A Song.
Once in a purple twilight,
Long and long ago,
Where the roses bud and blow,
And heard you sing a love song,
Tender and sweet and true,
But I did not know that in singing
You were thinking of me.
So in that purple twilight,
My heart was overcome
By the breath of that song, and I
A loved you;
But my tongue was dry and dumb
For you were a high-toned lady
And why should you care for me?
So I stole away not knowing
You were singing of me.
Since then in a far off country
When the evening sky grew pale,
A nightingale under my casement,
Told me the whole sad tale.
You are dead, and my heart is broken;
But, alas it might not be
Had I only known in the twilight
You were singing of me.

From a Bachelor's View.
N. Y. Press.
The average woman is funniest to a man when she thinks she is most sarcastic.

A smart woman can fool a man all his life but a smart man can only fool a woman until she finds it out.

It is generally a mystery to man just how he came to propose.

Half of the trouble in the world is caused by the devil; the rest is caused by family friends.

A girl's idea of diplomacy is to pick out another girl for a man she thinks wants her, and deviling him into going with her.

The houses in heaven never need any cleaning, but even there the women angels will probably want to change the furniture around.

The cleverest woman in the world is the one that knows how to keep her husband jealous without his knowing that she knows he is.

There probably never was a woman who could pin her dress together in the back of the neck so a man would't laugh at it if he dared to.

If you tell a woman a man is crazy to marry her before the wedding she will love you; if you tell her the same thing after the wedding she will hate you forever.

It's your brainy women who fall in love with fools, and it's your fools who fall in love with brainy women.

Men may be wicked villains, but after all they don't go home and sit right down and copy each other's bonnets.

Probably at her wedding the woman feels almost as important as the man did the first time he ever traveled on a railroad pass.

Women never consider themselves really intimate with one another until they have told each other how they first met their husbands.

Rules as Money Makers.
Sunny South.
It is a startling sign of the instability of the times when European sovereigns go to America to invest their private fortunes. American railroads in particular seem to have a great attraction for the various royalties. Even so patriotic a person as the German emperor has not escaped the general desire to put money as far away as possible from the fatherland. He has invested over $600,000 in the Atchafalaya-Topeka, the Illinois Central, the Louisville and Nashville, the Santa Fe and the Union and South Pacific railroads. The Empress Augusta Victoria has $100,000 worth of shares in the same concerns, while the princes of the house of Russia have invested about $200,000. These railway investments bring them in an average of 5 per cent.

The czar of Russia has over $1,000,000 worth of shares in the Pennsylvania railroad, the Northern and Canadian Pacific, the New Jersey Central and the New York Central railroads, which give him an annual income of $100,000. The kings of Italy, Greece, Denmark and Belgium all figure in the lists of American shareholders—even the sultan and the shah have gone to the new world with large sums of money. Perhaps the most modest sum invested is £2,000 of the Empress Eugenie.

Were They all Members of the Legislature?
A man who is on the inside tells us confidentially that there are 800 applicants for city jobs under the new administration, and that he knows for a certainty that every man on the face of the earth is represented in that eight hundred, and that tobacco is chewed in nine different languages in the crowd.—Charlotte People's Paper.

The Wane of Southern Chivalry.
Burke Saunett, in Atlanta Constitution
The south has ever been distinguished for its chivalry. The Norman knight was never more gallant and courteous than the cavaliers of Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia. The principles of which the "star and garter" were the symbols, were as dear to them as the brave followers of the Black Prince, the knightly son of Edward III.

But with shame be it said, this spirit is waning. The sons of chivalrous fathers are degenerating into duffers and groundlings, and on all hands we are confronted with the snob and the shoddy. Respect for woman, that bulwark of society, is at a low ebb when stalwart brutes calling themselves men sit complacently in their seats on street cars while ladies stand. It is incredible that such discourteous and ungentlemanly treatment of the fair sex should be tolerated in the home of chivalry and yet such a spectacle is daily witnessed right here in Atlanta, the leading city of the south.

Arise the effete and degenerate sons of the old southern gentleman or are they the fustian and the sham that have drifted this way on the tides of a foreign influx? Certain such bores are not indigenous southern soil.

The same spirit is apparent in the brusque and often insulting speech addressed to young working women who occupy business positions—a woman whose sex should be a guarantee for their respectful treatment.

Worthy women often when their brothers or brothers upon whom they could lean for support, are earning the bread which keeps them from being gaily and shame.

I write to protest against this growing tendency in our midst toward the unchivalrous and ungentlemanly treatment of woman. The spirit of commercialism, so degrading to the higher and finer sentiments, may account for, but cannot excuse such rudeness. The south will be poor, indeed, when she exchanges her time-honored chivalry for the savage manners of the ill-born and ill-bred snob.

The Lawyer Got His Half.
Once upon a time Horace Greely loaned a friend in Denver $5,000 and after waiting patiently for the payment of the amount due him and not getting it, he placed the claim in the hands of a Denver attorney for collection on a fifty per cent. contingent contract. The lawyer was sure he could collect it, and another long wait ensued. Finally Mr. Greely wrote the lawyer about the claim, inquiring as to whether or not he had collected it. The lawyer answered Mr. Greely's note of inquiry as follows:

"In relation to the collection referred to, I beg to say that I have collected my half. Your half is still due."

The Old Man's Idea.
Papa—"What on earth do Bessie and that young man find to talk about?"
Mamma—"Oh, questions of the hour, I suppose."
Papa—"I'll bet they haven't the remotest idea what the hour is!"—Detroit Journal.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century, discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, simply by telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Regular fifty cent bottles. Small size are sold by all good druggists.

An American Woman's Achievement.

Exchange.
A press dispatch from Paris announces that Mme. Desbages, formerly Miss Harriet Lancaster, of New York, gave birth a few days ago to triplets, and this is the third time the same thing has happened to her. She was married exactly three years and three months ago, and has nine children, all fine boys and healthy. Mme. Desbages has smashed all previous records, and the French Republic will not be doing its duty if it fails to have a medal struck in honor of this American lady.

MRS. GAGE DEAD.

The Wife of the Secretary of the Treasury Passes Away.

Washington, May 17.—Mrs. Gage, wife of Secretary Lyman J. Gage, of the Treasury Department, died at her residence here at 9:30 o'clock to-night. Heart trouble was the immediate cause of her death.

Reasons Why you Should

Its business is confined strictly to the most healthy portions of the United States, thus its policyholders constitute what you might call a preferred class. It is one of the strongest companies in the world, and its assets are big enough—$16,367,636.00—all gilt edged, and are invested entirely in America, thus receiving the constant care and attention of the officers of the company. It is an American company, amenable only to our own laws and not subject to the dictation of various foreign governments. It is not a racer for new business, the watch words of the company being, Strength, Solvency and Security. Its policies are simple, clean, straightforward contracts. Its management has been practically the same for a quarter of a century.

It has paid its policyholders since organization over $45,000,000.00. We judge a company as we do a man. What are its morals? When other companies deserted the Southern Policyholder, and used both the money he had contributed towards their success, and their influence to destroy him, the Manhattan stayed firm as a rock—"Justice" was their motto. See what a distinguished Statesman of Georgia says:

STATE OF GEORGIA,
Treasury Department.
Atlanta, Ga., May 12, 1891.

Why Mr. Hardeman had a policy in the MANHATTAN LIFE.

Maj. Jos. H. Morgan, Special Agt. Atlanta.
Dear Sir:—As agent of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company of New York, it affords me pleasure to say to you that my father was insured in your company, and by reason of the late war, he was unable to pay your company and pay his premiums as they fell due; and that after the cessation of hostilities, my father having died during the war, your company have paid to my mother the amount of his policy less the amount of premium unpaid.

Yours Truly,
(Signed) R. U. HARDEMAN, State Treasurer.

And this was not an isolated case by no means. So soon as the civil war was over the Manhattan announced that the company was ready to communicate with the old policyholders, inviting them to reinstate their policies, making one condition only, that the policyholders should be in good health.

Such an act of generosity was unthought of by any other company or corporation. Knowing that their Southern policyholders were most of them men who had made every sacrifice possible for the land that they loved, and that had been reduced from affluence to poverty, they offered, in lieu of ready money to accept a note covering the entire premium during the time that payments had lapsed. In addition to that they placed these policies on the same footing of other policies of the same date, in regard to dividends and annuities.

The company went even further: In cases where the insurer was unable to comply with these very liberal terms, or did not care to renew the policy during these troublesome times, the Manhattan agreed to pay the purchase value of the policy as it stood on the date of the lapse from the non-payment of premiums.

Although the Manhattan has made no boast of this act of generosity, which was not followed by other Northern Companies, "on the ground that the dilatory of Southern policyholders violated their contracts," still it remains on record that the Manhattan was true and steadfast, honest and equitable, when all others forsook the old soldiers in the time of their direst necessity.

RIPANS FOR DELICATE LITTLE BOYS.

"My little boy, age six years, has been troubled from infancy with constipation and RIPANS have done him more good than any other medicine I have ever given him. If upon getting up in the morning I notice him having a bad breath, or if he gets peevish, out of sorts, etc., a RIPANS quickly puts his stomach and bowels in excellent condition. I was myself much troubled with indigestion for a long time and RIPANS completely cured me. I cannot give RIPANS enough praise, but speak a good word for them whenever the opportunity is afforded me to do so.—MRS. VIOLA SPRINGER, Glassboro, Gloucester Co., New Jersey, Jan'y 7, 1901."

There is scarcely any condition of ill health that is not benefited by the use of RIPANS. It is a safe, reliable, and effective remedy for all cases of indigestion, constipation, and other ailments of the stomach and bowels. It is sold by all druggists.

Fifty Thousand Copies

OF TURNER'S N. C. ALMANAC will be issued for the Year 1901. To advertise is simply to make known, who you are, where you are, and what you have to sell. How to do this effectually, and at the smallest possible cost is the problem for you to solve. The failure to obtain desired results from advertising is due to the way some people do it, and they invariably say "It does not pay." The judicious way is to use a medium that has reputation, circulation and permanency. Turner's N. C. Almanac has been the State Standard for 64 years, and has an annual circulation of 50,000 copies, and remains a standing advertisement for a year. Advertising rates upon application.
