capacity for feeling pain? I have heard it declared that pain was largely a matter of imagination. This, of course, is true in a measure. If the mind can be occupied in some other direction one may forget pain.

On the other hand, a man may imagine pain possibilities that will unnerve him and make him sensitive to a triffe.

A man ought to be able to walk a narrow plank between the top of the Frick building and the tower of the Court House just as easily as he would walk that same plank six inches from the ground. But if he were able to picture himself falling through the air, could imagine his brains and blood bespattering the ground when he struck it with his head, he would not be able to do much elevated wolking And so I have no contempt for the man who shudders at the thought of pain, who shrinks from the ordeal He perhaps best appreciates just what it is.-Grif Alexander, in Pittsburg Disnatch.

A LESSON FOR PHYSICIANS.

Spirit of Harshness and Lordlinesa No Longer Tolerated.

There is one good result of "an overcrowded profession," and of the sharp competition that exists among doctors in the rivalry for popular favor. This is the disappearance of the old-time spirit of harshness and lordliness, which sometimes degenerated into positive brutality. These characteristics were the natural products of an original boorishness, increased by success and a comparative monopoly of practice. It takes a gentlemanly mind not to be spoiled by the attitude of subservience on the part of pa tients, and the habit of ordering b the physician in charge.

In every large community there are still left specimens of medical D Johnsons, who from a ruder age hav carried down a cross and commandin acerbity of manner that is now out of place and time. In one of our larg American cities there is an example known far and wide. His loss of pa tients does not teach him any lesson and seems rather to increase his chu lishness. He seems to take a speci delight in hurting the feelings of hi patients by a perverse irascibility.

A patient who was shocked by th manner in the very beginning of the examination suddenly stopped, and in a quiet manner asked the amount of the customary fee, paid it, and without a word walked away. There are better reasons, of course, against unkindness and coarse egotism, but it certainly no longer "pays" for physiclans to be ungentlemanly.—American Madicina

New Pops Proclaimed.

Rome, By Cable.—The election of Pius X, once it was consummated, was proclaimed in a loud voice by the cardinal scrutinizers to the Sacred College. Mgr. Merry del Val, secretary of the conclave, and Prince Chigi, marshal of the conclave, were notified through a bell by Cardinal Oreglia. They entered the Sistine chapel amid visible excitement, the eager faces of the conclavists and prelates being seen crowding about the door.

It is impossible to describe the confusion in the chapel. The friends and supporters of the new Pope gathered around him, complimenting and congratulating him, crying "Viva," an l even clapping their hands without Sunday, November 9th, 1902, at 7:05 ceremony. arising from a disordered stomach is relieved or cured by their use. So common is it that diseases originate from the stomach it may be safely asserted there is no condition of ill health that will not be benefited or cured by the occasional use of Ripans Tabules. Physicians know them and speak highly of them. All druggists sell them. The five-cent package is enough for an ordinary occasion, and the Family Bottle, sixty cents, contains a household supply for a year. One generally gives relief within twenty even if you merely keep them as a diversion. In order to handle Fowls judiciously, you must know something about them. To meet this want we are seiling a book giving the experience (Only 25c. of a practical poultry raiser for (Only 25c. twenty-five years. It was written by a man who put all his mind, and time, and money to making a success of Chicken raising—not as a pastime, but as a business—and if you will profit by his twenty-five years' work, you can save many Chicks annually, and make your Fowls earn dollars for you. The point is, that you must be able to detect trouble is the Poultry Yard as soon as it appears, and know how to remedy it. This book will teach you.

It tells how to detect and cure disease; to feed for eggs and also for fattening; which fowls to save for breeding purposes; and everything, indeed, you should know on this subject to make it profitable. Sent postpaid for twenty-five cents in stamps.
