LOCAL RIFLES.

—The Carolina Central pay train came in yesterday.

—The newly commissioned postmaster at Qualatown, N. C., is named Sroop S. Euloe.

—The fund for the establishment of the home for disabled soldiers has now reached the sum of $2,165.

—The Knights have gone and the members of the Charlotte Commandery have donned their every day clothes again.

—The Brown Creek Baptist Association met at Matthews yesterday with a full attendance. Sunday will be a big day with them.

—A young man lost a ten dollar bill in the street near the old Baptist church night before last, and will pay a reward for its return to this office.

—Capt. W. B. Gooding, the city tax collector, has a patent for chopping out tax receipts, and all who have not paid their taxes should go to his office and see it work.

—O, my!

But don't the policemen look sly. In their two story hats And white cravats And long tailed, brass buttoned coats! My eye.

—Mr J. S. Phillips, the merchant tailor has moved into the room lately occupied by the Traders' National Bank. The room vacated by him in the Springs building, is now occupied by Major William Holt, the shoemaker.

—To-day, 12th, was the time set by Judge Gilmer for the hanging of Thos. L. Shields, who was convicted of the murder of Jos G. Sisson, but the case was appealed and will come up for a hearing in the Supreme court, in November.

—Mr W. F. Prather, while riding his bicycle yesterday morning in the square dashed into Sam's carriage horses and was brought to the dust. He was not much hurt, but his bicycle was broken up. The omnibus prevented him from seeing the horses until he was right on them.

—The most ponderous piece of avoirdupois ever run into the guard house here was pushed and prized into a cell night before last by policeman Irwin and his squad for carrying a gun in his pocket. It was white, weighed 300 pounds and was named J. W. McKensie.

—Col John Robinson, of Anson county, passed through the city yesterday evening on his return to his home, accompanied by his bride, nee Miss H. Adelle Coleman, of Newberry, S. C. The ceremony was performed in the Methodist church at Newberry, on the 10th inst., by Rev Mr Smart.

Personals.

G. H. Hope Charleston, S. C.; E. G. Spillburg, Haile Gold Mining Co., S. C.; are at the Buford.

Mr Jno W. Miller and wife have taken rooms at the Buford House.

Death of a Fireman.

Mr. Julius C. Pfifer, a young man of this city and a gallant fireman, died at his home on east 4th street yesterday morning, of consumption, after two years sickness. Mr. Pfifer was 27 years old and was popular with all of his acquaintances in the city. He was a member of the Hornet steam fire company and his remains will be buried with fireman's honors this afternoon. The funeral will be held from his late residence at 8 o'clock.

Hotel Drummers and 1000 Mile Tickets

The Atlanta & Charlotte Air Line Railroad company has attached additional restrictions to the use of the thousand mile tickets. The new issue of the tickets, in addition to the old agreements that must be accepted by the holder, contains this new item: "Parties purchasing this ticket agree not to drum for any hotel or boarding house while on the trains of this company." Passengers had been complaining that they were annoyed by hotel drummers, hence this new wrinkle of the ticket issuers.

Six Costly Bricks.

Mr E. G. Spillburg, superintendent of the Haile gold mine, was in the city yesterday, carrying $6,000 worth of gold in his hand. There were six bars in all and it was a beautiful sight. From the frequency of Mr Spillburg's visits to the city with gold, we would imagine that the Haile is doing good work. He brings five to six $1,000 bars from the mine every two weeks and makes the other gold miners envy him. We are told that well as the Haile is doing, there are three mines in the vicinity of Charlotte that are doing as well, if not better.

THE GREENVILLE FAIR.

A Speech by Gov. Z. B. Vance in which He Gives the South Carolinians a Mixture of Fear and Encouragement.

The fair now being held at Greenville, S. C., is said to be a splendid one, the best ever held at that place. The event of Wednesday was the speech of Gov. Vance. The Greenville News says: "Governor Vance began by alluding in a humorous way to the remarkable anomaly presented by farmers asking politicians to instruct them about farming, and warned his audience that they must expect more or less politics in his remarks. In the language of the mountain country where he was raised it would smell of the keg.

The peculiar civilization of our country was causing the development of some very dangerous tendencies, the worst of them probably being the vast accumulation of wealth in a few hands—great corporations, railroads, manufactures, banks and individuals. These co-operated with each other to influence legislation and control the affairs of the country in their own interest.

The Senator then stated the statistics of the various interests of the country—numbers of persons engaged in agriculture, manufactures and railroads, the number of capitalists, etc. Of all the people of the country nearly one half were engaged in agriculture, eight millions of the eighteen millions of people whose occupation was reported being farmers. Nearly as many people cultivated the soil as were engaged in all other work combined. But the profits of farming were less than those of any other business, and the capital engaged was greater than that of any other. The farmer was oppressed by the organization of all other interests and by hostile legislation. It was that legislation that piled taxes on the farmers without giving them any adequate return. It was that legislation that created high protective tariffs entirely for the benefit of manufactures and granted railroads charters, giving them unlimited powers to tax the producers and consumers. The farmers had the short end of the single-tree all the time. [Laughter.] It reminded him of the old Illinois Granger who went to the camp meeting and fell asleep after having discussed the railroad question freely. The minister was exhorting his hearers to choose between the straight and the crooked road, and the crooked road led to destruction, when the granger suddenly woke and shouted: "It don't make a d-d bit of difference which you take, mister; they'll consolidate or pool' inside of thirty days certain." [Laughter and cheers.]

Senator Vance talked an hour of solid, hard common sense, flavored with occasional dashes of the humor and quaint illustration for which he is so famous. His speech was devoted to urging the farmers to keep posted on the questions of the times and on all questions effecting themselves, and to act promptly and in union for their own protection and to secure for themselves the consideration and encouragement that the importance of their work and the multitude of their numbers entitled them to.

The Day of Atonement.

With the appearance of the first star last night concluded one of the most sacred festivals of the Jewish people, the Day of Atonement. It is fixed by the Mosaic ordinance on the tenth day of the Hebrew month Tishri. The preceding ten days are termed "Penitential Days," being devoted to penitence and prayer, and culminating in the solemnities of the great fast day, consecrated to two important principles, the weakness and power of man, the proneness to sin to which he is subject through himself, and his loftier nature through which he is enabled to arrive at the knowledge of his weakness and frailties, and by that power free himself from the yoke of sin. The means adopted to secure this purpose are total abstinence from worldly occupations and enjoyments on the one hand, and on the other increased devotional exercises and sincere repentance for past misdeeds. Every Jewish male and female above the age of 13 years rigidly observes the fast and abstains from partaking of food or water for twenty-four hours. The synagogues are always crowded with devout worshippers from early morn to sunset, who recite aloud the solemn confessions of the Ritual and unite in chanting the soul-stirring prophecies of Jeremiah and the glowing verses of David.

Our Captured Indian.

Pony Horn, the Indian who was arrested for being drunk last Saturday, did not have enough change to pay up his fine and was sent to the rock pile to work it out. He has since been hampering the city like a good Indian. Yesterday a telegram was received from Rock Hill, S. C., by Chief of Police Harrison enquiring about Pony Horn. It seems our captured savage is one of a tribe of Catawba Indians, located near Rock Hill, and the loneliness which his wigwam becoming painful, his white friends sent a telegram asking about him. Pony is in good hands here in Charlotte and as he works well, he will soon gain his liberty and be restored to his sorrowing paps and squawpooses. Unlike Logan, Pony has somebody to mourn for him.

The reputation of a water meter in the region of the city is such that the collection of "spillage" of domestic water in the city of Charlotte is a matter of some importance. It is a matter which should be promptly remedied. Dr. Bull's snake remedy is a sure and effectual remedy for all snake bites, and is a sure cure for all snake bites.

A Sad Death.

Mr M. A. Hudson, an estimable young man who was for a short time a citizen of Monroe, died at the residence of his mother, eight miles west of Monroe, on Wednesday night, aged about 28 years. His disease was consumption, brought on by exposure nearly twelve months ago resulting in a deep cold which finally settled on his lungs and from that time his decline was rapid. About two years ago he was happily married to Miss Ella, an accomplished and lovely daughter of S. B. Howard, Esq., who with one child and a host of kindred and friends mourn his early demise. His remains will be interred at Providence church this morning, where no doubt a large congregation will attend the burial of this popular young man. He was a member of the Golden Rule Insurance Society, where he had an insurance of three thousand dollars for the benefit of his family.

Charlotte Female Institute at the State Fair.

Mr Atkinson, Principal of Charlotte Female Institute, sends down to-day to the State fair at Raleigh a car load of drawings, paintings and decorative articles, the works of his pupils for the past two or three years. The exhibit he will make at the State fair will be the choicest works of art which have graced the annual exhibits at the commencements of the Charlotte Institute, which exhibits have been greatly admired by our citizens. He has sent down the two decorated mantels which attracted so much attention at the last two annual exhibits here. We congratulate Raleigh and the visitors to the fair upon this opportunity of seeing such an exhibit as they have never seen before, and of finding out something about the schools in this part of our State.

The Grand Commandery Adjourned.

The annual meeting of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, of North Carolina, which has been in session in this city since last Tuesday, adjourned yesterday morning. The morning session of the body was a short one. A resolution of thanks was tendered to Past Grand Commander H. H. Munson, for his able and efficient manner of presiding over the body. The report of the committee on returns of the subordinate commanderies was received. After passing resolutions of thanks to the Charlotte Commandery for their generous entertainment, and to the railroads for courtesies, the Grand Commandery adjourned to meet in Raleigh next October. All the visiting Knights left the city on outgoing trains last night. They made a good impression upon our people, all of whom would be glad to welcome them back again.

A Knotty Question.

Some weeks ago our city received a visit from a dancing school master by name of Prof Knott. The object of Prof Knott's visit here was to establish a dancing school in the "Cradle of Liberty," as our city is known to posterity, and after a good deal of canvassing around he succeeded in establishing a pretty fair school. He also succeeded in collecting the cash from the parents of his pupils, and it has come to pass that he has succeeded in retiring to some hole and pulling the hole in after him, so suddenly and completely has he lost himself to his patrons and friends in Charlotte. The dancing school had become well under way, and the pupils were just beginning to learn the initial mysteries of the Boston glide and Saratoga whirligig, when an end came to it all by the failure of the Professor to appear in the dancing school room. Tax Collector Gooding failed to flush the Professor about town anywhere, and his pupils have listened in vain for some news of him. One citizen sent three children to the Professor, paying him in advance for their tuition. They got four lessons. The question is, if Prof Knott is not a swindler, what is Knott, and why is Knott not? If he is Knott, he is guilty of very knotty conduct, which our people do not understand.

The Monroe Light Infantry.

The military company of Monroe was inspected by Col Cameron, Inspector General, on last Wednesday and was highly complimented by that gentleman on account of its fine personal appearance and the progress it has made in mastering the tactics. The ladies of the town held a festival during two days and nights of the present week, which was liberally patronized by the citizens and court visitors and the sum of $225 was netted for the benefit of the company.

Attempted Incendiarism.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered under a kitchen in the yard now occupied by J. J. Gallman, on Tryon between 5th and 6th streets. The fire had been kindled by rich pine wood and was leaping into a brisk flame when discovered by a negro girl, Minnie Hoskins, almost immediately over it. It was extinguished without alarm. It was evidently the work of an incendiary, and the matter was put into the hands of the police. Suspicion pointed to two negro women, Jennie Taylor and Fannie Springs, who were arrested, but a preliminary hearing of the case yesterday afternoon resulted in their discharge.

Removal of the Confederate Dead.

The work of removing the Confederate dead from Arlington cemetery, in Washington City, to Raleigh, will be commenced next Monday. A letter to the News and Observer from Mrs C. W. Harris says that the following gentlemen will escort the remains to the steamer at Alexandria: Capt F. H. Trembly, (of Gen D. H. Hill's Staff and son of Secretary Trembly); Col Christmas, (of Gen Ransom's staff); Maj Woodbury Wheeler; Col John A. Sloan; Col Robt H. Jenkins, (of Beauregard's staff); Mr C. W. Harris, 30th N. C. T.; Gen W. H. F. Lee (son of Robert E. Lee); Gen Fitzhugh Lee.

The funds for the consummation of this noble work were secured through the personal solicitation of the Ladies Memorial Association, of Raleigh. The subscription list opened by them through Gov Vance in Charlotte has been filled as follows: Z. B. Vance, $5; H. C. Eccles, $5; A. Northern Man, $1; Chas. R. Jones, $1; Gen R. Barringer, $1; J. W. Wadsworth, $1; Dr. R. Gibbon, $5; Cash $1; S. P. Alexander, $3; J. H. Carson $2; Col Frank Cox, $25.

Monroe Court.

The Stevens-Ringstaff Clayburn homicide case was taken up on Wednesday morning and a jury was obtained by the noon adjournment. The afternoon of that day was spent in the examination of Drs Ramsay and Montgomery who had attended Clayburn after he was wounded; the latter was also one of those who witnessed the affray which made him one of the most important of the State's witnesses. Yesterday morning the examination of the witnesses for the prosecution was continued until 10 o'clock when the State temporarily rested its case. The examination of the witnesses for the defense was then begun and continued until the noon adjournment, when our informant left. It was thought that all the evidence would be in by the adjournment last night and the arguments made to-day and doubtless we will be able to give our readers the verdict in to-morrow's paper. This case has been on the Docket for the past two years and on account of the social standing of both parties, as well as fair financial ability is attracting considerable interest. A strong array of counsel has been employed on both sides and some of the most able speeches that have ever been made in Monroe are looked for. The prosecution is conducted by Messrs Payne & Vann and Maj W. J. Montgomery, and the defense is represented by Messrs Covington & Adams, Col H. C. Jones and Hon. R. T. Bennett. Solicitor F. I. Osborne, having been employed by the defense before his election as Solicitor, is not taking any part in the case at all.
