

THE CAUCASIAN.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA, OCTOBER 4, 1900.

No. 43.

A FARCE AND A FRAUD.

CO. ROOSEVELT ROUGHLY HANDLED.
Receives a Dozen of North Carolina Red Shirts in Colorado.

An associated press dispatch from Cripple Creek, Col., states that Gov. Roosevelt had a most exciting experience last Wednesday at Victor, a mining town, a few miles from Cripple Creek, where he was billeted to speak.

The Governor had a narrow escape from serious personal violence, being attacked by a small body of roughs who had been organized and paid for the purpose of breaking up the meeting.

Governor Roosevelt spoke at Arroyo Hall, which was filled. He had hardly begun speaking when he was interrupted by noisy demonstrators. He said:

"In my State the men who were put on the common platform to draw up an anti-trust platform at Kansas City Convention had at that time their pockets filled with ice trust stock. The Democratic leader in New York, Richard Croker, upon whom you base your only hope, was another great stockholder, and if, in fact, you were to read through the list of stockholders in that business, it would sound like reading the roll of members of Tammany Hall."

A voice cried, "What about the rotton beef?"

The Governor replied: "I ate it, and you will never get near enough to get hit with a bullet or within five feet."

Governor Roosevelt succeeded in finishing his remarks, though there were present that he should not do so. When the Governor left the hall with his party to go toward the train it was surrounded by a company of Rough Riders, commanded by Sherman Bell, one of his own soldiers in the Spanish war. He was also accompanied by General Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston; John Proctor Clarke, of New York; General Irving Hale, of Colorado; United States Senator Wolcott, Frank G. Gandy, candidate for Governor of Colorado; Percy S. Ryden, candidate for Lieutenant Governor; A. M. Stevens, Lieutenant Tuck and several others.

G. Roosevelt and his party were on foot. A crowd of boys and men began throwing stones and shouting for Bryan. The Rough Riders, mounted and unmounted, closed in around the Governor to protect him from assault by the mob.

One made a personal attack upon the Governor and succeeded in striking him a blow in the breast with a stick. The assailant was immediately knocked down by Daniel M. Sullivan, postmaster of Cripple Creek.

A rush was then made by the mob to drag the mounted men in khaki uniforms from their horses. The men on foot, also in khaki, closed around the riders.

They pushed through the crowd, and they were placed in cars and carried out of the burning district.

(Signed.)

"A. M. STEVENS."

A list of the officers and men of Company F, Twenty-ninth regiment, shows the following names from North Carolina: Charles J. Beck, Benjamin J. Seay, Noah P. Seay, James L. Simpson, and Thomas J. Spirey, all from Bryson City, Swain county.
