares for gold monometalism. Of course they will come to the People's Party. A large host of patriots will all leave the Republican party and come to the People's Party. But no one will go to the Democratic party. It is losing at both ends.

HARMONY TALK.

"There is an unusual amount of harmony talk among the Democratic politicians. They seem to think that all that is required to unite the party and keep it up to the fighting pitch is for the discordant leaders to 'get together,' divide the nominations, parcel out the probable spoils of victory and unite in denouncing the other party."

This is a very superficial view. The Democratic party in this State did not suffer defeat in 1892 and again last year because the leaders were divided, but because the voters were disgusted. The party could have endured discord and rival factions; it could not win against deep-seated dissatisfaction and just anger in its honest masses.—N. Y. World.

The above no doubts fits New York State, but it certainly fits a nice city the Democratic party in North Carolina—no further comment is necessary.

The Memphis convention, composed of men of all parties, met, occupied a plank from the People's party national platform, passed a resolution unanimously endorsing this plank, and then adjourned. At the next non-partisan convention of patriots it would be in order to adopt another plank from the Omaha platform. It contains the political creed that Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln believed in, and we hope to see all patriots soon get back to the good old doctrine of the framers of the constitution.

The immensity of the efforts being made by the leaders of the old gangs to find out whether the people or money will rule the conventions, is almost pathetic. Poor old coal! They want to be in so much, and they don't know which road to take just now to get there. They believe in the power of money, but at this time they are uncertain as to the power of the people. Let the people leave them standing in the forks of the road.

GUILFORD BATTLE GROUND. A Great Canal and Naval Event. Last week there was one of the greatest naval reunions of the century a reunion which threw into the shadow even the fetes that attended the opening of the Suez canal. Fifty-two warships of the newest types assembled at the Prussian war port, Kiel, to celebrate the completion of the canal that forms a link between the North and East seas and makes it possible for ships of all dimensions to avoid the dangerous Danish coast and gain from three to five days' time when navigating the Northern waters. The whole affair was conducted by the indefatigable Kaiser. The celebration was opened on Wednesday, June 19, and continued three days, ending with a grand marine manoeuvre by ships of the German Imperial Navy in the East Sea. The United States was represented by the ironclad cruiser New York, the cruiser Columbia, the cruiser San Francisco, and the cruiser Marblehead. Rear-Admiral Kirkland was in command. All the other great nations were represented. The canal is 200 feet broad between the tops of the embankment. At its bottom it is 75 feet broad. The average depth is 30 feet. The walls are constructed partly of sand, uncut stones and masonry. The great canal belongs to Prussia—we trust that our government will use as much wisdom in building the Nicaragua canal and not allow private corporations and English capitalists to gobble it up.
