MUSICIANS COP SECOND CONTEST

Nice, Juicy Bunch of Hits Sandwiched by a Jucier Cluster of Errors Hands the Second Game to the Musicians in Its First Stages. Hornets Now Resting at the Bottom of the Percentage Column.

Spartanburg, S. C., May 4.—As a result of to-day's game Charlotte goes up a notch in the percentage column. The game was slow and devoid of features throughout.

Dingle, first to face Ellnor, walked and was forced at second by Springs, who promptly stole the key-stone bag. Lanham singled, sending Springs to third. Beusse tied to the outfield and Springs flied. On a wild toss by Moreland, Lanham scored. Then Martin hit for four sacks. This was all until the third, when Baird doubled. Collins beat out a bunt and took second on Matney's wild throw. Baird counting in the same inning Dingle singled and on Ellnor's wild throw of Springs' bunt went to third and Springs to second. Lanham hit to third and Dingle was caught at the plate.

Ellnor, who pitched the game, was wild to the end. Beusse popped up and Martin singled, scoring Lanham. The Spartans added one more in the fourth and at this point Finn relieved Ellnor. TWINS SHUT OUT ELECTRICIANS

Heavy Slugging of the Winston Team Again Figures in the Result of the Contest.—Dent's Pitching the Bright Particular Feature.

Winston-Salem, May 4.—The Twins took the second in the series from Anderson to-day by a shut-out score of 3 to 0. In many respects it was a brilliant contest marked as it was by a homer that brought in two runs, and by the prettiest catch of the season in the outfield. Brent lined out the homer after Moran had hit safe. Fogarty gets credit for the catch in right when failure would have meant a run.

Dent was invincible from start to finish, allowing only four scattered hits. Waters did not show up as well as Lathrop. Both catchers did good work.

With Moran on second by a hit and a sacrifice in the third, Brent scored him with a home run to deep right. In the fourth Carter was safe at first on the pitcher's error and stole second. Redmond scored him with a hit. This ended the run getting.

WAIT FOR THE WEEDING OUT

Don't Begin the Anvil Chorus so Early in the Game When the Manager is Supposed to Know His Business.

Of course there is a certain sameness between all baseball players, whether they be in one of the big leagues or in one of the smaller leagues. This is suggested, not because it comes from a baseball cranium that pretends to be original at all, but because the dopest who is jotting it down has studied at least, to some extent, the records of the managers and the players in the Big Leagues as compared with the Hornets, Musicians, et al.

To make it plain, there is in certain local quarters considerable comment and criticism as to the management (since Charlotte hasn't won a game since last Friday) of the Hornets. The extreme fans, and the extreme fans are very often very sensible, say that the management is showing partiality for certain players. Let us grant that this is true, but let us be likewise as liberal in granting that the manager in charge of the destinies of the Hornets during the present season has done some good work.

It's folly to talk about a manager who does nothing more than warm the bench during the entire season. The best manager is he who can not only keep the bench so warm that his players are glad to sit still while the other side is in the field, but also one who can direct each man what to do when he goes to the bat.

Here is the comparison between the smaller and the larger leagues, remembering all the time that there is a certain sort of sameness between the two, the figures being for last year: American League. Managers not in regular games last season: Detroit, Jennings; Philadelphia Athletics, Connie Mack; Washington, Joe Cantillon; New York, Stallings; St. Louis, James McAleer; Boston, Ritzler; Lake.

Managers who played the game in the American League: Cleveland, Napoleon Lajoie; Chicago, Jones. Managers not in the regular games during last season: New York, John J. McGraw; Philadelphia, V. J. Murray; Boston, Joe Kelly; Brooklyn, P. J. Donovan; St. Louis, J. J. McCloskey.

Managers who played the game in the National League: Frank Chance; Pittsburgh, Fred Clarke; Cincinnati, John Ganzel. These figures, if you will study them closely, have two tales to tell. For instance, Frank Chance, who managed the Cubs last season, was in the game for his team, while Hugh Jennings, for the Detroit Tigers, the champions for two seasons of the American League, confined himself to the bench and the coach line.

Now all of this, scrambling back from the long shot we have taken to Detroit and Philadelphia via Royston, Ga., and Greenville, S. C., to Charlotte, where nestle the Hornets, is meant to be encouraging, because the weeding-out process is yet to take place. First in time expires, however, there ought not to be any excuses offered by the fans if Charlotte has a losing team—and this is not to imply a pennant-winning team. Who is responsible but the manager and who realizes his responsibility better than he? If he has a winning team his will be the praise; if he has a team that loses ridiculously, his fault it will be.

It makes no difference to the sensible fan whether the manager plays or not, so long as he decides upon the material whom he can direct without friction. In which to make the proper selections. Although the team is now in the cellar, the loyal fans, and there are a few not yet dead, believe that he will be in a position to cope with the other aggregations in the league before the "regulation" number is decided upon.

It's up to Manager Collins, as it is with Connie Stouch, Pop McKeivitt, Kelly, Beusse, and Bob Carter. If Manager Collins falls down, and those who know him believe that he will not, the Charlotte fans won't be to blame.

TRINITY AGAIN WINNER. Methodists Administer the Second Defeat to Central University—Webber Pitches Good Game.

Durham, May 4.—Trinity College took the second game from the Central University team here this afternoon, shutting it out by a score of 4 to 0. Worley was in the box for the local team. He pitched a good game throughout and yielded only three scattered hits which amounted to nothing. Webber, for the visitors, was hit freely by the local team at times. He pitched a fairly good game, however. The game was not as snappy as the one yesterday. From the quality of the game yesterday local fans had expected a very fast game, but it was short of their expectations in many ways. Score by innings: 000 000 000-0 3 Trinity 400 000 000-4 7 3 Batteries: Webber and Davant; Worley and Flowers.

Diamond Dust.

Aint it funny that the grandfathers and the babies are now rocking in the same cradle?

After all, what is a good manager, but one who, though he plays hot at all, sits on the bench and tells his men what to do.

If Father Beusse were on the Greensboro team we would vote right now to have this league spliced off into only four teams.

If you care to determine how the games will end just consult Mack, the fruit stand boy, under Jordan's, on East Trade street. But don't ask Mack how the game yesterday came out.

No extra men can be carried after Saturday of this week, the weeding-out process expiring on the Monday following. Now is the time for all good managers to come to the aid of his team.

Charlotte is not discouraged at all over the two defeats in Winston of the Electricians. Don't you remember the Charlie that defeated the Hornets twice and Anderson did the very same thing to Charlotte.

We are not knocking at all, but really we are glad that the Carolina Association is not composed of more than six teams. As the little boy said in the bar story, just "suposin' there was eight?" Could you tell then where Charlotte would be?

To Spartanburg et al: We can't deny that you are looking down on us, but we want to warn you right here and now that the cellar door has been left open. You will recall that we shut the door behind us after a certain stage in the game last season.

The expansion of Spartanburg's nostrils, upon getting out of the cellar into the open air, must be almost like a fellow who has been asphyxiated. The Hornets, you remember, swallowed gas almost the entire season last year.

If the fans generally, and the fans, you know, support a team, say that the manager ought to be held responsible for every player in his aggregation let's not knock until the manager proves capable of managing things. Let him be the judge of the weeding out process. If he's wrong, then knock.

People in their first and second childhood have to be petted. We are willing to make a wager right at this present moment that Winston and Greensboro can be led to believe that both teams can win the pennant. For proof of this tell the Twins that their fathers chewed tobacco (as the Twins now do) even before they were born, and then let the Patriots know (or rather make them believe in their despectitude) that their brothers fought in the war of 1812 and the last one of them (Pop McKeivitt and all) will begin to swear and dye their hair.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 4.—Boston and Brooklyn broke even in their double-header of the season here to-day. The first game was a free hitting affair with four pitchers working. Scanlon had Boston at his mercy all the way in the second game.

Score: Boston 000 000 000-0 3 4 Brooklyn 000 000 003-6 3 4 Batteries: Chappell, Wits and Smith; Hunter, Rucker and Bergen. Time 2:03. Umpires, Johnstone and Cusack.

CHICAGO, MAY 4.—For 10 innings to-day neither team could do much of anything against the great pitching of Brown, of Chicago, and Pittsburgh's latest find, Adams. The visitors, however, bunched four singles in the eleventh, defeating Chicago 1 to 0.

Score: R. H. E. Chicago 000 000 000-0 6 3 Pittsburgh 000 000 001-1 3 3 Batteries: Brown and Morgan; Adams and Gibson. Time 1:57. Umpires, Emslie and O'Day.

PHILADELPHIA, MAY 4.—Philadelphia made it three straight over New York by winning to-day's game by 5 to 2. Moren was effective and he was given brilliant support. Mathewson weakened in the fifth and sixth innings when he was hit safely four times and gave four passes. He was succeeded by Raymond in the seventh.
