The Wagner Electric Manufacturing

Company, of St. Louis, has for some time past maintained an office in Atlanta, with Mr. A. H. Mustard as manager, from which point they have worked the South Atlantic territory. Mr. Mustard, hearing of Charlotte and its many advantages, came to see if what he had heard was true. The Greater Charlotte Club being notified, endeavor to see if this concern would not be persuaded that Charlotte is the right place for the company to operate from. A systematic plan was of Charlotte's hustling business men enlisted, and the result is that the Wagner Electric people awoke to the fact that Charlotte is the one real live spot on the map of the South Atlantic States.

After a conference of the heads of the house, the inevitable conclusion arrived at, was that Atlanta would not do-Charlotte is the only place. Word came to the office of the Greater Charlotte Club, announcing the decision of the Wagner Company to move to Charlotte, and then foltaken room No. 412 in the Trust Building, has had it fitted up with first-class fixtures, and has joined the Greater Charlotte Club.

. The 'phone number is 1039, and the business men are keeping it busy calling up Mr. Mustard and telling him they are glad he has come to Charlotte, and assuring him that he will find that he and his company ave made no mistake in coming here.

Mr. Lowery's father was a business man of Charlotte many years ago, and is remembered by many of the older citizens of the town. Mr. Lowery is now located in Denver and has met with success in his work in the West. He talks interestingly of the country to which he moved years ago and is delighted with his Western surroundings and the people of that great section. Finance Committee of County. The finance committee which has been working on the books of the county officials for several weeks is still engaged in auditing and checking up the books of the various county officials. The committe began its work on January 5th. Its task is now, however, about completed and as far as is known it has found everything in excellent shape and the books and accounts of the county properly and well kept.
