ALL WERE INCONSISTENT. Mr. Bryan has refused to meet Senator Bailey in Atlanta this month for the purpose of discussing the tariff from a Democratic standpoint Mr. Bryan says that such a meeting might hurt the chances of Democratic success in the Congressional campaign next year. From that viewpoint Mr. Bryan is probably right, for the more the people learn of the party and its "inner workings" the fewer there will be to vote the Democratic ticket.

But from Mr. Bailey's standpoint Mr. Bryan should meet him since he attacked him (Bailey) in his own State. However, in explaining the position the Democratic members took on the question, Mr. Bailey gets out of the record. He says that the Democratic members were all consistent, except Senator McEnry, of Louisiana, who voted for the tariff bill as finally passed. Very few if Mrs. Lang replied: any of the Democratic members were consistent, but in our opinion Senator McEnry was more consistent than Senator Bailey and his colleagues. The Senator from Louisiana worked to have certain commodities of his State protected in the bill and then voted for the bill on its final passage. Bailey and others worked for a protective tariff until they got certain articles included in the bill, and then after they were certain it would pass. with their schedules included, they once deserted the Democratic plat-The others were not consistent in millions to carry out her ideas. deserting their platform to have certain protective schedules included in MINNESOTA'S NEW GOVERNOR the measure, and again inconsistent. tective schedules that had been incorporated in the bill.

THE WOMAN CANDIDATE.

Just at present Baltimore seems city are much stirred up over the proposed franchise amendment for Maryland, the suffragettes have been demanding a hearing for some months, and now a married lady says she will be a candidate for the ticket. However, the Baltimore politicians of the male persuasion hope to shelve her on the ground that in the text of the law relating to candidates the word "he" is used throughout and no provision made for 'she." Speaking of the woman's candidacy for the Maryland legislature, the Baltimore Sun says:

"Suffragettes have now a leader of whom they can be proud, for Mrs. Ada Smith Lang has made application with the Socialist party as a candidate for the legislature on that ticket and declares she will do all in her power to win her fight. "Mrs. Lang will find herself handcapped, however, for, according to the wording of the alw, it is said, her application could not be considered for the reason that in the text of the law relating to candidates the word "he" is used throughout. Although the Supervisors of Election have not as yet received the application of Mrs Lang, some of the members say her name will not be considered. • • * *
