POETRY.

-" It is the gift of Poetry, to hallow every place in which it moves; to breath round Nature an odor more exquisite than the perfume of the rose, and to shed over it a tint more magical than the blush of morning."

THE DAY IS DONE. a will what BY H. W. LONGPELLOW.

The day is done and the darkness Falls from the wing of night, As a feather is wafted downward

From an eagle in his flight. I see the lights of the village Gleam through the rain and the mist. And a feeling of sadness comes o'er me. That my soul cannot resist.

A feeling of sadness and longing. That is not akin to pain, And resembles sorrow only. As the mist resembles the rain.

Come read to me some poem, Some simple and heartfelt lav. That shall soothe this restless feeling, And banish the thoughts of day.

Not from the grand old masters, Not from the bards sublime, Whose distant footsteps echo Through the corridors of time.

For like the strains of martial music. Their mighty thoughts suggest. Life's endless toil and endeavor, And to-night I long for rest.

Read from some humbler poet Whose songs gush from his heart As showers from the clouds of summer. Or tears from the eyelids start.

Who through long days of labor, And nights devoid of ease. Still heard in his soul of music, Of wondrous melodies.

Such songs have power to quiet The restless pulse of care. And come like the benediction That follows after prayer.

Then read from the treasured volume The poem of thy choice, And lend to the rhyme of the poet The beauty of thy voice.

And the night shall be filled with music. And the ca es that Lifest the day Shall fold their tents, like the Arabs, And as silently steal away.
