CAME NEAR DEFEAT.

DINGLEY TARIFF BILL SAVED BY A RULING.

Democrats Had a Majority of the House When Lanham Offered an Amendment Killing the Bill.

By Telegraph to The News.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Dingley tariff bill came near being lost in the house today, and it was rescued only by a technicality.

Consideration of schedules of the tariff bill in detail for the purpose of amendment began today, when the house went into committee of the whole, and the clerk was instructed to begin the reading of the bill.

MOVED TO KILL THE BILL.

Representative Lanham, of Texas, offered an amendment in effect killing the Dingley bill while the Democrats were in a majority in the house this morning. This caused consternation among the Republicans.

By the partisan decision of Chairman Sherman, the motion was declared out of order and the bill then passed.

Representative Dockery then offered an anti-trust amendment.

Chairman Dingley rose in defence of the bill as it stood.

The chairman declared him out of order.

HIGHER THAN M'KINLEY.

The Rates of the Tariff Bill Now Pending in Congress.

By Telegraph to The News.

WASHINGTON.—The Sensation of the tariff debate today was the onslaught made by Richardson, of Tennessee, upon the bill. He read from comparative statements prepared by the chairman of the committee and stated boldly that the present bill will tax people a great deal higher than even the McKinley bill.

Twelve out of fourteen new schedules contain rates higher than the McKinley bill.

A POPULAR COUPLE ELOPE.

Miss Wiley and Mr. Murphy of Salisbury Plight Their Troth in Greenville, S. C.

A marriage of two popular young people, residents of Salisbury, but well known in Charlotte, took place in Greenville yesterday afternoon. It was a quiet affair, and quite romantic. The Greenville News of this morning has the following account of the elopement:

A striking, handsome and stylishly dressed couple eloped from Salisbury, N. C., and were married here yesterday shortly after noon by Rev. Dr. McConnell at the First Presbyterian parsonage, the contracting parties being Miss Miriam Helen Wiley and Nettleson Payne Murphy, both wealthy residents of Salisbury.

The elopement was not planned by the young lady. When Miss Wiley left Salisbury early yesterday morning and kissed her mother good bye for a trip to Georgia, she had no more idea of intention of becoming a bride than she had of making a trip to Mars.

Mr. Murphy learned Miss Wiley would leave yesterday for a visit to her sister, a student at the Agnes Scott Institute, near Atlanta, and accordingly he hid himself out of Salisbury the previous day and laid in wait for her at Charlotte. Yesterday he boarded the vestibule and found her. She was really surprised and pretended to be dizzy.

Very soon, however, he renewed the prosecution of his suit for her hand, and was not successful till just before they reached Greenville. He probably told her the usual white fib about the desperate things he would do should she so blight his career by a refusal and a young woman "just out of sympathy, your know," or "to get rid of him" consented to honor him with her hand.

They left the vestibule at the Air Line depot and came down town in a hack and went straight to a jeweler and bought a ring, and thence they proceeded in the same vehicle to the Presbyterian parsonage, where Dr. McConnell quickly tied the knot. The groom dropped a $10 fee into the minister's hands and the young couple drove to the Mansion house where they died.

They spent several hours writing home to explain how it all happened and left on the afternoon train for Atlanta to spend a while till the "old folks" could recover from the shock.

The Cubans occupied a strong position and fought stubbornly, but after several hours they were defeated and dispersed being unable to withstand the heavy cannonading and the musketry fire of the troops. It is reported that Maj. Gen. Rivara and his chief of staff, Col. Bacallaio, were taken prisoners.

Lieut. Terry was badly wounded by a fragment of a shell. General Rivara is said to be suffering from three wounds. The insurgents carried some of their dead with them and left ten on the field.

HIGHEST OF ALL.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE NEW TARIFF BILL.

Rushed Through the House.—"Slight Unseen."—North and East Get the Benefit of it All.—Means Higher Prices.

Start Correspondence of The News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31.—The house votes tomorrow on house bill No. 379 entitled, "An act to provide revenue for the government and to encourage the industries of the United States," and commonly known as the Dingley tariff bill.

The present extra session of the fifty-fifth congress convened March 15th, and the proposed tariff bill was reported from the committee on ways and means four days later. This important measure has thus been rushed through the House in ten legislative days. It covers sixty three closely printed pages and embraces about seven hundred sections and sub sections each one of which affects some industry or product. From this one can see with what haste the measure has been rushed through.

As a matter of fact, the bill was framed by Chairman Dingley and the Republican members of the committee on ways and means, and they only know how and why the schedules have been fixed.

THROUGH "SLIGHT UNSEEN."

The truth is many items are going through without discussion, the committee is giving no adequate explanations, and the measure is going through the house to most of the members "slight unseen," as school boys trade jack knives.

The bill is an avowed protective measure, as its title indicates, but the protection, as usual stretches over the North and East, and leaves our part of the South in the cold.

NOTHING FOR THE SOUTH.

For instance, cotton ties that are free of duty now are taxed eight-tenths of a cent a pound. Cotton bawls, admitted free of duty under the Wilson act, is to be taxed a cent per square yard and fifteen per cent ad valorem.

Wool that now comes in free is to be taxed eleven cents a pound. This seems little now, but when the average man comes to buy his next winter's clothes he will feel it in the price of the suit.

Senator Pritchard has made one mighty stroke for the State; he has secured protection for our mica, to the tune of three cents a pound and fifteen per cent ad valorem.

"That's all we get out of this tariff. And that benefits about 1624 people in two counties.

In many of its schedules the Dingley bill is higher than the extreme McKinley tariff. It is the furthest step in the direction of protection.

And though the tariff was not an issue in the last campaign, this bill will make itself remembered in higher prices.

The Republicans themselves do not believe it will restore prosperity. In our own Southern section how can higher prices on what we have to buy and lower prices on what we have to sell, make us more prosperous?

For the wall of protection is built around what we buy; but what we sell must fight for itself in the open markets of the world.

JOHN WILBER JENKINS.

FITZSIMMONS ARRESTED.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Robert Fitzsimmons, the champion pugilist, and Maria Julian, his manager, were arrested by a deputy sheriff Saturday night on the charge of attempting to defraud their creditors. They immediately gave bond for their appearance.

The trouble was brought about by the action of S. C. Haller, who claimed to represent Fitzsimmons and who arranged for his appearance at the People's Palace music hall in this city on March 20th. Julian repudiated the agreement, denying that Haller was in any way connected with the Fitzsimmons party.

The officials of the People's Palace brought suit for breach of contract, claiming damages in the sum of $240.

No Wine Served at White House Dinner.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The question whether wine will be served at dinners in the white house seems to have been decided. Following the precedent established by another Ohio president and his wife, the McKinleys have, without any discussion of the subject, quietly eschewed the practice of serving wine. At the first cabinet dinner given last Wednesday two goblets were at each plate, one for ordinary Potomac water and the other for apollinaris. Mrs. Cleveland never served wine, and, as far as she was concerned, if it had rested with her, it is probable there would have been wine at none of the white house dinners. At her luncheons no cordials were served.

A QUESTION OF VALIDITY.

The Election Law Regarding City Elections Has Not Been Followed.

Another bomb has exploded; another shell has burst and still we are in Charlotte live.

The people had hardly digested Mr. Spring's card withdrawing from the primaries this morning before they were confronted with the question as to the validity of the coming election.

The election law as passed by the legislature of '95 was amended by the recent legislature in as much as it applied to city and town elections. The amendment prescribes for an annual election on the first Tuesday of May. Heretofore it has taken place of the first Monday. It also prescribes for no less than 40 days notice, which has not been done. Also for the appointment of one registrar and two judges of election for each voting precinct.

The fault (if it is a fault) is with the State printers. The first copy of the amended law was received in Charlotte this morning by Judge A. Burwell. But this does not count, for every citizen is supposed to be conversant with the laws just as soon as they are passed by the general assembly.

A News reporter called on Judge Burwell, the city attorney, to get some kind of expression from him. He had been so busy with court affairs that he had not been able to look into the matter. A prominent lawyer, whose name we withhold at his suggestion, says that the Supreme Court has decided where the spirit of the law has been complied with, and that no large numbers of voters have been deprived of their vote, the required notice does not hold good. If this be the case no trouble can possibly come.

THE AMENDED ELECTION LAW.

The section as amended says that on the first Tuesday in May 1897, and annually on the same Tuesday thereafter, an election shall be held in every incorporated city in North Carolina, when and where there shall be voted for and elected of and by the qualified voters therein, such officers as are provided for in the respective charters of the several cities and towns of North Carolina.

That no less than forty (40) days next preceding such elections the board provided for under the present election law shall appoint one registrar and two judges of election for each voting precinct, to be chosen of each political party, shall be so appointed upon an amendment to the charter of the several political parties in each voting precinct.

REAPPOINTING OLD OFFICIALS.

Exceptions to the Rule to be Made in Certain Cases.

The statement has been made that President McKinley is going to adopt the policy inaugurated by Cleveland of not appointing ex-officials to office. The proposition has, however, been too broadly stated. It is understood that a certain class of ex-officials will probably be reappointed to positions from which they were removed by Cleveland or his secretaries.

A large number of employees in the departments ranking above the classified service—men of experience resulting from long service and exceptional fitness—were removed, and after their successors were appointed the civil service rules were extended so as to take in the new appointees. These officers are by this move taken out of the class to which President McKinley or his secretaries may make appointments at will, and the Democratic appointees are safe from outside competition. The only men who might succeed them, without going through the civil service commission will be those who formerly held the positions. Such of these ex-officials as were soldiers may be reappointed to their old places, regardless of the length of time they have been out of office; and others who have not been out more than a year may be restored. The understanding is that those Republicans whose training rendered them conspicuously capable officials, and who were removed to make room for Democrats before the offices were placed in the classified service; will be restored, both for the improvement of the service and as a protest against what Republicans regard as the partisan scheme of the last administration to keep its appointees in office.

GAPT. FINCH AGAIN AGENT.

Good News to Flany.

Capt. K. S. Finch returned from Norfolk and Portsmouth this morning. While in Portsmouth Capt. Finch had a conference with the officers and the result of that conference will be good news to Charlotte people. Capt. Finch has been reinstated as Agent of the Seaboard Air Line in this city, the position he recently resigned. The Seaboard could hardly get along without him at the helm in Charlotte and the business people of the town fully appreciate this.

The News being one of Capt. Finch's best friends rejoices over the outcome of the Portsmouth conference.

SPRINGS WITHDRAWS.

HIS NAME WILL NOT GO BEFORE THE PRIMARIES.

He Will Let the People Arbitrate the Differences Between Himself and Mr. Weddington at the Polls.

Mr. E. B. Springs has addressed the following card to the citizens of Charlotte:

Acting on the deliverance of the Democratic executive committee for the city of Charlotte, as promulgated some weeks ago, I announced myself a candidate for mayor, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

Subsequently, when Mr. Hall and Mr. Weddington jointly addressed a card to me, I positively refused to agree to any change in the platform or any deviation from the rules as previously established by the Democratic executive committee and thoroughly understood.

The action of the committee, Monday night, in reversing their former action, was unwarranted, and I refuse, under the circumstances recited, to recognize their authority.

I understood that the policy of the committee was conciliatory—not proscriptive; that, owing to the anomalous condition of political affairs, the committee intended (and their utterance will bear me out) to bring back voters to the fold, rather than to drive them away.

Had they not made this ruling at first I should never have become a candidate.

By every known precedent and tradition of party government the rules establishing the powers, rights and privileges of a voter have never been changed after the candidates have been announced.

It is unnecessary for me to more than allude to this anomalous position of the executive committee when they condoned the political offense of some for voting against the higher of the ticket and attempted to discipline others for so doing—the tail of the same ticket.

Under these circumstances I have decided to withdraw from the primaries and let the people of the city arbitrate the differences between us at the polls.

In entering this race I knew that I labored under many disadvantages, conspicuous among them being the fact that large sums were being spent at a time when the city could not get value received for its money. It is well known that the weather has been entirely unfit for constant outdoor work, yet on the eve of the so-called primaries the weekly pay rolls for sewer and street operations are averaging about twelve hundred dollars. This amount is, for all practical purposes, a campaign fund in the hands of its dispenser.

In combating the resources and patronage of the city administration, I appeal to the citizens and tax payers for their support, pledging myself, if elected, to give my undivided time to the needs of our growing city. I recognize the fact that such an office of such importance demands an undivided attention, and being out of active business I can and will devote my time and best energies to Charlotte's welfare.

March 30, 1897. E. B. SPRINGS.

NO HARD FEELING.

The Appointment of Milliken Does Not Indicate This Rowlinas to be Collector.

The success of Senator Pritchard in securing the appointment of J. M. Milliken to be marshal for the Western District of North Carolina, which office is now vacant, does not by any means indicate that there will be any dissension or hard feelings between the Senator and his Republican friend and supporter in the House, Richmond Pearson. Mr. Pearson was very desirous of securing this place for J. G. Grant, an old mountaineer and experienced Western ex-Sheriff of Henderson County, whose record as being a terror to law-breakers during the past quarter of a century was a strong recommendation in his favor.

But Senator Pritchard was pledged to Mr. Milliken, and Senatorial recommendations are the things that have been the most weight nowadays. It is understood that some other Federal position is to be given to Mr. Grant to console him for the loss of the marshalship.

W. H. Rawlins, of North Carolina, who is now in the city, is said to be slated for the position of Internal Revenue Collector in that State. A vacant circuit Judgeship also exists in North Carolina, but it is said that all action upon that has been suspended for thirty days, owing to the fact that there are no less than twenty applicants for the position, and it is necessary to take some time to consider the respective merits of this large field of applicants.—Washington Post.
