POETRY.

"It is the gift of Poetry to hallow
every place in which it moves; to breath round Nature an odor more exquisite than the perfume of the rose, and to shed over it a tint more magical than the blush of morning."

"Love thy Neighbor."

BY RICHARD HENRY STODDARD.
"Love thy neighbor as thyself—
When at dawn I meet her,
As by the garden wall she stands,
And gives me flowers across the wall,
My heart goes out to kiss her hands—
Are hands or flowers the sweeter?
I'm ready at her feet to fall,
Or like a clown to labor,
Better than I love myself
Do I love my neighbor."
"Love thy neighbor as thyself—
When at dawn I meet him,
As by the garden wall he stands,
And takes my flowers across the wall,
My soul's already in his hands—
It flew so fast to greet him!
And oh, I grow so proud and tall,
And my heart beats like a laborer!
Better than I love myself
Do I love my neighbor."

VANITY.

The sun goes up and the sun goes down,
And the day and night are the same one,
The year grows green and the year grows
brown,
And what is it all, when all is done?
Grains of sabbath or shining sand,
Sliding into or out of the hand.

And men go down in ships to the sea,
And a hundred ships are the same as one;
And backward and forward blows the breeze,
And what is it all, when all is done?
A life with never a shore in sight,
Sitting steadily on to the night.

The fisherman droppeth his net in the stream,
And a hundred streams are the same as one;
And a maiden dreameth her love-lit dream,
And what is it all, when all is done?
The net of the fisher the breaker breaks,
And after dreaming the dreamer awakes.
