First in Silk Making.

(St. Paul Dispatch.)

A bulletin recently issued by the Central Department shows that the United States leads the world in manufacturing silk, with the possible exception of China, from which no figures are obtainable.

Our silk industry in 1869 amounted to $12,210,000. It was more than $41,000,000 ten years later. It had more than doubled again in 1889 when it was $87,298,000.

annual purchases varying little from $23,000,000. Our imports of raw silk, admitted duty free, are valued at about $75,000,000, indicating a margin of about $121,000,000 a year in the silk business for the American manufacturers and their employees.

Great Lawyers' Wills.

It is one of the singular phases of the complications of our legal system that salient evidences of it are furnished by the error of the most eminent lawyers. The case of Samuel J. Tilden's will, drawn by James Carter, with full consultation with the astute and expert testator, is a case in long standing.

The defeat of Tilden's will lay in overlooking one of the requirements of New York law in regard to charitable or philanthropic bequests. The will of the late Chief Justice Paxson, of this State, falls on the same neglect of a formality of Pennsylvania law, namely, that where charitable bequests are made there must be two witnesses to the document.

Here are wills in which three of the eminent lawyers of the country committed errors fatal to the validity of the document. "Every man is supposed to know the law," tartly remarked a judge in a trial of a case. "Yes, your Honor," replied the counsel for the defense, "except the judges on the bench; and we maintain appellate courts to correct these errors." But here was a Supreme Court Court Chief Justice committing an error that the lower courts will reverse.

Almost every one takes pleasure in requiting trifling obligations; many people are grateful for moderate ones; but there are many who show ingratitude for great ones.—La Rochefoucauld.
