FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Some Souths of Interest We Have Gathered With Our Paste-Pot and Shears.

Wonder if the surplus made by the penitentiary is the same old surplus, or is it a new one?—Raleigh Enterprise.

Blast if we can see where prohibition will profit any in Asheville by closing small distilleries and opening large ones. That's what the Webb bill does.—Shelby Aurora.

It is hoped the farmers will perfect their organization, as to get a fair and reasonable share of the profits of their labor. They can't do it by taking other classes in with them.—Hickory Mercury.

There is an organization in this country known as the Yarn Spinners' Association. Lots of people will be unable to guess whether this association is composed of textile operators or Democratic stump speakers.—Yellow Jacket.

It is all right to mix a little religion with politics; in fact, there ought to be more of it. But when you get a lot of religious people yoked up with a lot of unscrupulous politicians something is going to happen, and it is more than likely that the lamb will be inside the lion at the finish.—Raleigh Enterprise.

President Roosevelt is heaping coals of fire on the South's head. Not long ago he appointed Stone-wall Jackson's grandson to a cadetship at West Point, and now he has appointed a son of Zeb Stuart, the typical cavalier of the Confederate army, a United States Marshal for the eastern district of Virginia. Now let the unappreciative South to ashamed of itself.—Yellow Jacket.

Maj. G. E. Butler, a member of the House from Sampson Co., put the Democrats of that body in a hole when he introduced his amendment to the Johnson county prohibition bill providing that the act apply to every county in the State. The Democrats, almost to a man, voted against it, while the Republicans voted for it. This is another sample of their consistency. If they favor prohibition for Johnson county why not for the whole State? They have again expressed their faith in the liquor manufactured by Shore and Williams by voting against Pearson's amendment looking to the repeal of the special privileges granted these "towns" by the last legislature. With them consistency is a forgotten art.—Shelby Aurora.

A Mighty Bad Disease.

BY JAMES LARKIN PEARSON.

He jes' goes an' votes the ticket 'cause his daddy did the same, An' he thinks that "Democratic" is a mighty pretty name— Somehow got the notion fastened in his noggin years ago, An' he keeps a hangin' to it jes' by prejudice, you know.

Yes, he knows as well as I do that his party's gone to seed— That it hasn't any purpose but to gratify its greed— That it hasn't any credit in the East or in the West, An' if it was dead an' buried it would all be for the best.

He's aware of that, I tell you; he just couldn't help but see How the tides are all a-flowin'—its as plain as it can be; But he's got the fatal habit—the disease that killed his dad; He's compelled to vote the ticket, wise or foolish, good or bad.

SHOULD THE SOUTH SUPPORT MILES?

Mrs. Hayes Says He Treated Jefferson Davis as a Felon or a Murderer.

Colorado Springs, Col., Feb. 6.—Mrs. J. A. Hayes, daughter of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, said today:

"If Mr. Lincoln had lived my father, would never have been subjected to the treatment he received at the hands of General Miles. The worst brute could not have been more brutal than Miles was to my father. He treated Mr. Davis as a felon or murderer might be treated, and not as a state prisoner."

Mrs. Hayes then quoted from the book written by her mother, in which the widow of Jefferson Davis tells the story of her husband's imprisonment.

"It required six men to overpower him," said Mrs. Hayes, "and he asked that he be shot before being subjected to such an indignity. Those irons were placed on him at the instigation of General Miles. General Miles insulted my mother, and my father, feeble as he was, shook the iron gratings of his cell and said to Miles: 'If I could get at you I would tear you limb from limb.'"

Proceedings of the Legislature

There was but little interest in either branch of the General Assembly outside of the Governor's message.

Two bills introduced in the House by Representative Stickley and one by Representative Mitchell are among the most important. One of Mr. Stickley's bills contains the appropriations asked for by the three State hospitals for the insane. The central hospital at Raleigh wants $250,135.45, the Western Hospital at Morganton calls for $369,000, and the Eastern Hospital at Goldsboro $162,200, making a grand total for the three of $811,335.45.

Mr. Mitchell's bill represents what the State Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro wants to make good the loss sustained by the fire of January 21, 1904.

Gov. Glenn sent a message to the Legislature recommending a purchasing agent to buy supplies at wholesale for State institutions. He also advocates an Exhibit at Jamestown Exposition in 1907.

Senate Bills passed—
B. B.—Permitting illegitimate children to inherit from their mother.

S. B.—To provide a short form of crop linen from Scotland county, Halifax, Davidson, Franklin and Northampton counties were added.

H. B.—Petraing to court fees in Martin county.

H. B.—To amend chapter 43, laws of 1903, relating to Morgan township in Iowan county.

S. B.—To amend the Code relative to the place of trial for civil actions.

H. B.—To exempt all persons under 21 from road duty in Columbus and Tyrrell counties.

S. B.—To settle the debt due by the State to Florence P. Tucker, administrator of the late R. S. Tucker. This bill came up as the special order.

Senator Sinclair explained the claim, saying there were three of these claims, the Hinton, the Mofedal and the Perkins. The former two claims have been paid and it is proposed to give this claimant the same amount, $1,800. This money was borrowed to pay the expenses of the Legislature in 1863. The bill passed.

A tiler came from the gallery when a bill was read to protect fish in Frying Pan creek.

House Proceedings—
Chairman Winborne of the judiciary committee reported the various divorce bills all unfavorably except Mr. Alley's bill making abandonment for five years a cause for all time. Then the committee's substitute for all the other bills was introduced and marked house bill No. 759. Mr. McIninch gave notice of a minority report.

Bills introduced—
Mr. Joyner—To abolish dispensary at Seaboard, Northampton county.

Mr. Mitchell—To provide for replacing of burned dormitory, cold storage and laundry plants at State Normal at Greensboro.

Mr. Olive—To protect landlords and tenants in Wake, Hyde and Anson.

Passed Third Reading—
The following bills passed third reading.

To amend chapter 1010, laws of 1883, relative to protection of crops in certain localities.

To protect landlords and tenants in certain counties.

To abolish dispensary in Seaboard, Northampton county.

To prohibit sale of cigarettes within two miles of Sharp Institute, Rockingham county.

To regulate renting of land for agricultural purposes.

Heart Trouble Baffled Doctors.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cured Me.

There is nothing more necessary to health than sleep and rest. If these are denied you, if you rise in the morning more tired than when you went to bed, there is an affection of the nerves plainly present. If your heart is weak, or affected, your weakened nerves will soon so affect your heart's action as to bring on serious, chronic trouble. Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure, which quickens the nerves, restores the weakened nerves to health and strength. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is a great blood and heart tonic which regulates the action of the heart, enriches the blood and improves the circulation.

"Some time ago I was suffering severely with heart trouble. At times my heart would seem to stop beating and at others it would beat loudly and very fast. Three to four hours sleep each night in ten months was all I could get. One week in last September I never closed my eyes. I got Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure at a drug store in Lawrenceburg, after spending $5000 in medicine and doctors in Louisville, Shelbyville, Frankfort, Cincinnati and Lawrenceburg, and in three days have derived more benefit from the use of your remedies than I got from all the doctors and their medicines. I think everybody ought to know of the marvelous power contained in your remedies."—

SECRETARY METCALF AT HIGH POINT.

Guest of Honor at Banquet Given by Manufacturers' Club—Cuban Minister and Others Speak.

High Point, N. C., Feb. 6.—The delegation from Washington arrived here about eight o'clock tonight to attend the Manufacturers' Club banquet, given in honor of Hon. Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of labor and commerce. The train was side-tracked at Jamestown, five miles east of here, for two hours to allow the occupants of special coaches time to rest before entering upon the evening's entertainment.

In addition to Mr. Metcalf, Senor Don Gonzalo De Quesada, the Cuban minister, Senators Simmons and Overman, Congressman Small, Kitchin, Page, Blackburn, Dixon of Montana, the party included President Samuel Spencer of the Southern Railway, Vice President Finley, General Manager Ackert and Industrial Agent Richards.

The evening's pleasure began at 9 o'clock tonight with a reception in the beautiful parlors of the Elwood, the receiving party consisting of the distinguished non-resident visitors. Before introducing the speakers, Mr. Elwood Cox, president of the Manufacturers' Club, welcomed the guests in a few words, in which the ringing notes of pride were not concealed that High Point had, in this visit of Mr. Metcalf, been honored ahead and in place of New York. When Mr. Metcalf arose to speak he was greeted with hearty cheers. All through his speech he was interrupted by applause.

The next speaker was Senor Don Gonzalo de Quesada, the Cuban minister. He was greeted by a storm of cheers, and began speaking by saying that he knew the warm greeting was not for him, but for that sister republic that had been mentioned here, in the hearts of those people (the Cubans) there is nothing but love and appreciation of the great American people. Mr. Quesada is an interesting speaker, fluent, but slightly broken in his English, but full of earnestness.

Pointing to the American flag, he exclaimed, "That is the flag of liberty and humanity." He drew a striking picture of the stars and stripes in the Spanish war, and by its side was the tattered flag of Cuba, whose patriots had fought three-quarters of a century for liberty.

It was predicted, he said, that when the American troops were withdrawn from Cuba not a week would pass without an insurrection; but he was proud to say that now only three thousand soldiers are kept to preserve order and protect property, and order is as good and property is as safe as in any state in this great nation. It is safe because we have continued the excellent government that your country left us. He said, "We Cubans have not wasted our time at your colleges and universities, but we are taking home your brand of push and energy, and we expect to be found at the head of the procession all the time." He spoke of the Cuban debt for the payment of the soldiers.

Many people said Cuba ought not pay her soldiers; but, said he, "these men who left home and property to fight that Cuba should be free should not be forgotten in the day of our prosperity. We followed in your footsteps, gentlemen."

Mr. Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern Railway, was then introduced. When Mr. Spencer had finished Senator Overman was the next speaker and his subject was "Cuban Reciprocity."

Judge Boyd responded briefly but eloquently to the toast "The last twenty years and what it meant to the South."

Congressman Dixon responded to the toast "North Carolina from afar" in a few words.

Mr. Jos. G. Brown spoke on "Banking a necessary adjunct."

Mr. Brown noted briefly the growth of the banking industry of the country.

It was after 2 o'clock when the meeting adjourned, several speakers asking to be excused, owing to the lateness of the hour.

The March Designer.

It would be difficult to mention an up-to-date garment which the Designer for March cannot supply, for the lily-like costumes for Confirmation to the fantastic garb which protects the automobilist, "Fads and Fancies" and "Fashions and Fabrics" show the various little accessories which delight the fastidious woman, and "Fashion Notes for Men" fills the same office for the sterner sex.

Laura B. Starr's interesting series, "Housekeeping the World Over," tells how the Egyptian woman conducts her family affairs. GRAVE TROUBLE FORESEEN.

It needs but little foresight, to tell, that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young, of Clay, N. Y., did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters, I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by all druggists, at 50c a bottle.
