THE GENESIS OF REPUBLICAN SUCCESS IN THE SOUTH.

In another column we publish a very fair and thoughtful editorial copied from the Columbia, S. C., Daily Record.

This paper, though still keeping the Democratic label, has confessed and stated a great economic and political truth, which all well-informed and thoughtful people everywhere know, but which few men while they still affiliate with the Democratic party are willing to admit.

That paper realizes that the present prosperity of the South, and its future growth and development, depend upon the government, both State and National, being conducted on the broad progressive principles of the Republican party. That paper realizes that the Republican policies are American policies; that they represent every progressive movement that has been made in this country for the uplift of all of the people, and that the continuation of those policies means the maintenance of our high plane of living and prosperity as against the Democratic policy which would kick over the protection wall that holds out cheap foreign labor and cheap foreign goods.

The masses of the voters in the South are above the average intelligence of voters, and we believe that a majority of them to-day know these truths, and those who do not will soon learn them; but this Democratic paper has wisely stated the only two obstacles in the way of the average voter casting his vote according to his judgment and for his own best interest. The old rotten Republican referee system in the South has been opposed to Republican growth. The leaders of this machine in every State wanted to keep the party small enough for men of their caliber to dominate it simply as a patronage machine.

Another thing that has prevented Republican growth has been inborn prejudice, which has been accentuated and intensified by the conditions following the war. The Cleveland administration was such a terrific object lesson that it did much to dissolve and dissipate this prejudice. One more Democratic administration would complete the job, and, as our South Carolina contemporary says, the only virtue that could come from another Democratic national administration would be to arouse the manhood and intelligence of Southern voters to vote the Republican ticket for the interest of himself and his country.

EVERYBODY FAVORS GOOD ROADS, BUT—

It would not be such a hard matter to get the people to favor good roads if all the money now set apart for that work was spent judiciously. Take Wake County, for instance. A good sum of money is appropriated for road work in this county and still some of the public roads in the county haven't been worked in three years. Another road that we have in mind hasn't been worked in over a year, and it took a delegation from that section of the county, headed by a lawyer, to induce the authorities to have the work done then. And what is true in Wake is true in many other counties in the State. Almost every one favors good roads when they know that the money will be properly expended, but the voters as a whole will never favor increasing their taxes for "improving" the roads when they have no assurance as to how the money will be expended.

THE TARIFF AND PROSPERITY.

The Democratic spell-binders claim that the tariff does not put one cent in the farmers or laboring man's pocket. But the following from the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post would indicate that the tariff does benefit the laboring man, The Post says:

"British Board of Trade investigations extending over four years show that, where the British workman earns a dollar, the German workman earns eighty-three cents, the French workman seventy-five cents, the Belgian workman sixty-three cents and the American workman two dollars and thirty-two cents; also, that the food for which the British workman pays a dollar at home would cost him a dollar and seventeen cents in Germany, ninety-nine cents in France or Belgium, and a dollar and forty-three cents in the United States—where, by the way, the hours of labor are 4 per cent shorter than in England."

It will be seen from the above that the laboring man in the United States receives two dollars and sixty-two cents while the British laborer receives only one dollar a day and works longer hours, and that while the American workman pays one dollar and forty cents for the same articles which the British workman pays only one dollar, still the American workman has one dollar and twenty-two cents left after buying his articles, while the British workman has nothing left. And some of the necessities of life cost even more in England than in America.

England has free trade, while America has a protective tariff, which not only protects the industries but also protects the laboring man against the competition of articles manufactured by cheap foreign labor.

The Durham Sun, a Democratic paper, publishes a table of statistics showing that the laborer in the United States receives twice as much, and in some cases three times as much as the laborer in England receives for the same class of work. The Sun in commenting on the subject says:

"It will be seen from this statement that the wages of English workmen is less than half and in many cases less than one-third the amount paid his American cousins. The necessities of life are as high in England as in America and in some cases higher. Especially is this true of food stuffs. This high cost of living and low wage reduces the standard of living of the English workman to a miserably low level."

If the tariff does not benefit the farmer, the laboring man, as well as the industries, then why do they all prosper more in America than elsewhere?

DEMOCRATIC ELECTION THIEVES

Baltimore city is stirred over frauds that are coming to light in connection with the recent Democratic primary held in Baltimore. It appears some men voted as many as six times and that they searched the grave-yard and voted dead men. The Baltimore Evening Sun, commenting on the work of the election crooks in that city, says:

"Well-posted men declared today that the city is on the verge of hearing disclosures of an almost unbelievable nature. From the information already in the hands of the authorities it is learned that there are men walking the streets of Baltimore today who voted as many as six times during the primary election of August 29. Names of men who never had any existence in being were, it is said, voted by gangs of repeaters in different parts of the city, and new facts learned late this afternoon seemed to indicate that even the graveyards had been searched for Democratic voters."

"An attempt at a verification of the information showed that at one house from which repeaters are said to have been registered there were two voters of the same name and a third with the same first and last names, it being made different by the addition of an initial."

"Names of registered Democrats who were not allowed to vote in the primary because they had already been voted for" are in the hands of the authorities, and it is said that they are confident that what is coming will equal, if not eclipse, any of the sensational investigations of ring rule made in recent years in other large American cities."

The situation in Baltimore reminds us of the way some of the Democrats voted in Wilmington in 1898 and 1900. A traveling man told the writer that he voted the Democratic ticket in Wilmington four times in one day.

Some of the Democrats are talking of reforming elections. Well, it is time, and they should begin the reform within their own party.

Judging from many reports from Maine, the general public in that State will not notice the difference whether the State has voted "wet"—they claim it has been wet in reality all along.

The first lot of Butler's Raleigh speech is now being mailed out to parties who have filed their orders with us. Many have written us that they would send in their orders later, as soon as they could find out how many copies their neighbors and friends wanted. We wish to again urge those who have not sent in their orders to do so as early as possible, so there may be no difficulty in filling all the orders.

SNAP-SHOTS.

By J. F. Click.

It's dangerous to fall into the hands of the taxing power.

Good roads are necessary, but giving jobs to party workers is more necessary.

It takes a heap of hard-earned taxes to pay officers here in a Christian and prohibition State.

Why not tax dogs and let the money go to free schools, rather than keep the dogs up to give special privilege to hunters?

Most laws enacted now are for the benefit of the few, who, by hired agents, lobby through the Legislature.

Officials think the people should be willing to work hard from patriotic motives, but the officers themselves should have big salaries for the little they do.

The Revolutionary War was fought for just taxation. There should now be another revolution for the same reason—not with musket and cannon, but with honest ballots.

Senator Butler's Raleigh speech which is now in pamphlet form, should be read by every voter. It is broad, pointed, timely and unanswerable. It's a grand speech.

The people are asleep to their interests. The Bible teaches us to "watch and pray." The people don't watch enough to see that the leaders who do the "prying," do it with the letter "e" instead of the letter "a."

Democrats squall loud about the tariff building up manufacturing and money monopoly in the North. But go right on in the State multiplying and building up office and salary monopoly. Manufacturing does give labor employment, and the money monopoly North does loan us money to pay our debts caused by high salaries and mismanagement. But office and salary monopoly in the State, not only does not give labor employment, but actually takes the wages of laborers in the way of high and unjust taxes to increase its power and to further oppress the people. See?

The taxing power has begun to increase the tax on farmers. And unless they do more than complain—unless they rebel at the ballot box, there is no telling how high they will run their taxes.

The three Democrat papers in Catawba County are divided on the Senatorial question as follows: The Newton Enterprise is for Simmons, the Catawba County News is for Kitchin and the Hickory Democrat is for Aycock. But they will be one when they find out which one.

When they get the postmasters, post-office clerks and mail carriers all under civil service, then there will be no fussing over that pie. But civil or uncivil, if the Democrats carry the National election, they will give all these places to Democrats. If there is one thing they believe in, it is "to the victors belong the spoils."

Business will remain dull until the American people are assured that the tariff destroyers will not control this government after next election.—The Lincoln Times.

And it is also a fact that the average bar-room was a model institution in comparison to some of the places that are now conducted in this and other towns.—Durham Herald.

In less than one month the sheriff will be bearing down upon us with the latest production of Democratic high taxes. Say, beloved, are you ready to pay yours?—Clinton News-Dispatch.

The South votes solidly Democratic and then when its interests are endangered sends delegations to Washington to beg Congress not to do the very things that the voters know will be attempted when they cast their votes. That is placing party success above business sense and judgment.—Albemarle Chronicle.

They said the Republicans were responsible for the high cost of living. Well, sugar has advanced 10 cents on the hundred and the farmers' cotton has fallen 4 cents a pound under the glorious reign of soup-house Democracy! That's the way they help the farmers!—The Lincoln Times.

HAWKINS MURDER MYSTERY.

The Authorities at Hendersonville, N. C., Seem Unable to Unravel the Mystery—Think Criminal Operation Had Been Performed and Body Thrown into the Lake.

The mysterious death of Miss Myrtle Hawkins, of Hendersonville, N. C., is still baffling the authorities of that town. The last issue of The Caucasian told of the finding of the girl's body in Lake Oseola a week ago last Sunday. The coroner claims that the girl was dead before the body was thrown into the lake. The coroner further testified that he thought a criminal operation had been performed and this might have caused the girl's death. A. B. McCall and wife and a married man named Bradley have been suspected of knowing something of the tragedy, but all deny any knowledge of the operation or of the girl's death. A special detective has been working on the case for a week and a number of persons living in Hendersonville have been summoned to testify, but no one seemed to be able to give any definite information. The young man Cooper from Johnson City, Tenn., who was engaged to the dead girl, has been exonerated of having any knowledge of the crime.

A portion of a special from Hendersonville to yesterday's Charlotte Observer, says:

"In summing up the evidence to the jury, and in speaking of the possible causes of Myrtle Hawkins' death, Coroner Kirk said that she might have come to her death from three causes: From shock; from entrance of air into the veins, or from a hemorrhage which could have resulted from a criminal operation or a criminal assault. He told of the finding of an unmentionable appliance in the dead girl's clothes. He said death could not have occurred from drowning, and if from an anesthetic no signs of it was found in her lungs."

"In the light of all of the facts at hand it is believed the verdict will be that Myrtle Hawkins was murdered by a person or persons unknown. It is not believed that the jurymen will charge anybody with the crime, but to change the verdict that upon the finding of additional evidence warrants may be drawn on which criminal action can be taken. No arrests are expected to follow the verdict of the jury."

"No announcement has been made by Detective Bradford as to when he expects to leave Hendersonville. It is prophesied that he will remain here quietly working on the case in hope of concentrating evidence and thereby bringing about arrests."

Coroner's Jury Fails to Place the Blame.

A press dispatch sent out from Asheville yesterday afternoon says: "As has been indicated the past few days the second inquest into the case of Myrtle Hawkins closed to-day without leading to direct conclusions, leaving the authorities as completely baffled, as at first."

"The inquest closed at 10:50, the jury returning the following verdict: "We, the jury in the case of the death of Myrtle Hawkins, find from the testimony introduced that she came to her death at the hands of some unknown person or persons, in manner and by means unknown to us."

"Coroner Kirk gave out the following statement to the press:

"The authorities will continue to carry on the investigation, and if any evidence is found, it will be presented to the grand jury."

CARRIED KNIFE BLADE IN HEAD.

Wilmington Negro Dies of Wound Inflicted Over Two Years Ago—Murderer Assailed, Though He Cannot Be Tried for Murder.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 15.—After carrying a knife-blade two and one-half inches in length in his head for about two years and suffering no inconvenience whatever from it, Arthur Davis, a negro, died at the James Walker Memorial Hospital last night following an operation about three weeks ago for the removal of the blade. The operation was apparently successful as the negro left the institution. But he returned a few days ago and was having convulsions. He grew rapidly worse until he died. He told the hospital surgeons that in a fight two years ago with George Newberry, a negro, he was stabbed in the back of the head. He appeared not to know that the knife-blade had been wrung off in his cranium and left there. Newberry was arrested shortly before 2 o'clock this morning charged with secret assault. It is said that he cannot be tried for murder, as the wound which caused this death was inflicted more than a year and a day ago.
