

The Charlotte Democrat.

J. P. STRONG, Editor and Proprietor. CHARLOTTE, N. C. Friday, March 16, 1894.

SENATOR VANCE now expects to leave Florida for Washington about April 1.

EX-SENATOR White of Louisiana, was Monday installed as a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

ERASMUS replied to the pope, who blamed him for not keeping Lent, "My mind is Catholic, but my stomach is Protestant."

EASTER is always the first Sunday after the full moon that happens on or next after 21st of March. This year Easter is on March 25.

COMMENCING last Sunday, the Three C's railroad people have discontinued their Sunday train. After several years' experience, it has been found that the train does not pay.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY, the anniversary of the patron saint of Ireland, falls due next Saturday, the 17th. As it falls during Lent, festivities will be postponed until Easter Monday.

THERE will be a meeting of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy at Raleigh Wednesday and Thursday, April 11th and 12th, at which time candidates for licenses to practice pharmacy will be examined.

RALEIGH'S new evening paper "The Press" is to be issued on the 28th inst. Messrs. McKay, Williams and Womble will be the proprietors. The two former have been connected with the Raleigh Christian Advocate for many years.

We invite special attention of our readers to the article on second page, "For Cotton Planters," that they should command the situation and control the price of cotton, which can only be raised in ten Southern States of the Union.

VICE PRESIDENT and Mrs. Stevenson, have visited Vanderbilt's Western N. C. palace and are astonished at what they saw. Gen. Stevenson had no idea of the vast scale on which Vanderbilt was working. The estate will, he said, be the finest in America.

The State auditor says that no tax on building and loan associations, other than that provided for in the revenue act can be levied. Individual shareholders will give in for taxation, as other stocks and bonds, shares at their real value per share at time of listing.

A PLAN is on foot among the Methodists to raise in the two conferences of North Carolina an endowment fund of $100,000 for Trinity College. It is proposed to apportion the money among the various presiding elders' districts, and to raise it in the next four years.

PRESIDENT ELLIOTT of Harvard says that there is scarcely a single subject taught nowadays in the same way it was taught thirty years ago, and that even law, the most conservative of studies, is now treated in an entirely different method from that which prevailed in former years.

Mr. H. W. Early, of Bertie county, chief; Mr. J. H. Cornwell, of Cleveland county, and Mr. F. M. Lee, of Asheville, of the Euzelian Society, Mr. J. C. Howard of Granville county, chief; Mr. W. J. Christian, of Durham, and Mr. W. M. Holding, of Wake Forest, of the Philomathean Society, have been elected Marshals at Wake Forest Commencement.

CARNEGIE, FRICK & Co. of the Homestead mills have been compelled to pay the Government $140,000 for their failure to make armor plates conforming to the specifications of their contract with the Government and equal to the highest tests imposed upon them by the naval authorities. The Homestead company resisted the payment of the money until all opportunities of resistance were exhausted, but was finally compelled to make good the Government's losses and redeem the obligations it had entered into at the time the contract was made.

Editor Hatton of the Washington Post, who by the way is a stalwart Republican, referring to the sectional harangues of some of the Republican statesmen, raps them over the knuckles thus: "We do not hesitate to say that in all the relations of life, as between man and man, we prefer a fighting record in the Confederacy to a skulking, bounty jumping record in the Union, and regard the man who did his duty as he saw it in 1863—no matter on which side he fought—as one who can be safely trusted in 1894."

Sunday Work to Make Up for Lower Rates.

MASSILLON, March 5.—A novel departure in the way of compensation for reduced wages is made here by Smith & Graven, brick manufacturers, who cut the wages of all their working force in the yards from 124 cents to 10 cents an hour. To enable the men to make up the money loss, they offer them seven days' work each week, instead of six days.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Bland Bill.

The Bland bill will be voted upon on Thursday, at 2 o'clock, and just what disposition will be made of it is a matter that seriously concerns every friend of the Democratic party. If it goes to the President it is certain to be vetoed, and if that event does not cause a reorganization of parties throughout the entire country, many far-seeing statesmen are mistaken. Whether free coinage is fraught with good or ill for the country is a question upon which good men differ, but it is certain that this is the rock on which the Democratic party is to be split in twain, and all who believe that the welfare of the country is identified with the continued integrity of that splendid organization must feel uneasy at the outlook. It is scarcely probable that the South and West will again give their support to any party which is not pledged to the enactment of a free coinage law, and whose candidates are not committed to its support. Parties are only useful as they tend to promote the country's best interest, but it would be calamity should parties be reorganized on sectional lines as seem probable. This means the bitterest and most dangerous partisan strife.

The Wilson tariff bill, as amended by the Senate Finance Committee, was made public last Thursday. Our Washington correspondent gives the more important changes made in the bill as it came from the House:

Sugar not above 80 degrees polariscope test, 1 cent per pound, for every additional degree below 80 degrees polariscope test: additional; above 80 and not above 96.02 cents per degree, and above 96 a duty of 14 cents per pound. Molasses testing not above 56 degrees by the hydrometer, 40 cents per gallon; molasses testing above 56 degrees shall pay a duty of 4 cents per gallon.

Whiskey at $1.10 per gallon, and the bonded period extended from three to eight years. Iron ore, 40 cents per ton. Lead ore, three-fourths of a cent per pound, including lead mixed with silver ore. Coal, bituminous and shale, 40 cents per ton. Coal, slack or culm, 15 cents per ton. Coal 15 per cent ad valorem. The woolsen schedule shows few changes. These are about 5 per cent reduction.

No changes are made in the cotton or lumber schedules. Collars and cuffs are increased from 35 to 45 per cent ad valorem.

The date for going into effect of the bill is changed from June 1 to June 30.

The income tax feature of the bill has been amended considerably, the tax will probably produce $2,000,000 of revenue annually. It is anticipated that perhaps after a year or two of the working of the new bill it will provide a surplus revenue. This is the expectation of the members of the Senate committee who worked on it. They hope, with each revenue surplus, to keep on slicing down the tariff on the necessities of life, but income tax feature in all probability will never be interfered with.

The chief attack in the Senate on the tariff bill will be directed against the income tax, and in that movement Senator Hill will be the commanding general. Some years ago this gentleman gained celebrity by his famous declaration in the House that he was a Democrat, but since then he has lost much of his prestige, and one can now write without much hazard about the "passing" of David B. Hill.

There was a time when Paris was France and the will of that great city dominated all of French territory. New York city is fast asserting a claim to similar pre-eminence; but our country is too vast for it to be tolerated.

The Democratic party will cast off those influences and will strengthen itself in doing so. We trust the Empire State will be represented by Democrats in both branches of Congress, but that State will no longer occupy such high vantage ground as formerly, and the party instead of being the New York leaders will avoid them.—Raleigh Observer.

Charlotte ex-Editors. Mr. W. E. Christian, some months ago was engaged by the New York Herald to go to Brazil, South America, to write up the war in progress there. The illness of his family here prevented him filling the position. As the steamer was to leave within a few days he procured the situation for Mr. D. F. St. Clair, formerly editor of the Charlotte Chronicle, who is now correspondent from Brazil.

The Henderson Gold Leaf has an article from Mr. Robert Haydn, formerly editor of the Charlotte Chronicle. He is now living in Portland, Oregon, connected with the Pacific Coast Publishing Syndicate.

Col. Fred A. Olds, not an "ex," but one of the liveliest correspondents, is now City Editor of the Raleigh Evening Visitor.

We are indebted to Judge Schenck for a copy of the memorial volume of the Guilford Battle Ground Company. It is a volume of one hundred and fifty pages, beautifully printed and containing some very fine engravings. The addresses delivered at the unveiling of the Holt monument are printed in full, together with biographical sketches of Gen. Sumner, William R. Davis and others. It is a very interesting and valuable book.

VICE PRESIDENT and Mrs. Stevenson arrived in Statesville on Wednesday the guest of United States Marshal T. J. Allison. They left on Thursday for Washington.

FULL MOON IN MARCH.—Eleven years ago Easter fell on the same day as in this year. It was a green March, as this has been, vegetation was up and the fruit trees were all in bloom when on Good Friday night there was a change in the weather and on Easter Sunday in the middle and Western parts of the State the earth was white with snow and the trees bowed down with snow. We very much fear something of the same sort this year. The full moon in March falls due this year on the morning of the 21st, just one week from Wednesday next, and the old farmers always look to this moon with considerable anxiety for they say that if the crops escape destruction by cold up to that time they are safe thereafter. Sure is it that cold weather now would play havoc with many happy hopes.—Wilmington Review.

In the old house on South Salisbury street near the arsenal, which has just been torn down, one was an arithmetic dated 1822 another an Irish halfpenny of 1787, and another a letter from John Campbell to Donald Campbell, dated here in 1833 Mr. Campbell was then cutting stone for use in the capitol. He speaks of Raleigh as a place of 1,700 people and says it had had more but a great deal of it had been burned.—Raleigh Visitor.

How to CURE BACON.—Salt down as usual, hang and smoke, then take down and dip in strong brack water, and then dry it and the skippers will not bother it, nor will it rust.

FROM OUR RALEIGH CORRESPONDENT.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 13, 1894.

The oldest farmers in this section say they never saw farming operations as far advanced as they are now and never saw the lands so carefully tilled in preparation of the crops. There is a disposition, in fact a determination, on the part of most farmers to raise plenty of meat. They are beginning to talk about how well they are living at home. All these are good signs. The amount of home-made fertilizer being used this spring is many times greater than ever. These remarks all apply to this section, which in past years has been almost absolutely under the dominion of King Cotton. The carefully estimated cotton acreage is 10 to 15 per cent.

Mr. T. B. Jernigan tells me he will leave here on the 25th instant, for his post at Shanghai. Mr. Irvin Avery accompanies him as private secretary. They will take the fine steamer China at San Francisco and go via Honolulu. Capt. Ward, of Raleigh, commands the China. The cotton oil mills at this place will shut down March 31st, having crushed to this date 8,000 tons of seed. The phosphate mills located here have made 5,500 tons of acid phosphate.

The revenue collections in this district during February were $82,490.38; just half as much as those in the western district. This county now has 59 convicts at work macadamizing its public roads. Thus far about twelve miles have been macadamized.

The business outlook here is considered quite fair. Business men just from New York say the spring trade there has been tolerably good. North Carolina is justly regarded there as being in good shape financially.

The officials of the Seaboard Air Line had a long pursuit of George Brown, a negro who simply because he had a grudge against a brakeman on a freight train caused a costly wreck at Pine Bluff, in Moore county. The fellow was finally caught in Florida. He confessed his crime, saying he filed the switch and then opened it, hid behind a stump and watched the smash-up of the engine and freight cars. Brown is sent to the penitentiary for 25 years.

There are now 70 Veterans on the roll at the Confederate Soldiers' Home. Of these a few are at home on furlough. In the Superior court here last week the case of W. S. Barnes, secretary-treasurer of the State Farmers' Alliance against Hon. W. T. Crawford came up on appeal. This is the case in which Barnes sued Crawford for $10,000 damages for alleged slander. The case came up on demurrer. The demurrer was sustained and the action dismissed. From this decision Judge Hoke Barnes has appealed to the Supreme court. He charges that Congressman Crawford slandered him in the campaign by alleging that he had forged his name to a "demand" card of the Alliance.

The executive committee of the State Alliance, composed of Marion Butler, A. F. Hileman and J. J. Long, was in session here last week. Its proceedings are not made public. President Butler has very little to say when here.

During February 59 convicts were received at the penitentiary. During the past week nine came in from Columbus, two from Beaufort and one from Stanley. The trustees of the Odd Fellows Orphanage have held a meeting there (the location is now Goldsboro) and elected J. T. Deans superintendent, vice Dr. W. C. Whitfield, resigned.

The ladies' memorial association of this city has chosen Walter A. Montgomery, Esq., of Raleigh, to deliver the memorial day oration May 10th.

That day will also be marked by an imposing ceremony, the laying of the corner stone of the Confederate monument, at the west gate of the Capitol square. This is the monument for the erection of which Col. Muldoon, of Louisville, Ky., has the contract, at $22,500. It is thought probable that granite from Mooresville, Iredell county, will be used.

The collection of relics, which the State antiquarian society is making, in the State library, increases slowly, but yet some progress is made. The vast majority of people in North Carolina care little for relics of the past; in fact pay no attention to such matters.

The interminable suit of Josiah Turner against Mrs. W. W. Holden came up again in the Superior court last week. Strange to say, both sides appealed. Turner made a motion to set aside the judgment against him of the previous week and asked for a new trial. This motion Judge Hoke denied. Mrs. Holden made a motion to set aside the judgment of 1883 which Turner obtained against Holden. This motion was also denied. It is not probable that Turner will ever get a cent of damages. Such is the general opinion.

The number of students at the agricultural and mechanical college is now 192. It is expected that the battalion will be uniformed next week.

At the semi-annual meeting of the directors of the insane asylum here, held last week, Dr. William R. Wood resigned as superintendent, the resignation taking effect June 1. Dr. George L. Kirby, a well known physician of Goldsboro, succeeds him. The health of Dr. Wood's wife rendered it necessary for him to relinquish the position he has filled with signal ability for five years.

The North Carolina delegates to the great Southern Baptist convention which meets at Dallas, Texas, in May, will go in a special train over the Seaboard Air Line, via Atlanta, Mobile and New Orleans. Chatham county is the "stronghold" of the populists in this State, but it is now said that their power is waning there. It is not denied that they will gain carry the county, but they are not so strong and united as they were.

Mr. Albert Johnson, the oldest living locomotive engineer in the United States, is very sick at his home at Raleigh. He is about 85 years of age, and is yet an employee of the Raleigh and Gaston railway, as he has been for some 55 years or more. Of course his duties have for years been merely nominal.

The Art League.

The committee, consisting of Mrs. J. E. Brown, Mrs. Lucian Walker, Misses Cordelia Phifer, Mattie Dowd and Mr. Mahan, appointed to adopt a policy for the League, have outlined the policy and they will send invitations to artists in other towns to be present at the exhibits and also to exhibit their work.

The Senior class was charmingly entertained at dinner last Saturday by Miss McClintock. All enjoyed the day very much, and the class of '94 will look back with pleasure upon that Saturday.

We are glad to have our Latin teacher, Miss Claud Grier, back again, after her trip to Detroit. She was sent by the Second Presbyterian Church as a delegate to the Second International Convention of the Students' Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions. There were fifteen hundred delegates present, twelve hundred and fifty of whom were students from one hundred and ninety-four institutions of learning. It is said to have been the largest convention of students ever held in the world, and it must have been an inspiring sight to see such a gathering of earnest young people brought together for one great purpose. There were no denominations in the convention, only Christians.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Raleigh Observer. Opinions were handed down as follows: Benbow vs. Moore, from Guilford, affirmed. Jarrell vs. Daniel, from Granville, new trial. State vs. Harris, from Granville, appeal dismissed. State vs. Austin, from Union, no error. In Tapp's Estate, from Orange, no error. Boykin vs. Madrey, from Northampton, (two cases, decided in favor of plaintiff). Deans vs. Pate, from Wayne, new trial. Times Co. vs. Iron Co., from Guilford, affirmed. Christian vs. Parrott, from Granville, affirmed. State vs. Ridley, from Durham, affirmed. Arrington vs. Arrington, from Vance, appeal of J. C. Arrington, remanded to settle of J. C. Arrington. State vs. Baker, from Wilson, decided against the prosecutor. Allen vs. Allen, from Vance, affirmed. State vs. Behrman, from Edgecombe, affirmed. Graham vs. Edwards, from Granville, motion to reinstate, appeal denied. Hughes vs. Telegraph Co., from Craven, affirmed.

The Tariff Bill.

The tariff bill as it is reported to the Senate Finance Committee will be a disappointment to revenue reformers. The concessions that have been made to the protectionist Democrats are a surrender of rights of the vast majority that placed the Democratic party in power. As the New York World says: "Every item struck from the free list is a denial of a succession of Democratic platforms in favor of free raw material. These concessions were forced by men who masquerade in the name of Democracy and who insisted that their votes for the fulfillment of Democratic pledges should be purchased."

Mr. Murphy's vote was bought with 10 per cent. on collars and cuffs. Gorman, Gibson, Faulkner and Camden were bought with 40 cents a ton on coal and iron ore; Smith and McPherson by higher duties than were provided for in the Wilson bill on pottery and glass. The Louisiana Senators and White, of California, were induced to refrain from voting against their party's promises by a duty on sugar which will benefit the Trust, although less than the McKinley act. Perhaps, under the circumstances, the country ought to be thankful that the Trust did not secure all its demands.

In some items the Senate committee provides for lower rates than those fixed by the Wilson bill. The principal cause of complaint is that the free list is diminished, and free coal, iron and sugar are denied to manufacturers and consumers. The bill, however, retains free wool, which is the most important feature of the Wilson bill. That is a bill to be thankful for which takes the tax from this staple a tax that has actually limited and discouraged sheep-raising in this country and that has greatly injured woolen manufacturers.

With free wool on the statute books the end of McKinleyism is not far off. Free wool is the keynote of tariff reform.

The New York Recorder offers a prize for the best definition of "seigniorage." Seigniorage is what the government makes by coining fifty cents' worth of silver and circulating the coin as a dollar.—Richmond Star.
