SIMMONS AT DURHAM.

The Other Side of His Speech in the Bull City.

Durham, Oct. 14 .- On Friday night, October 11, Senator F. M. Simmons addressed an audience of more than 2,000 men at the Academy of Music in Durham. He was introduced by Mr. John W. Umstead, a prominent prolonged applause from the aud-ience of 600 people which heard Chief Justice Walter Clark here Frimagnificent speech. He made no apologies for his record as a Senator, but stated emphatically in the begin. said that he had not heard his two

. His votes on the tariff and reciproc ity, which he was requested by many to speak on, were the chief topics of his address. His explanation of these clearly met the approval of his great audience, the same as they did the State Democratic Executive Com-mittee which met in Raleigh. The farmer and the working man, whose cause he has ever championed in all his legislation were arrestly in and member of the Royal Academy of Belgium; Paul El-sen, of the Royal Geographical So-clety of Antwerp. Free from mud sl nging and the slightest criticism of either of the other candidates, as he called neither of their names, his called neither of their names, his speech was clean and powerful and enjoyed to the fullest by all who heard versity of Paris: Edouard Alfred Man

He paid a high tribute to Gen. Julian S. Carr, who occupied a front seat, which is always appreciated by a Durham audience for there is no man within the borders of this county more beloved and appreciated than is General Carr.

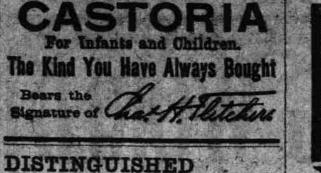

Durham County has had in it prob-ably more undecided voters than any county in the State. Many of these were awaiting the coming of Senator Simmons to hear his le of the story, which they thought had not fairly told. He made good, and they fell for hi mand great was the noise Ruhl, chief of the Oceanographical thereof for each climax he reached was applauded louler than the one before. His speech was a brilliant one and judging from the way it was received by this county, proved that the fifth district is no longer a hostile one to Senator Simmons.
