HERE IS THE STORY.

We do not wish to become prosy by reiteration, but this is a time when important and living facts should be continually kept in mind by the people. The strong impression these facts make on us is our excuse for a continued mention of them. They are a part—and an important part—of the story which has led to the present conditions in this State.

The story began with the meeting of the "Great Lawyer Convention" held in Raleigh on June 25th. That convention called itself a Democratic convention. It declared for free silver with wide open mouth and lusty lungs, and then proceeded to slam the door in the face of the Peoples Party—that party which had brought this issue to the front against the fierce opposition of a National Democratic party administration and a most malignant obstruction by an organization calling itself the Democratic party in the State of North Carolina.

The next move was in the National Democratic convention, which declared for free silver, against the National banking system, for income tax and for GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF RAILROADS. Every one of these measures had its inception in the Peoples Party, and that party fought them to the front in spite of Democratic party opposition. For a time the Peoples Party thought it had secured a strong and effective ally in the Democratic party. It is not to be denied that there was serious thought among many prominent Populists of the country of endorsing the Democratic party platform and also of endorsing the National candidates nominated by that party. This was shown by the efforts of some of the most noted Populists to induce the National Peoples Party convention to pursue that policy. It looked for a little while as though the work so well begun and pushed forward by Populists would have to be turned over to the Democratic party for completion.

Then came the "sober second thought" to the Populists, and that thought was inspired by the action of the Democrats themselves. The Democrats, after jumping onto the Peoples Party platform, began a vigorous effort to push every Populist off it. This kind of foolishness and meanness opened the eyes of the Populists. They reasoned this way: "If the Democrats were honest and square in their professions they would not object to letting us stay on the platform which we have erected at the expense of so much toil and hardship. They would not try to steal our structure and leave us without a habitation and a name. If our house is good enough for Democrats to live in, we are good enough for them to live with. If Democrats are not willing to this, then their only object is to get possession of our house, and after getting such possession they will demolish it first and then destroy it. We will not submit to this political brigandage and vandalism. Before we will consent to being scattered to the four winds by the Democratic party, under these conditions, we will do what we can to see the Democratic party as dead as the stamp of death can make it."

Well, a full elaboration is not necessary here. The action of the Democratic party in this State will illustrate the story everywhere. The first thing that party did was to try to drive out of Congress every Populist Congressman from this State. If the Democratic party had been honest, it would never have made this attempt. The Populists found friendly forces in the Republican party of such strength as to be able to defy the Democrats to do their worst. And then for awhile the disappointment of the Democrats found vent in all sorts of abusive epithets against the Populists. But they kept up a vindictive fight. They denounced the Populists as "goldbugs," Hanna hirelings and everything else. They made themselves hoarse by these howls, and their canvassers and speakers called upon the people to help them run away with the platform THEY HAD STOLEN from the Peoples party.

But these Democratic speakers and canvassers miscalculated the stuff that the people of North Carolina were made of. The people—as many as heard these speakers—did not rush in to help the Democratic party steal somebody else's platform and property. The only answer these speakers got was an expression on the countenances of the people which read plainly in this way: "No, we won't help you run away with the Peoples party platform. You belong to a party that made us as strong promises four years ago as you are making now; and all through these four years (until a few months) you have been praising Cleveland (goldbug) and trying to get Matt Ransom returned the Senate. No, we hear you, but we do not believe you. You can't fool us again."

Such was the reply which these speakers read in the faces of the people. And then what? These Democratic speakers came to Raleigh pell-mell. They went to Democratic headquarters and reported that they were not convincing the people of Democratic honesty, and that the people were against them. And then INSTANTANEOUSLY, and NOT UNTIL THEN did the Democratic bosses become convinced that it was "EXPEDIENT TO UNITE THE SILVER FORCES!!" A man with the blind staggers can see the inwardness of this sudden conviction on the part of the Democrats.

It seems unnecessary to say more to make this matter clear. But emphasis may be laid upon these facts: That the Democrats set out to destroy the Peoples party and wipe it from the face of the earth. But the P. P. would not wipe out.

They called Populists blather-skites, tricksters, unprincipled politicians, goldbugs and anarchists, AND THEN MADE A PROPOSITION TO "FUSE" WITH ALL THESE VARIETIES OF POPULISTS.

And when the Populists could not and would not "fuse" with them, they sent up a yell that the Populists had proven treacherous to silver and traitors to principle! Oh, ye gods and little fishes! A Populist a traitor to principle because he cannot fuse with a Democrat!!! Hal yah! yah! Umph!!! Phew!!! Stink, stank, stunk!!! Scat!

THEY'RE GONERIGHT AT IT. The Democrats have taken up that old cry with which they were wont to conjure the weak-kneed voters of the State. They have gone to qualling "nigger" for all they are worth. If nothing else will prove that the Democratic party is now the same old hypocritical crowd it always was, this resort to their old, worn out and discredited and disgraced tactics would prove it. It seems to be impossible for the poor old thing to leave the carriage on which it has so long fed. As a hog returns to its wallow in the mire, so do these Democrats return to their choice morsel—the cry of "nigger."

Did you ever note what an aggregation of contradictions this Democratic party is? Here they men who ventured to call on the "nigger" to vote against the Democrats, and charged those men with seeking to array the negro against the white man and thus foster Democratic racial strife! And yet these Democrats leave nothing undone that they can do to array the white man against the negro and thus FOSTER RACIAL STRIFE. It is not necessary here to mention at length another glaring contradiction of which they are guilty, viz: They have denounced Populists as goldbugs, hounds, Douglaites, miscegenationists and anarchists, and then following that denunciation, have sought AN ALLIANCE with the Populists. But perhaps there is not so much of a contradiction here. It is quite probable that they mistake (and how easy it is for them to mistake things) the Populists for Douglaites, goldbugs, anarchists &c., and sought their company; for these are the things which Democrats love.

Proof of this statement is that Cleveland—the great Democrat—invited Douglass (while Douglass was alive) to his white reception. And then Cleveland the great Democrat is a goldbug, and so is Matt Ransom, and so is Herr Most, the leading anarchist of the United States. Let us not forget the price the Populists had to pay for daring to warn the people against such characters as these in 1892. The price may have to be paid again; but nevertheless we here and now lift our voice in solemn warning to the people against Democratic rule in North Carolina. Let the great people remember what it has cost this country because they refused to listen to the Peoples Party four years ago. If you do not listen now to the warning given as to North Carolina, you will, just as sure as time endures and you live, see the day when you will be willing to repent of your folly in sack-cloth and ashes.

The cry of "nigger" by the Southern Bourbons, and the cry of "Rebel Brigadiers" by the northern and eastern hireling shouters and snorters of organized robbery, kept the people blinded to the questions of real national importance for more than twenty years. And here come the Democrats trying to revive those old, hoary slogans for the purpose of making the people forget and again become blinded to the questions which have been raised and carried to the front as the vital and overshadowing issues of the day.

The breaking out of these old cries among the Democrats shows the cloven foot and forked tail. The party has managed to keep these characteristics concealed to some extent for awhile, but they show forth now, and they prove the Democratic party to be what it has always been. It is before the people for judgment and we are content to await the peoples verdict.

FALSE IN THE PAST—FALSE IN THE PRESENT. We are about ready to believe that this campaign will add one more forcible illustration to the hollowness and insincerity of Democratic declarations and professions. If you will read the State Democratic platform of 1896 you will find the following declaration: "We declare our belief that the peace, prosperity and happiness of the people of North Carolina depend on the defeat of the Republican State ticket in the coming election."

This is a SWEEPING BELIEF. Just analyze it a little. "THE PEACE, PROSPERITY AND HAPPINESS OF THE PEOPLE OF NORTH CAROLINA" depend on Republican defeat. If the Republican ticket is not defeated, then according to the Democratic BELIEF, THE PEACE, PROSPERITY AND HAPPINESS OF THE STATE are gone. Now, the converse meaning of these terms are STRIFE, RUIN AND MISERY. And the Democratic party, according to its own declaration, is inventing these disasters upon the State by refusing to do ANYTHING that will defeat the Republican ticket.

The Democratic party has made a bold declaration here. If it means what it says, it would be patriotic enough to surrender its existence, if by so doing it could help to avert the calamities which it declares are imminent. That party can do much in the way of talking, declaring and promising, but it has always proven a failure when it comes to acting. True, it did make a proposition to the Populists involving Populist support of the Democratic nominee for Governor. But if the Populist State committee had accepted that proposition, the members of the Populist party would never have sustained the committee's action. The Populist committee was not silly or dishonest enough to enter into a compact which could never be carried out.

Democrats knew this. THEY WERE PLAINLY TOLD so before they ever made their proposal. This being so, the only thing that could be done to minimize the chances of success of the Republican ticket, headed by Judge D. L. Russell, was for the Democrats to concentrate their forces in an effort to elect the Peoples Party nominee for Governor. They may say that they could not have "delivered their goods" to any greater extent than the Populists could. Well, if that be so, why did they want to put their party in a false light by making the sweeping declaration quoted above? If the convention represented the sentiments of the Democratic party, why does that party persist in a course which certainly gives the Republican head of the ticket a chance of election at least.

If the election of that ticket means what the Democrats say it means—STRIFE, RUIN AND MISERY—every chance for its success ought to be minimized to the least degree, and that is what the Peoples Party has done. The Democratic party, according to its own declaration, is an enemy and a traitor to the State of North Carolina if it fails to do everything in its power to minimize the chance of Republican success in the State.

Now listen. The above declaration of the Democrats means NOTHING. The Democratic party will show its inherent hypocrisy and dishonesty by its action. It will not make the great move, which it now has a golden opportunity to make, to prevent the election of the Republican nominee for Governor. Now listen further. The Democratic declarations in favor of silver, against banks, in favor of income tax, &c., means just as much as this declaration against Republican success—NOTHING, absolutely NOTHING. The record of the party in the past shows that it has been false to its promises. It is false to its strongest declarations. Men of North Carolina, look at the case with irrefutable evidence before you. What will be your verdict?

A DEMOCRATIC SCHEME—LOOK OUT! The Democrats seem to be unable to cut loose from their methods of trickery and fraud. They now have up a scheme against which we desire to utter a warning. The warning is especially intended for the registrars and judges of election who will constitute the precinct boards of election.

The first intimation we had of this scheme on the part of Democrats came to us through some confidential correspondence, and is about as follows: The election law provides that there shall be two boxes—one for the ballot containing the names of the nominees on the National, State, Congressional and Judicial ticket, and another box for the ballot containing the names of the nominees on the legislative and county ticket. The law further requires that the judges of election shall see that each ballot is put into the right box; but if it should so happen that a ballot shall be found in the wrong box, it shall be presumed to have been deposited there by mistake of the officers of election, and unless such presumption shall be rebutted, the ballot shall be counted.

Now, this clause of the law is the basis of the Democratic scheme. Let us suppose that when a Democratic voter goes to the boxes to vote, he can manage to put a COUNTY TICKET INTO EACH BOX. This will mean two votes for the Democratic candidate for the legislature, and none for the Democratic State ticket. But Democrats have abandoned all hope of electing their State ticket, and they will now make a desperate effort to get control of the legislature. Let us suppose that twenty or thirty Democrats in a precinct shall manage to put a COUNTY TICKET in each box. If there should be ten or twenty precincts in the county, this would mean from two hundred to three hundred fraudulent votes for the Democratic legislative candidate, and might turn the election in favor of the Democratic candidate for the legislature, provided the ballots should be counted as cast.

If this scheme could be carried out generally, it might mean a legislature in control of the Democratic party, and then—well, you know the rest! Of course, this scheme, or any scheme like it is impossible provided the judges of election are all watchful and true to their trust. The law says that the judges shall see that each ballot shall be put into the right box. In order to be certain that this is done, the judges must necessarily look at each ballot in order to determine which box it shall be deposited in. And if the judges will take the precaution thus required of them, they can kill this little scheme as dead as it can die.

So, lookout for this and all other schemes. Our enemy will not hesitate to attempt anything, no matter how fraudulent, if they can see the slightest glimmer of a chance to gain anything by it. It seems to us that this plan is impracticable except in cases where the entire board of election shall be "bought up," and we do not believe that the Democrats can do enough "buying" in this matter to amount to anything. We have reverted to the scheme, however, to show that any and every sort of trick will be resorted to, and to warn our people to be on the sharp lookout for any trick that can be invented.

LONDON FINANCIAL NEWS ARTICLE. Some time since we published an article from the London Financial News under the title "The Grip of Gold." It has been printed nearly all over the country, and the Republicans have asserted that the article was a forgery. It now appears that it was not a forgery, and its characterization as such grew out of the fact that it was published April 30, 1894, and not in 1896, as represented.

The whole article is furnished by Durrant's Press-Cutting Bureau, No. 57, Holborn Viaduct, London, and was a comment on Senator Don Cameron's speech in the Senate, urging that the United States "must throw off the influence of English ideas, if she means to maintain the steady march of her prosperity," and the suggestion of Senator Lodge, that the United States shut out British goods until England gives her assent to bimetalism.

Among the many papers that have printed the article was the Washington Post, and made editorial comment upon same. The Post in its issue of the 16th inst. says: "The Post had never made anything of the Financial News article. Still, in the interest of history and to put a stop to the ridiculous hubbub of forgery, we opened correspondence with Durrant's, in London, and in due time received an answer, which we publish: "Durrant's Press Cuttings, "W. Durrant, Proprietor, "57 Holborn Viaduct, "London, Sept. 30, 1896.

"Dear Sir: The fac simile of your paper clipping you inclose with your favor, of the 12th September, 1896 (the authenticity of which is now beyond question), is an editorial appearing in the Financial News newspaper of April 30, 1894. Upon receiving a similar clipping from Chicago, I at once compared it with the file kept at the British Museum, and have discovered that the clipping is identical with the one which you have sent over here and doubtless will be published. The actual paper lays here at my disposal, and if you wish, I am, dear sir, your obedient servant, W. DURRANT, "To the Editor Washington Post, Washington, D. C., U. S. A."

CHALLENGE DAY—LOOK OUT!

Lookout for CHALLENGE DAY, which is Saturday, October 24th, 1896. The Democrats are getting ready to challenge about everything in sight that is not Democratic. They will make an effort to wipe nearly every name off the registration books that is not a Democratic name. Let the boards of election see that justice is done to all.

We venture to suggest that Populist and Republican registrars and judges and Populist and Republican voters be careful not to challenge needlessly. If there is any known or easily supposed reason why the name of a voter which may be on the books should not remain there, challenge that vote WITHOUT REFERENCE OR REGARD TO THE PARTY TO WHICH HE MAY BELONG. In hearing the challenges see that full justice is done. Let each party have a hearing and try to dispose of the challenge as speedily as possible so as not to have a challenge unheard at the close of day.

It would be a good plan to let the challenges be heard alternately with regard to parties. For instance, let the case of a Republican voter who may be challenged be heard; then take the case of a Democrat who may be challenged; then a Populist, then begin with the Republican party again and alternate all the way through. Don't resort to any trickery and make up your minds not to submit to any trickery from any source. We need not feel impelled to resort to any knavery, even though we see others resorting to it.

DON'T, OH, DON'T. We do not think it necessary to continue to do so, but we do again urge Populists not to scratch the names of the Democratic electors off the Bryan electoral ticket. Don't do it. You do not want to do anything to defeat yourselves, do you? Well, if you scratch you are helping to do that very thing. Now and then we hear of some Populist who advises Populists to scratch Great Scott! what's the matter with those Pops? Can't they see that they are walking right into one of the shrewdest goldbug traps ever set for us? Don't try to keep up and get even with some Democratic papers in this matter. Their purpose in advising Democrats to scratch Populists is to make Populists mad enough to scratch Democrats. If they succeed in the scheme, they will cause the defeat of the Bryan electoral ticket. Don't be caught in any kind of a Democratic trap. Don't, oh, don't!

See here boys; you want to remember that if the Democrats shall possibly get control of the State, a man who has ever had the audacity to oppose them will find it a hard matter to stay in North Carolina; and no matter how much flattery any Pop may be getting from Dems now he will share the same deal. Remember that the author to rejoin the Alliance charter; remember the political persecution of S. Otto Wilson; remember Satterfield and Brown, who were persecuted (but not yet sentenced) for some raciality perpetrated by some Democratic lawyer; remember the Boston egg-ing of Butler, Weaver and others. If you don't remember such things as these and do your full duty, you will see the time when you'll wish to goodness you had. Do you hear?

Let it be always remembered that for four years the Democrats have called us rabid, flannel-mouthed agitators, dishonest tricksters, political gamblers, anarchists, goldbugs and everything else, and yet they have approached these "agitators," "dishonest tricksters," "political gamblers," "anarchists" and "goldbugs" with a proposition to FUSE with THEM. Now, in the name of common sense, we want to ask: If a Democrat thinks a Populist is all these things, and then wants to "fuse" with him, what else can that Democrat be than "goldbug," "anarchist," &c.? When you answer this question, send us a postal card.

We hear of a few individuals, calling themselves Populists, who seem to prefer a little Democratic newspaper flattery rather than face the broadsides of slander, which are fired at men who dare to stand for the rights and perpetuity of the Peoples Party. Men of that calibre incur only the suspicion of Populists, and win the contempt of Democrats. Democrats regard them as something "soft," and try to use them as decoys for true Populists. But a genuine Pop just winks his off eye, and keeps on being a Pop. Democratic "softy" is like landauism. It soothes a weak minded man for awhile, but it will "do him up" in the end.

We remarked some time last year that we believed there could always be found in North Carolina a combination of people that would be strong enough to see that the management of State affairs should not go into the hands of the Democratic party. It will not be long before we will know whether or not we are gifted with prophecy.

The Democrats tried to work "the spider and the fly" act on the Pops, but the web the Democrats wove was not made of the right kind of stuff to "catch and hold." In fact it looks something like the Democratic web was torn all to tatters, and cannot now hold even a Democrat. "Oh, what a tangled web we weave, When first we practice to deceive."

Democrats were not saying a single word about the Pops a few days. They were on a still hunt for the Pops, and were trying to snare them. The Dems missed their game, and lord-e! Just listen how they are snorting and swearing now.

We haven't been able to tell who are the modest: Some Dems because they didn't make connection with the Pops, or some Pops because the Dems tried to make that connection. It may be remarked that some folks try to go into the "redeeming" business before they, themselves, are fully redeemed. REDEMPTING A STATE, for instance.

Secretary Carlisle spoke honestly when, in 1878, he said: "According to my view of the subject, it is the most serious thing that has been formed here and in Europe to destroy by legislation and otherwise from three-sevenths to one-half the metallic money of the United States. It is the most serious thing of this or any other age." Yet no man, except the fine fed boss of the White House, has done more than Carlisle to aid in the most gigantic crime!

No Presidential candidate who could make a creditable speech ever thought it "undignified" to go before the people. Boss Hanna knows his own front porch. From that porch he fires off meaningless platitudes to meager embassies of free lunch excursionists, while thousands crowd to hear Bryan's magnetic oratory.

It is not what money will hire for, that fixes its value. It is what it will exchange for. A dollar will now exchange for twice as much as it would formerly. The dollar buys more property. Property buys less money. The men who are raising a money crop are being paid by its increased exchangeable value.

The question at stake in this election is simply this. Shall the bankers and a privileged few own and control all the money, and thus possess themselves of all the wealth created by labor? or shall the people own and control the money and keep the wealth from being created for themselves? Which way will you vote?

If free coinage of silver would not increase prices and wages the bankers and corporations would not oppose it. It is idiotic and suicidal for a laboring man or farmer to vote with those fellows.

Col. Breckinridge is talking gold with all his old time fervor, but Madeline Pollard isn't saying a word, although she would doubtless like to realize any sort of money on that judgment.

We are glad to see that Senator Butler proposes to return good for evil by exerting his great influence with the Populists to cast their solid vote for co-operative ticket.—Webster's Weekly.

And then too, the Demmy papers are just declaring that "honest Populists" will not abide by the action of the State committee. Well, this is just what the Dems desire, and if it is as they say, why are they kicking up such an awful fuss about it?

A FORGED LETTER

Sent to the Caucasian for Publication.—An Explanation of the Authors Asked For.

For The Caucasian. GARYSBURG, N. C., Oct. 13.—Shortly after the adjournment of the last Legislature, I received a note from Senator Butler saying that he had an article from me for publication in which the bungle over the penitentiary was referred to, and asked me to allow him to withhold it awhile, as he did not think it was a proper time for criticism. I wrote him by return mail that I had written a WORD FOR PUBLICATION, and if he had an article for publication with my signature attached please send it to me at once, which he did. Below I give you a copy of the article as it came to me, which you will please publish, and I demand that the author to explain through your paper to the people of Northampton county why he should have used my name under such criticism without my knowledge or consent. Respectfully yours, J. J. STEPHENSON.

The Forged Article.

For The Caucasian. GARYSBURG, N. C., March 18, '95.—We, of the Populist party in Halifax and Northampton sections, feel justly indignant at the bungling methods of the Legislature during its expiring moments whereby the Hon. W. H. Kitchen, by chicanery and bargain was treacherously sacrificed in the House of his friends. That Capt. Kitchen was eminently entitled to full recognition by his constituents goes without saying. His influence and power of tongue had led to ten or fifteen thousand votes in the last campaign, and why he should have been selected for the altar of sacrifice after his gallant fight in the interest of his party passes our understanding. Brave, generous and faithful to the cause he had espoused, he stood the fire of friends and foes, who had received the management of the party strengthened tenfold in this section, for he would have called to his aid many good and true men, among them Mr. E. L. Sumrell, a man sought for by the head of the Northampton farmers. He, too, like Capt. Kitchen, had given his time, talents and money to the cause of justice, but he was deemed also to be mortification of defeat. Mr. Sumrell is one of the strongest men in the county, and while not a Democrat in any sense, he numbers among his thousands of supporters in his own party, some of the staunchest and most influential of the opposite. He is a solid business man, with an indomitable energy as his comforts testify, and a distinguished Democrat in his own right. He is the best farmer in North Carolina. Under his management the State farm in Northampton would have not only been self-supporting, but he would have made money for his State, as he does for himself. By his methods, Sumrell would have made money for the institution, and put money in the treasury. This tribute to the gentlemen above named is the sentiment of the community at large, and a vast wing of our party. It is our kind friend and neighbor, Lewis Sumrell, let me enjoin forbearance and faith, a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches. Speak for his host of supporters, I will be, in the language of the Moabite woman, let her mother-in-law, "Whether thou goest I will go, thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God."
