How the Musical Scale was Invented.

A Fragment.

Fight it with gladness,

Chase with a smile the frown.

Bear it with cheeriness,

Oft 'tis a weariness,

Win with a cross the crown

Life is a knelling,

Of death bells, telling

Of shrouds and folded hands,

Of eves that are bid

And a grave where the marble stands.

> SHOE SIZES .- A third of an inch gives us a full size in length of a shoe; a sixth furnishes the intermediate point between two sizes, the saving of which is desirable, if practicable: a small fraction of breadth goes a good way in securing comfort, and in girth of ball or instep an infinitesimal part of an inch is somtimes an ell of freedom; a quarter of an inch is a good deal of letting down or elevating at the heel and the difference of a 16th is readily perceptible at the sole. For these reasons sudden and extreme charges in size or weight of shoes are injudicious.—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

The open spaces in the outside walls between the boarding and plastering, and in the partitions, and between the floor timbers, form a perfect network of flues. If a fire starts in the lowest part of the house, those flues, with the shavings and chips usually left there, carry the fire to the attic and roof instantly; or if it starts above, the coals and fragments of fire fall down through those flues, thus spreading the fire very rapidly.

The suggestions that I have to offer as an improvement in house building are simply to let the lining floors in each story extend to the outside boardings, and lay one course of brick in mortar on the floor between the studding; refuse or broken brick or small stones will answer; fill in inside the partitions in the same way if necessary, not forgetting to stop all Onions.—One day I was taken with openings around steam and other pipes chills and headache. How Citizens are Made. The Kind of Men Who are Permitted to Become

Judge Bischoff was making citizens of s batch of aliens in the court of common pleas yesterday, and among the lot was a number of King Humbert's subjects. "What kind of a Government is this?" the judge asked one of the swarthy Italians, "Georga Wash"! Georga Wash"!" the man exclaimed enthusiastically, and with an air of conviction, almost before the judge had completed the question.

The next subject was a Russian with a name a yard long. "What kind of a Government is this?" asked the judge. There was about as much expression in the man's face as there is in the side of a barn, and he looked at the judge without answering. "Don't you know what kind of a Government this is?" continued Judge Bischoff. The question did not produce the slightest effect on the candidate for citizenship. His face remained unchanged, and in the belief that he did not understand English, the question was

Chinese Custom. Many explanations are suggested to account for the barbarous Chinese custom of stunting and dwarfing the women's feet. It has been attributed by some to the desire of the women to have small feet, while others say that it was instituted by the men as a means of keeping their wives from gadding. However it originated, the custom is so universal among the upper and middle classes that The difficulties of navigating the most men would refuse to marry a woman Missouri River are confined to two places | whose feet were not thus deformed.
