THE DAILY INDUSTRIAL NEWS.

It has been well-known over the State for some time that Chairman Adams, either by holding a large number of proxies of stockholders who are Federal appointees or otherwise, was completely dominating the Daily Industrial News, and it has been apparent to the public that the paper was being used largely as a personal organ of the State Chairman and his clique. Therefore, there seems to be no doubt about the responsibility of Adams and his little coterie for the success or failure of the paper. In consequence, there has been much inquiry and comment upon why the State Chairman has permitted the paper to be put into bankruptcy and to go into the hands of a receiver.

This has been done, not in a period of hard times and financial depression, and not in a time when the Republican party was in disfavor and was losing votes, but at a time of the greatest prosperity and when the Republican party was growing in popularity and numbers to a wonderful degree. Throughout such a period, why should not the paper have gained subscribers and increased in business and prosperity instead of losing subscribers and losing business and losing cast and influence?

Judge Taft received 114,000 votes for President in North Carolina, and these are white votes and are reading voters. This, in round numbers, is 30,000 more votes than Roosevelt received four years ago, and the Roosevelt vote of 84,000 was itself a remarkable gain over former Republican votes. The men who made up this great increase in the Republican vote are necessarily reading men and thoughtful men; otherwise they would not have changed their politics of a life-time to vote the Republican ticket. These new voters constitute enough men by themselves to support a daily paper in North Carolina and make it a financial success, even if not a single old-line Republican subscribed for the paper, provided the paper was such a one they cared to read; and one thing is certain, that most of these new Republicans will take and read some daily paper.

The fact that the Daily Industrial News has not grown and prospered during this great prosperity in the State and during the wonderful growth of the Republican vote shows that the paper has not been a potent factor in accomplishing these results, and that if it had the vote would have been much larger and the paper would not have been in financial trouble, but would be a success. The fact is, that the great gains and the success made in North Carolina have been made, not by the help of the State organization and the Daily Industrial News, but without them and in spite of them. It is perfectly clear to any intelligent and observant man that if the Republican organization had been in the hands of men who honestly wanted to carry the State and who had the character and capacity to lead to victory that the Republican party would this year have swept the State, electing Cox Governor and giving the electoral vote of the State to Taft, and at the same time that the subscription list of the Daily Industrial News would have grown to at least eight or nine thousand and that it would have been making money and been to-day a paper of commanding influence.

If the rank and file of the Republican party want to see the State carried and want to see a live, progressive daily Republican paper maintained, let them repudiate and put out of power this present patronage machine clique and forever repudiate the referee system and put the organization of the party in the hands of progressive and competent men; and when this is done North Carolina will be a Republican State and it will have a strong, creditable, powerful, and successful daily Republican newspaper.

The Democratic party supports over a half-dozen Democratic dailies. It is perfectly absurd to say that the party that has polled 114,000 white reading votes cannot support a daily Republican newspaper. It can, and it will; and if the State organization cannot run such a paper, then there are Republicans who will.

IRREGULARITIES IN NINTH DISTRICT.

A special from Greensboro to Friday's Raleigh Evening Times stated that Mr. John A. Smith, recent Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth District, may contest the election of Mr. E. Yates Webb, his Democratic opponent. Mr. Smith said he was investigating the alleged irregularities on the part of the Democrats in certain counties in his District. He said that the most open acts of crookedness were in certain townships in Yancy and Madison counties. Mr. Smith alleges that in one township the registrar left the polling place, carrying off the poll books and registration book, which made it impossible to hold an election in that township, which was largely Republican. This was in Madison County, and he states that in Yancy County from two hundred to two hundred and fifty persons voted for his opponent who obtained their poll tax receipt after May 1st. Whether Mr. Smith secures his seat in Congress or not, the men guilty of these irregularities should be brought to justice.

The Democratic politicians who, during the campaign, were asking, "Shall the people rule?" should now join Mr. Smith in prosecuting those who have used fraudulent means to keep the people from ruling.

It is a Democratic law that requires every person liable to a poll tax shall pay same before May 1st or be deprived of the privilege of voting, and the Democrats should be forced to abide by their own laws.

Mr. Smith can show that he was cheated out of his election, then he will be given his seat, and North Carolina will have four Republican Congressmen instead of three.

NO OIL MONEY.

During the recent campaign the Democratic papers charged that the Standard Oil Trust favored Mr. Taft for President and was giving support to his campaign fund, and just before the election Mr. Rockefeller, the head of the Standard Oil, came out in a signed statement declaring for Mr. Taft. Many of the Republican leaders stated at the time that it was only a Democratic trick to injure Mr. Taft's chances.

A few days ago Mr. Sheldon, the Treasurer of the Republican Campaign Committee, published a list of the contributors to the campaign fund and the name of the Standard Oil or the name of any of its officers or agents did not appear among the list.

If the Standard Oil Company wanted to see Mr. Taft elected it did not show the fact in a substantial way. But it will be remembered that Haskell, the former Democratic Treasurer, had been closely related with the Standard Oil Company, and if any oil was poured on the troubled waters it was for the benefit of the Democratic nominee.

AN INSULT TO THE PEOPLE OF THREE CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

The Raleigh News and Observer, in an editorial, says: "North Carolina Republicans continue to be elated because they bought three seats in Congress and their party bought the Presidency. North Carolina cannot be seduced or bought, and two years hence the purchase will be avenged. You can buy part of the people some of the time, all of the people part of the time, but you cannot buy all the people all of the time."

A majority of the white people of the Fifth, Eighth and Tenth Congressional Districts, a large number of whom were formerly Democrats, decided that the best interests of their District required the defeat of a Democratic Congressman and the election of a Republican Congressman, and they voted accordingly. Such political independence in North Carolina is a crime in the eyes of the Democratic machine, so of course, it is met with abuse, and not only abuse but the base and infamous charge that these voters were bought. Such a charge deserves the severest rebuke and condemnation by the good people of North Carolina.

The time is over in this State when men can be brow-beaten and intimidated into voting against their convictions, and the time is over when they can be abused and vilified when they do so. The time is already here when Mr. Daniels will find that his style of journalism will no longer pay in North Carolina.

WHAT PRESIDENT TAFT SAW IN THIS STATE.

When President-elect Taft was passing through the State he expressed surprise and delight at the size of the crowds and the enthusiasm which greeted him. He no doubt was prepared to believe from what he saw that there was a good chance for North Carolina to go Republican this year. He was justified in believing that he could get the electoral vote of the State from what he did see and hear, for the crowds that greeted him were a surprise to everybody; but it takes more than that to win a victory.

It requires organization and intelligent and well-directed effort to win a victory even when all the elements of success lie around you. But such organization and such effort existed only in certain localities and spots in the State, and in such localities and spots there were most phenomenal gains. The same gains could have been made in every locality in the State, and if such gains had been made all over the State Taft would have gotten the electoral vote by over twenty thousand majority.

BRYAN AND TAMMANY.

Mr. Bryan is apparently very sore over losing the vote of New York City in the recent election.

Mr. Murphy, the head of Tammany Hall in New York, said that Tammany did its best for the Democratic National ticket. Mr. Bryan, in the last issue of his paper, asks some very pointed questions about Tammany and its leadership. He intimates that if that organization did its best, and could not carry the city of New York, then Tammany needs reforming; in other words, needs new leadership.

Instead of a united Democracy for the next fight, it appears that the shattered party is getting more and more disorganized. It seems that it is hard for Mr. Bryan to realize that the voters preferred Republican prosperity to a Democratic uncertainty.

The Caucasian has received a number of inquiries from some of its readers in Sampson and other counties as to why news items about the growth and success of the Republican party in those counties are never published in the Daily Industrial News. We, of course, are not sure that we can give the correct explanation, but to suppress news from such counties must have been one of Adams' methods for building up the Daily Industrial News and making it a success; otherwise, it would not have been done. Up to this hour, so far as we have seen, the fact that Sampson County increased its majority from six hundred to eleven hundred this year has never been published in that paper, though we are informed that the information was specially sent directly to the paper for publication. Indeed, it seems to be a veritable thorn in the side of Chairman Adams that a number of counties like Sampson should so greatly increase their Republican majorities. He no doubt has a special grievance against Sampson County for increasing its majority, but, besides, if a majority of the counties of the State should go Republican, then Adams and his patronage machine would be entirely out of business.

We publish in another column an editorial clipped from the Clinton News Dispatch headed "That Libel Suit." We published the other day a special dispatch from Clinton to the Charlotte Observer saying that the Republicans of Sampson County were greatly indignant at the conduct of Adams in swearing out a warrant against ex-Senator Butler and having it served on him on the day of election and on his way to the polls, and further saying that the people of the county, regardless of party, condemned the manner of the service of this warrant and also the fact that the officer was instructed not to accept bail. If Adams had fully succeeded in his scheme he would have succeeded in reducing the Republican majority in Sampson County by at least one vote. At the hearing at Greensboro the next day one of the attorneys of Adams denied that instructions were given to the officer not to accept bail, but the officer says he had such instructions, and the Raleigh papers announce that similar instructions were given to the officer in Raleigh with reference to Lester F. Butler. The giving of such illegal, malicious and infamous instructions will not meet the approval of a single decent citizen of the State.

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT IS EITHER RIGHT OR WRONG.

We are surprised to find the following editorial in a recent copy of the Daily Industrial News:

"Local Self-Government. 'Some of our contemporaries are inclined to the opinion that the next Legislature will experience some embarrassment when it is confronted with the proposal to restore to the various counties the right of local self-government; the right of local option.'"

It may be different in the years to come, but we doubt whether the next Legislature will allow itself to be perplexed very greatly over this proposal.

The Democratic party was at one time in favor of local self-government, and then began to desert that great fundamental principle of free government by degrees here and there wherever some office could be saved to the Democratic party or some other partisan advantage gained thereby. It has finally completely deserted that great doctrine, and did not even mention it in its last State platform. The Caucasian has always been for local self-government and is still for it, and for it without any "ifs" or "ands" or conditions. In fact, local self-government is a great principle, it is the cornerstone of free government, and it is either right or wrong. If it is wrong, then our whole system of government is wrong.

If the people are not competent to govern themselves locally, they are not competent to govern themselves in State or Nation, and a denial of the right to the people of local self-government will lead surely to a denial and an abridgment of that right in State and Nation. The Republican party must stand squarely for the principle of local self-government, or it must be against it. There can be no hedging and compromising.

You may think that there is nothing for the Legislature to do, but you just wait until it meets.—Durham Herald.

Yes, it will take them some time to appoint their Democratic magistrates and commissioners in all of the Republican counties in the State.

Letter From Western Sampson.

Editor The Caucasian:

As I have not seen anything from the west end of Sampson I will write a few lines. The election is over, we have gained the victory and the prices of cotton and other things are now moving up and we Republicans are all pleased, and I believe the Democrats are, too, what few there are left. As Bilkins said in his last letter, "they are scattered," and I think so, too, and I think they have already said enough to scatter all the good honest people from them that believe in local self-government. They say that the Republican party will steal—has stolen; but still they invite us over with them; so they must want the thieves in their party so they could help them steal.

I have read in the Bible where it says that God's people should rule, and that makes me know that the people should rule; so we do invite all good, honest people that believe in local self-government to come over on the Lord's side, for the Democratic party is not willing for the people to rule.

REPUBLICAN SUBSCRIBER.

What Defeated Bryan.

A prominent citizen of Lancaster and our life-long friend, who is evidently not an admirer of Bryan, has given us the following for publication: "Thorn, what in the h—l killed Billy Bryan? Now don't give me any of your newspaper lying. Sport, to tell you the truth 'twas nothing, by golly, but a continuation of Bryan's d—n folly."—Lancaster (S. C.) News.

Democratic Future Sized Up.

A speculative article in the Charlotte Observer over the probable nominee of the Democratic party in this district two years hence discloses the fact that those talking about it are not at all familiar with the political situation in this county at least. Like the blind man said who returned home and stumbled over a lot of furniture overturned by thieves: "Things is in a h—l of a fix."—Greensboro Record.

BRYAN ON TAMMANY HALL.

"If Tammany Did the Best It Could and Failed to Carry New York, What Hope is There Next time?"

The last issue of Mr. W. J. Bryan's newspaper, The Commoner, says:

"Mr. Murphy, the head of Tammany, says that 'Tammany did the best it could for the Democratic National ticket.' There's the rub. If Tammany had been treacherous it might promise to be faithful next time, but as it 'did the best it could,' what hope is there next time? If Tammany did the best it could, and could not carry the city of New York for the Democratic National ticket, several questions arise: 'First, was it the fault of the platform? 'Second, was it the fault of the platform? 'Third, was it the fault of Tammany? 'Fourth, is there a New York Democracy outside of Tammany? 'If it was the Democratic platform that was objectionable the remedy is easy—let Tammany write the next Democratic platform—provided, of course, a Tammany platform will insure a Democratic victory. 'But if it was the fault of Tammany, the remedy is more difficult. How is Tammany to be reformed? If Tammany will not support the Democratic ticket and platform when the ticket and platform are satisfactory to the Democrats of the Nation, what is to be done? 'But the fourth question is, Is there a Democracy outside of Tammany that must be consulted? If Tammany did its best, then either Tammany could not bring Tammany to support the ticket; or there is a Democracy outside of Tammany that thwarts Tammany's efforts when Tammany does its best. And if there is a Democracy outside of Tammany that must be reckoned with, is it not time for that Democracy to organize itself and make itself known, so that the National Democracy will have something to co-operate with?"

The Vote in Maryland.

Buffalo Express.]

The Baltimore American says that if the vote of Maryland had been counted as cast, or as the voters intended to cast, it, the State would have given Taft 10,000 plurality and would have elected four Republican Representatives in Congress. It believes that no less than 45,000 ballots were thrown out by Democratic election judges and that nearly all of these were Republican.

Maryland has a ballot law nominally intended to disfranchise the ignorant, but particularly intends to disfranchise negroes and to facilitate false counting. It requires a mark opposite the name of each candidate and removes all party emblems. These are sound provisions in themselves, but the purpose to disfranchise is shown by the further provision forbidding the distribution of sample ballots for the guidance of voters, and, worst of all, the law does not apply uniformly, but only in certain counties where the negro population is largest.

The right to vote should not depend on education. But it is not possible to feel much sympathy for a man who does not value his citizenship enough to learn to read the ballot he votes. It is, however, turning a sound principle to base use, when voting is deliberately made difficult in order to afford partisan election officers exercise for rejecting votes.

How Bryan Carried Nebraska.

The newspapers have been publishing accounts of the happiness of Mr. Bryan and his family, caused by the fact that the Peerless carried his own State. But is it a thing to be proud of? Not unless he carried Nebraska fairly, honorably, and without injury to the State. If he won a majority by political dishonesty, he ought not to feel happy. If he sacrificed the best interests of the best people of his own State to his own selfish ambition, he ought not to feel proud. How did Bryan carry Nebraska? (1) By a dishonest ticket which scooped the Populists. (2) By a foul deal with the liquor interests. Says the New York Sun (Democratic): "The chief factor in the defeat of the Republicans was the solid opposition of the liquor interests, who voted the straight Democratic ticket." "The solid opposition of the liquor dealers" defeated Taft in Nebraska. Is that kind of a victor one to be proud of? What sort of moral force does Bryan represent when he uses all of his God-given talent and energy to keep the saloon-keepers in control of his home State?—Tom Watson.

A NEW POEM BY EDWIN MARKHAM.

Probably the Greatest Work of the Author of "The Man With the Hoe."

Edwin Markham, who made a worldwide reputation a few years ago with his poem, "The Man With the Hoe," has written for the Christmas Women's Home Companion a poem that is considered to be even greater than "The Man With the Hoe." Many who have read Markham's new poem, "Before the Gospels Were," consider it the greatest verse of recent years. "Before the Gospels Were" tells, with wonderful poetic imagination, the story of the gathering together of the materials for the Gospels by Christ's disciples after His ascension.

A Certainty.

A lady in a Southern town was approached by her colored maid.

"Well, Jenny?" she asked, seeing something was in the air.

"Please, Miss Mary, might I have the afternoon off these weeks from Wednesday?" Then, noticing an undecided look in her mistress's face, she added hastily—"I want to go to my fiancée's funeral."

"Goodness me," answered the lady—"Your fiancée's funeral! Why, you don't know that he's even going to die, let alone the date of his funeral. That is something we can't any of us be sure about—when we are going to die."

"Yes'm," said the girl doubtfully. Then, with a triumphant note in her voice—"I see sure about him, Miss 'cos he's goin' to be hung!"—Everybody's Magazine.
