HUNDRED DROWNED.

A PACIFIC STEAMER WRECKED IN THE INDIAN OCEAN.

The Fate of the "Aden" at Last a Certainty—A Tragedy of the Southern Seas.

By Telegraph to The News.
LONDON, June 29.—According to advices received today there is no longer any doubt as to the fate of the missing Pacific Line steamer "Aden," which left Yokohama June 1st for London with a number of passengers and a valuable cargo. It is now known that the Aden was wrecked June 9th on a reef near the island of Socotra, in the Indian ocean, off the eastern extremity of Africa. It is thought nearly a hundred lives were lost.

A number of her officers and eight passengers were swept overboard and drowned. The boat, loaded with passengers and sailors, left the ship June 10th. The weather was very heavy and it is feared the boat has been lost. Other accounts say that nine passengers, three Europeans and thirty three natives of the crew were saved. Twenty five passengers, twenty Europeans and thirty three natives of the crew, with all the officers are missing or drowned.

A later dispatch says the Indian government steamer "Mayo" rescued the survivors of the Aden at seven o'clock Saturday, just at the time the wreck of the Pacific Liner was breaking up. They have been taken to Aden.

A WAITING GAME.

That is what they say the Administration is playing with Spain.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The opinion seems well grounded that the present administration will play a waiting game for a while with Spain over the Cuban question. When it is remembered that Congress is expected to adjourn about the middle of July, that Woodford don't expect to go to Madrid till after that date, and that the change in consul general at Havana is still longer postponed, it is still evident that much of the talk about the "critical stage" of things reached is founded rather upon hopes of Cuban sympathizers than upon any outgoing from the administration headquarters. True there is a crisis but on Capitol Hill rather than the white house. If the house can be held down till the tariff bill is out of the senate that will become its primary business, of course, till the conference is finished and the enrolled bill is sent to the president. The senate may rant and roar, but in the game which is playing here now one speaker with his own code of rules is worth ten senators without any rules worth mentioning.
