Delived is best for the success of An Early Morning's Fire.

Early Saturday morning a fire here almost completely destroyed a wooden building, 220x75 feet, occupied by the Hicks-Ellington Company as a planing mill. The fire originated over the boiler room, and the building, 10 years old, burned like tinder. The cost of the plant at court sale last year was $6,000, and there is $5,000 insurance. The owners say it would cost $8,000 to duplicate the plant. No other property was damaged by the fire. In 1858 a lot of cars for the North Carolina Railroad were built in this mill. During the war it was a State commissary
