Knetzer was hit on the top of the head by a line drive by Luderus in the fourth inning. The ball bounced twenty feet in the air. It was thought the pitcher's skull was fractured, but he soon recovered and pitched better than before.

A tenth-inning rally, in which they scored three runs in one of the most exciting games witnessed here this season, the Boston Rustlers split even with the Giants in the Labor Day double attraction.

Marquard pitched invincible ball for seven innings, and with a lead of five runs crumbled to pieces in the eighth when the Rustlers tied the score. With three men on the bases Miller drove in the two tying runs with a double, but Donlin was thrown out, when he, too, tried to score on O'Toole. A remarkable catch by Devore saved the game for Marquard in the ninth but Boston's renewed bombardment in the tenth for five hits netted three runs. TOOK WINGO FOR O'TOOLE. Former Catcher of the Spinners Favors the Famous Twirler of the Pirates.

Steve Evans is always on a live one, says W. J. O'Connor, a correspondent with the St. Louis Nationals. The last day in Pittsburg about 7,000 fans hid themselves to the ball yard to see Marty O'Toole. Incidentally they went out to see the Cardinals and Pirates play. Anyway, it rained, and they were doubly disappointed, as O'Toole didn't even warm up. Coming back on the car, which was crowded, everybody was talking about O'Toole.

Steve Evans hopped on and found Ivy Wingo standing in about the middle of the car. Ivy has red hair and looks a great deal like O'Toole. This was Steve's cue. He braced Ivy with extended mitt, and speled in a stage whisper: "Hello, Marty. How do you like Pittsburg?" The crowd ate it up. One public-spirited citizen introduced himself to Wingo, rather O'Toole, and invited him (Wingo) to call around for lunch the following day. Then Steve asked Wingo about his great pitching feat in St. Paul; and in the meantime many passengers rode past their intended destination.
