of Lovelights , trobbs

Go down to the meadow at break of day, Go down to the meadow, son John, And labor away 'mong the sweetest hay That ever the sun shone on."

And John went down to the meadow-land, But he saw not the clover sweet,
And the sky was dun, for he missed the sun,
Though it reddened his brow with heat. He missed the sun, and he missed the light.

And the world seemed apside down. Till he caught the sight of a smile so bright, And a linsey woolsey gown Till he caught the site of a go lden head,"

And a fair and merry face, When so bright and round with a sudden bound The sun went up in its place;

The sun went up and the light came down, And the field was all aglow, While his heart kept time to the merry rhyme Of the reaper's song below.

And Mary, she laughed at her lover's mood. As she turned from his fond caress, Though the south wind blew from her lips so true.

The sweet little answer, "Yes." Oh! wherefore so glad ?" said farmer Grey,

"Oh! wherefore so glad, son John? For the storm to day spoiled the sweetest That ever the sun shone on."

But John knew nothing of rain or flood, And nothing of ruined hay; For the flowers of joy to the farmer's boy, Were scattered along the way.

And merry the wedding bells rang out, And merry the pipers did play, At the golden dawn of the happy morn That ushered the marriage day.
