

THE AMENDMENT AND DIRECT LEG-ISLATION.

When the voters of North Carolina vote upon the proposed Constitutional amendment they will have exercised a privilege which the Peo- snother such a campaign in this ple's Party seeks to enlarge and State. It is not the negroes but a make permanent in the governmental system of the States and nationthe privilege of voting to ratify or order in this State will not give inreject important legislation. If it is creased powers to those who for their important that the individual voter into disorder.' should be accorded the privilege of casting his vote for or against legislation which contemplates a change in the Constitution is it not of equal or greater importance that he also be accorded the privilege of voting upon legislation which directly concerns him, which governs him, and which has an important bearing upon the prosperity of the State and nation and upon himself as a citizen thereoff

This system of direct legislation, as it is known is demanded by the People's Party. It is the very essence of Democracy and cannot be objected to by any save those who are afraid to trust the people to legislate for themselves or who prefer our present representative system of legislating for the reason that they an better control the representatives than they can the people.
