

TEN YEARS OF PAIN.

Unable to Do Even Housework Because of Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. Margaret Emmerich, of Clinton St., Napoleon, O., writes: "For fifteen years I was a great sufferer from kidney troubles. My back pained me terribly. Every turn or move caused sharp, shooting pains. My eyesight was poor, dark spots appeared before me, and I had dizzy spells. For ten years I could not do housework, and for two years did not get out of the house. The kidney secretions were irregular, and doctors were not helping me. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me quick relief, and finally cured me. They saved my life."

Painting for Profit

No one will question the superior appearance of well-painted property. The question that the property owner asks is: "Is the appearance worth the cost?"

Poor paint is for temporary appearance only. Paint made from Pure Linseed Oil and Pure White Lead is for lasting appearance and for protection. It saves repairs and replacements costing many times the paint investment.

The Dutch Boy trade mark is found only on kegs containing Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

The Wall of a Waitress. She ain't so much! I seen he at the show. If she's a ravin' beauty, I don't know what good looks is, an' I sha'n't never learn, I think my shape is just as good as hers; My hair looks pretty when I do it low.

Gee, when I seen her face I got a blow I thought the girl that got him for a bean Would be a person that had style to burn— She ain't so much!

That kind is only lookin' for the dough, I think somebody'd oughter tell him so. Before he spends more money'n he can earn. 'Tain't up to me to do him a good turn, But if it was, I'd say, "I feel as though She ain't so much!"

WHAT'S THE USE? To Pour in Coffee When It Acts as a Vicious Enemy.

Fasters have gone without food for many days at a time, but no one can go without sleep. "For a long time I have not been sleeping well, often lying awake for two or three hours during the night, but now I sleep sound every night and wake up refreshed and vigorous," says a Calif. woman.

"Do you know why? It's because I used to drink coffee, but I finally cut it out and began using Postum. Twice since then I have drunk coffee, and both times I passed a sleepless night, and so I am doubly convinced coffee caused the trouble and Postum removed it."

"My brother was in the habit of drinking coffee three times a day. He was troubled with sour stomach, and I would often notice him getting soda from the can to relieve the distress in his stomach; lately hardly a day passed without a dose of soda for relief."

"Finally he tried a cup of Postum and liked it so well he gave up coffee, and since then he has been drinking Postum in its place, and says he has not once been troubled with sour stomach."

Even after this lady's experience with coffee her brother did not suspect for a time that coffee was causing his sour stomach, but easily proved it. Coffee is not suspected in thousands of cases just like this, but it's easily proved. A ten days' trial works wonders. "There's a Reason." Interest in Rate Hearing.

A Special from New York City to the Charlotte Observer says: The dispute between the authorities of North Carolina and the Federal Courts over the observance of a 2 1/4-cent rate law reached another stage, when former Judge Montgomery, of North Carolina, who was appointed by Judge Pritchard, of the Federal Court, as special master to take depositions, sat here and heard the testimony of several witnesses.

General Counsel Alfred P. Thom, of the Southern Railway Company at Washington, represented his company's interests at the session. The testimony was taken behind closed doors at the office of the Southern Railway in this city.

Counsel representing the North Carolina corporation commission at the day's hearing included former Judge James E. Shepherd, Walter E. Daniels and F. A. Woodward, former Gov. Charles Aycock, of North Carolina, and Speaker E. J. Justice of the State House of Representatives, were also present.

Vice President H. B. Spencer, of the Southern, who is the son of former President Spencer, was a witness. He was questioned at length as to the Southern Railway, its cost and equipment and many minor details. Depositions will be taken in Washington and other cities after the hearings here have concluded.

J. M. Barr, formerly president of the Seaboard Air Line, now a lumber merchant of North Carolina, and who was called as an expert on railway operations, testified that in his opinion the carrying of local freight in North Carolina costs three times as much to operate as through trains and the local trains were frequently only partially loaded. Mr. Barr said that a higher rate was charged by railroads in this State for carrying local freight than for through freight, but he did not believe the difference in price was sufficient to equal the increased cost of local traffic.

Mr. Barr said that he did not believe a fair profit from passenger traffic was possible at present in that State and that possibly there was no profit whatever.

It was brought out that passenger traffic within the State was somewhat mixed and that a number of so-called through trains on the Southern Railway between Washington and Atlanta made stops at towns and way points in the State, so that as a matter of fact it was not possible to calculate with exactness the cost of carrying local passengers on these trains as distinct and apart from through passengers.

Following his examination by counsel, Mr. Barr was interrogated by Speaker Justice. "Do you know," said the latter, "that at one time there existed what might be called a gentleman's understanding to the effect that the Seaboard Air Line should refrain from extending its lines until certain North Carolina territory under fear of reprisals by the Southern Railway?"

"There was no express understanding," Mr. Barr replied. He was then asked whether he knew that certain business houses in the State had actually been driven out to seek other fields for business because the Southern Railway had built up a monopoly in various parts of North Carolina.

The witness said that he did not know that to be a fact. To other questions intended to show the Southern's supremacy in North Carolina Mr. Barr in most instances pleaded that he was not in possession of sufficient actual facts to testify accurately regarding them.

Tar Heel Breivites.

Prof. Darius Eatman has resigned the chair of pedagogy at Wake Forest College to take a course in that study at Columbia University, having obtained a scholarship there.

Numa W. Sowers, a boy of seventeen, was bound over to court at Salisbury on the charge of seduction with promise of marriage and giving drugs with criminal intent.

The alliance adopted resolutions opposing immigration from foreign countries by solicitation or appropriation of State or department funds for that purpose; favoring State prohibition; reduction of passenger rates; and more equitable freight rates; agricultural high schools in each congressional district; building farmers' institutes under the county alliances; establishing an agricultural school at Hillsboro; co-operation in securing the substitution of cotton for jute bagging. A resolution endorsing the action of the United States Department of Justice in proceeding against the American Tobacco Company was also passed.

The North Carolina Farmers' Alliance in annual session at Hillsboro the past week elected the following officers for the next year: President, J. E. Peterson, Goldsboro; vice president, J. A. McAllister, Lumberton; secretary-treasurer, George F. Parrott, Kingston; lecturer, H. M. Cate, Swepbane; steward, J. C. Bain, Wade; sergeant-at-arms, George T. Lane, Aurora; State business agent, George F. Parrott, Kingston; trustee B. & A. fund, W. A. Graham, Macpelah.

Salisbury is building more rapidly now than during any year in her history. There are three business blocks that will add to the wealth of real estate nearly $200,000 and they are all in sight of each other. The Southern passenger station and express office will add $115,000 to this and very close by are H. Clark & Sons' warehouse, $20,000; C. M. Bailey's warehouse, $10,000; D. H. Gaskill at the Jackson Hotel, $20,000; Wallace & Sons, $20,000. All of these are under construction.

Heroic Women Honored.

Wilmington, Special.—An immense gathering of people attended the elaborate ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of a monument to the heroic women of the lower Cape Fear during the revolutionary period, the scene of the patriotic exercises having been the historic Moore's Creek battle ground, in Pender county, near Currie. The weather was ideal and people came from far and near, including a large party from Wilmington which returned on a belated train.

The exercises opened with an invocation by Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., presentation of the monument was by former Representative E. A. Hawes, of Pender, who paid glowing tribute to the material ancestry of the people of the lower Cape Fear. The acceptance was by President J. F. Moore, of the Moore's Creek Memorial Association who spoke eloquently of the lofty patriotism which inspired the people of this section and the State.

The formality of the unveiling was by Miss Lillian Colvin, assisted by fellow by a beautiful decoration of the shaft by 13 young ladies representing the 13 original colonies, directed by Misses B. B. Lucas and Jennie Hawes. The address of Hon. Charles R. Tillip, Congressman from the third district and always a staunch friend of the Moore's Creek Monument Association, was the feature of the day. He spoke eloquently and most fittingly. After the exercises a delightful picnic dinner was served on the grounds and that every detail of the arrangements was carried out perfectly spoke volumes of praise for the several county committees which had these matters in charge. The exercises were interspersed by the singing of patriotic songs and music by an excellent band, "Dixie," "The Old North State" and "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" having been favorites among the many selections rendered.

The monument is of Winsboro blue granite surmounted by a statue of imported Italian marble in carved likeness of a beautiful woman posing "Remembrance," the top piece being six feet tall, the whole monument towering to a height of 15 feet, standing on a marble base, five feet seven inches square. Its weight is more than 25,000 pounds and it was erected at a cost of something over $2,000, being the work of the Wilmington Granite and Marble Works, of this city. Mr. R. D. Tucker, proprietor, as successor to H. A. Tucker & Bro., The inscription on the shaft are as follows:

Front side: "To the honored memory of the heroic women of the Lower Cape Fear during the American Revolution, 1775-1781."

On the reverse side: "Unswerving in devotion, self-sacrificing in loyalty to the cause of their country, their works do follow them; and their children rise up and call them blessed."

On fourth side: "Most honored of the names recorded by the Historic Association, is that of MARY SLOCUMB, wife of Lieutenant Slocumb, riding alone at night sixty-five miles to succor the wounded on this battle-place, her light on the pages of history, and should awaken in successive generations, patriotism and love of country. Virtutes majorum filiae conservant."

On the third face is this inscription: "This monument was erected by the Moore's Creek Monumental Association in the year 1907."

Southern Flagman Killed.

Raleigh, Special.—The body of John Palmer, work-train flagman, was found on the Southern track near Carey, badly mangled. He is thought to have been struck and then run over by the material train and then run over by passenger train No. 126, Goldsboro to Greensboro. He was 19 years old. His sister is spending the week at Jamestown. No inquest will be held and no blame is attached to the railroad.

EVERY LITTLE HELPS.

One night when the sun had disappeared and birds had tucked their heads beneath their wings to rest, one of the night birds flew close to an electric light.

"Of what use are you?" asked the bird. "You give so little light compared with the sun."

"I do the best I can," said the light. "Think how dark this corner would be if I were not here! People walking and driving might run into one another, and someone might get hurt."

"That's true," said the bird, and away he flew. Then he came near a gaslight, standing apart from houses and busy streets.

"Of what use are you?" asked the bird. "You do not give as much light as the electric light."

"I do the best I can," said the light. "Do you not see that steep bank just beyond? If I were not here someone might fall to sea it, and fall."

"That's true," said the bird, and away he flew. Soon his sharp eyes spied a lamp in a window.

"Of what use are you?" asked the bird. "You do not give even as much light as the gaslight."

"I do the best I can. I am in the window to throw light down the path. That Farmer Brown may see the way when he comes home. I do the best I can."

"That's true," said the bird, and away he flew. His sharp eyes spied a light—a tiny candle light in a nursery window.

"Of what use are you?" asked the bird. "Your light is so small. You do not give even as much light as a lamp."

"I do the best I can," said the candle, "and I can easily be carried from room to room. Nurse uses me when she gives the children a drink of water at night or sees that they are snugly covered up in bed. I do the best I can."

"That's true," said the bird; and away he flew, thinking, as he saw the many lights here and there, little and great: "All are helpers."—Kindergarten Review.

Miss Middlet, one of the passengers, was blown into the water and drowned and the engineer and fireman are reported fatally burned. A negro in a passing scow rescued those aboard the burning boat. BASE BALL BOY.

Song Air down on the farm, When a boy just learns to crawl He wants to play base ball. And his sporting father pats him on the head, And says my darling son, When you are twenty-one, You shall swing the bat and wear the stocking red.

Then when he is a man, He wanders through the land, With bat and ball and scratches on his face. And he has a great desire, To be a bold umpire, And for no other business has a taste.

So boys just one and all, Don't grow too fond of ball, And listen to the kind words I have said.

For men who need a boy, I'm sure will not employ, The fellow who has learned no other trade.

BABY TORTURED BY ITCHING.

Rash Covered Face and Feet—Would Cry Until Tired Out—Speedy Cure by Cuticura. "My baby was about nine months old when she had rash on her face and feet. Her feet seemed to irritate her most, especially at night. She would cease to be broken of her rest, and sometimes she would cry until she was tired out. I had always used Cuticura Soap myself, and had heard of so many cures by the Cuticura Remedies that I thought I would give them a trial. The improvement was noticeable in a few hours, and before I had used one box of the Cuticura Ointment her feet were well and have never troubled her since. I also used it to remove what is known as 'cradle cap' from her head, and it worked like a charm, as it cleansed and healed the scalp at the same time.
