A Number of Southern Malcontents Meet by "Accident" and Discuss How They Can Best Aid the Republican Party.

By Soutpern Telegraph Line.

WASHINGTON, August 30.-The Star this evening publishes the following interview with Collector Brady, of Petersburg, concerning the reported conference of prominent politicians at the Arlington Hotel last night: "Oh that was all a mistake about our having a meeting yesterday," was the reply, "no such thing occurred. Last evening, however, a number of, us met in Gen Mahone's parlor and had a pleasant social talk and as you can't get gentlemen together now-a-days without the subject of politics being introduced, our conversation took that direction. There were present, let me see, Gen Mahone, Gen Longstreet, Gen Chalmers, Beach of Missouri, Jefferds of Mississippi, and myself. I don't think Gen Mahone and Gen Longstreet met since the war, and they were anxious to see each other. Nearly an hour and a half was occupied with relation of reminiscences of the war times. Some of us fought on different sides and our campaigning recollections were very interesting," But you said that the meeting took a political turn, Colonel, said the reporter. How about that? 'Yes, and I have no objection to stating that the result was a general desire to organize and consolidate the independent and disaffected factions in the South with a view of being able to do good work in 1884 as against the Bourbon Democrats for the benefit of the Republican party. At least that was my idea. We have assurances that Jones of Texas, Petkin of Louisiana, Cash of South Carolina, and numbers of other such men are heartily in favor of such a plan and will lend it their personal assistance.

Was any particular course decided upon, or did you make araangements for a future conference?

"Neither," was the reply. "Our meet-ing was mainly accidental and the conference, as I have said of a general nature. Of course we look upon Gen. Mahone who has been so successful in Virginia as the best fitted to engineer any such movement. Any step that he may see fit to take will undoubtedly be endorsed and the rest will fall into line, but as yet the plan has taken no defi-

GALVESTON, August 30th.—A specia dispatch to the News from Brenham, Texas, says, Thomas Hoxie, aged 21, son of Dr Hoxie, while passing on horse-back through one of the principal streets last night, carrying a doubled barreled shot gun, was shot dead off his horse by William Lestard, of about the same age. The young men had a personal difficulty the previous night. The cause of which is unknown. Yesterday a. m. the deceased leveled his gun at Lestard but the latter dodged and escaped without injury. Last night Lestard got the drop on Hoxie with a fatal result and is now in jail.

Jealousy Leads to Murder and Suicide

By Southern Telegraph Line. ELGIN, ILL, August 30.—A horrible murder and suicide occurred at 2:45 e'clock this morning at the Notting House. Edward F Joslyn, a widower, and the son of Col E S Joslyn, an honored citizen, shot and killed Etta Buckingham, a lady of pleasing address, but whose reputation was not of the best. Joslyn's wife died about five years ago and for the past year he has paid con-siderable attention to Miss Buckingham and of late he became exceeding! jealous of her and has treated her badly. He stole up to her room, shot her dead and then shot himself.

Mr. Devoy Issues an Address.

New York, August 30—This afternoon a copy of an address was issued by Jno Devoy to the Irish Nationalists of the United States. In it Mr Devoy seeks to exculpate himself from any responsibility in connection with the treachery and escape of Jas McDermott and his confederates. A review of this statement is made by Patrick O'Grady, in the form of an affidavit, and he proceeds from his own stand point to give the local application of McDermott's alleged treachery.

TWO MURDER CASES.

Joseph White and Edgar Miller Arraigned for the Murder of Wm. Worsham -- The Shield-Sitton Case Set for Next Thursday.

In the Superior court yesterday morning the case of Joseph White and Edgar Milier, two young men charged with the murder of Wm Worsham, in Lemley's township, last November, was called for trial. The following jury was empanelled to hear the case: Thos K Sammonds, Z W & Taylor, J M Cook, D L Elliott, J W Kirkpatrick, W B Taylor T M Carr, J W Cooper, W L Manson, U J Wingate, T R Magill, J J Sims. The prisoners are represented by Messrs Jones & Johnston and Bynum, and Solicitor Osborne is assisted on the part of the State by W C Maxwell. The examination of the witnesses was commenced in the forenoon and was concluded at sundown and this morning the counsel will address the jury. The case excited considerable interest and the court room was crowded all day. The opinion prevails generally that from the evidence adduced the defendants will be acquitted of the charge of murder, as their counsel will endeavor to show that Worsham came to his death by injuries received in a fall from his mule. The State takes the ground that Worsham was killed by a blow from a club in the hands of one of the parties. It is considered a hard case for the State. ## Gen. Clingman's Electric Light.

Gen Thos L Clingman, of Asheville, who has invented an electric light, has at last scored a victory over Edison and has been granted patents on his invention. He has secured patents on his light in the United States, France and Germany. Gen Clingman has been working on his light for a number of years past but on applying for a patent, was fought by Edison, who claimed that it was an infringement. Gen Clingman, however, had no idea of being bulldozed and fought it out until the coveted patent was granted him. Being now in possession of the proper documents from the patent office, Gen Clingman is ready to put his light on the market in opposition to Edison. He says that his electric light can be constructed one-third cheaper than Edison's and is equally as good. Gen Clingman is highly elated over his success. In answer to a question as to what he intended to do in the event he reaps a fortune from his patent, he said: "I intend to give the children of North Carolina better educational facilities. Their project has not assumed full shape and another meeting is to be held to perfect all arrangements. It is understood that their joint capital for investment in the enterprise amounts to the substantial the location of the paper, but it will be published in either Charlotte, Greensboro or Raleigh. Most likely the first named place will be selected. The new champion is welcome to the ring. These Democratic editors are almost starved, and the bigger the Liberal paper, the better the meal it will make.

Concord Items. Things are moving along quietly Concord these days, but the town is progressing and improving all the while. Two telegraph offices, both in charge of lady operators, furnish the citizens with ample facilities for communicating with the balance of the world, and her two fearless, watchful newspapers keep the people on their good behavior, at the same time serving them with news. There is considerable rivalry between the two telegraph companies. Miss Johnston, the Western Union operator, is the handsomest, but Miss Ormand, of the Southern company, having had the most experience, is said to be the best operator and thus they keep the scales of popularity about on a level. Some of the young men of the town have lately discovered that telegraphy is an exceedingly convenient and handy thing, and send their messages from one office and receive their answers though the other-Telegraphing is very popular over there

The latter is of course the more attractive, inasmuch as an easy plan of obtaining homes is offered to those who otherwise could not hope to purchase that class of property. We have been shown the semi-annual financial statement of the Mechanics' Perpetual Building and Loan Association, which is of a highly satisfactory character, and bears evidence to the fact that its affairs have been managed and directed by able and skillful hands. It is just now about entering upon its second series, having carried 1,000 shares during the past six months, and the prospect is very good for fully 1,000 shares additional for the incoming series. The books of subscription for the second series close to-morrow night. This association has loaned out about $6,500 during the past six months, and the net profit upon the stock has been 11 cents per share. In that ratio the dividend for the first year will be about 8 per cent upon the first series. The fact that this infant association can make such a good showing ought to attract a large number of subscribers.
