The Fly in Amber.

n one of the European musuems may be seen a piece of amber, in which is imbe dded a perfect fly. Now, neither the amber nor the fly are curiosities, but the curiosity consists in how the fly got into the amber. An equally wonderful curiosity may occasionally be seen in country drug stores, in the shape of huge drastic cathartic pills, put up in cheap wood or pasteboard boxes. The curiosity with these "jokers," consists in knowing who asks for them, when it is generally known that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, sugars costed, and put up in glass bottles, always fresh and reliable, but a little larger than mustard seeds, are an efficient cathartic, regulate the liver, and cure sick head-ache,

The Old Time and the New.

Washington Post. Prot. Francis Hovey Stoddard, of the University of the City of New York, contributes to the outlook and interesting paper on the changes in the scope and character of American colleges in the past half century. The increase in ena college is the first that the professor mentions. Fifty years ago, he says, $50,000, or even less, was often deemed sufficient to start a college. Everything else wears out; but the love of God has in it an undecaying vitality. It is new every morning and fresh every evening. Our Lord put this great truth before the Samaritan woman trade. He has been extensively quoted when he said to her: "Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again, but whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the action among the nations named above water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of living water springing up in every quarter of the globe. And now into eternal life." The time will never come when the supply of God's grace shall not be fully equal to all the demands that may be made upon it.
