

Ladies' Souvenirs

500 Boxes of Candy to ladies visiting us on Thursday or Friday.

Everybody

Gets a "Stick To Us" Souvenir. They are cute.

The United Sales Company

Invite Ladies and Gentlemen to Their

Formal Opening--2 Days Thursday and Friday Nov. 7th and 8th

SODA

CIGARS

CANDY

Located in Independence Terminal

L. SMITH ACREE, MGR.

5. W. Trade St.

Men's Souvenirs

3,000 Cigars given the men visitors on Thursday or Friday, provided you present cards we have distributed.

Special

30 Soda Checks for $1.00 on Thursday or Friday.

Helena Morrill in "The Bohemian Girl."

AMUSEMENTS

"The Bohemian Girl." The Aborn Opera Company will offer at the Academy of Music what is conceded to be the most gigantic production of Balfe's perennial opera, "The Bohemian Girl," in English, that has ever been presented on the American stage.

"Excuse Me." Henry W. Savages production of Rupert Hughes' farce success "Excuse Me," which is at the Academy of Music, matinee and night, of next week, comes here directly from a season's run at the Gaiety theater in New York and three months in Chicago at the Studebaker theater, and the cast seen here will be the same as played those cities. George W. Day will be seen as the Pullman porter.

Needless Alarm. Woman's Home Companion. A nervous man took his wife to a party, and having laid aside his things waited for her to come downstairs from the dressing-room. The hostess saw him standing alone in the hall, and exclaimed excitedly: "Oh, Mr. Jenks! Hasn't your wife come, too?" "Dear me, madam!" screamed the nervous man. "Nobody told me she had fainted!" And he rushed upstairs before the hostess could explain.

A Belmont "notch" collar in white striped Madras. It's an

ARROW COLLAR

15c. 2 for 25c. Cluett, Peabody & Co.

ACADEMY

SCHLOSS THEATRE CIRCUIT Saturday, November 9th. Matinee and Night.

The Aborn Opera Company's Stupendous Spectacular production of Balfe's

THE BOHEMIAN GIRL

With a cast of notable soloists. Full Grand Opera Orchestra Ensemble and Chorus. Company of 100. Two Carloads of Scenery. Troupe of Arabs. Eight Horses. Seats on sale today at Hawley's.

PRICES: Matinee... $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c Night $2.00, $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c

OFFICE CHANGE OF ROWAN CONCERN

Juniors Holding Big Rally--Former Salisbury Home From the West On a Visit.

(Special to The Chronicle.)

SALISBURY, Nov. 7.—The sales department of the Leland Company, South, the large granite finishing company of this city has been transferred from Salisbury to the New York office of the company, 303 Fifth avenue. This move does not mean that Salisbury is losing an industry by any means, but instead it means that one of her large plants is to do a bigger business. A short while ago the company found it necessary to increase the capital stock 100 per cent on account of the volume of business. Mr. E. S. Sampson, sales manager with two assistants will go to the New York headquarters. Mr. John Harwood, formerly with Claxton & Co., has recently come to Salisbury and will have charge of the office at the plant.

The Salisbury council of Juniors held a big rally Tuesday night. The Junior hall was well filled with the members and their friends. Some good speeches were made, refreshments being served and there was good music.

J. S. Shuping, a former Salisbury citizen, who has been railroaded in the West for several months, is at home for awhile. He is carrying his left arm in a sling, the result of breaking a bone recently.

Mr. W. T. Rainey, clerk of the city board of aldermen, was painfully injured while walking on a scaffold at a new house which he is having built on South Church street, in some way falling from it. He is confined to his home but is getting along nicely.

One of the leading social events of the Fall was the wedding of Miss Janet Crump of this city and Dr. Eugene Price Gray of Winston-Salem, which took place in this city last evening at 6:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Byron Clark, pastor of that church, performed the ceremony. Miss Bertha Knox played the wedding march, and Mr. Francis Griffith sang. Mrs. James M. McCorkle attended the bride as dame of honor, while little Miss Elizabeth McCorkle was the flower girl. Mr. Wilson Gray of Winston-Salem, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Eugene E. Gray, Jr., Walter Crump, James A. Gray, Thomas Barber, Jack Glenn and Julian McKenzie. Following the marriage, a reception was given at the home of the bride's father, Dr. W. L. Crump.

ALBEMARLE WOMAN IS BURNED TO DEATH

(Special to The Chronicle.)

ALBEMARLE, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Josephine Crowell was burned to death Tuesday while sitting before the fire at her home in East Albemarle. No one was in the room with her when her clothing caught fire, but her screams brought assistance, but too late to save her life. She was, or had been, reading her Bible and is supposed to have fallen off to sleep when fire caught her clothing. Mrs. Crowell was about 50 years of age. She was the widow of the late Robert Crowell and leaves several children. Her body will be buried at Stony Hill Cemetery tomorrow. Her pastor, Rev. P. W. Tucker, pastor of Stony Hill Church, will conduct the funeral services. This is the second woman to be burned to death in Albemarle during the past few days. Mrs. James Sibley having been burned only 10 days ago.

PRICE OF DIAMONDS SEEKS NEW LEVEL

(Washington Post.)

Diamonds continue to soar higher in price, and the tendency doubtless will persist until the high mark—"the most the trade will stand"—has been reached. Last year the average price of diamonds in the rough rose from $7.18 to $8.89 per carat. The total output of the South African fields was $38,150,420 for the year, making $777,600,000 since diamond mining became an industry. Their original value was greatly enhanced by the cutting process and the profits of the middlemen, but statistics as to the price paid by the final purchaser are not available.

The new price level at the mines was owing, like previous advances, to restricted production. The diamond monopoly, probably the closest corporation in the world, controls the supply absolutely and fixes the price arbitrarily. If competition existed there would be a slump in values, well calculated to put the sparklers on a basis within the reach of all. Working the mines to their full capacity soon would glut the market, for at present, only a few of the most productive diggings are being worked.

A Question of Grammar. (W. T. W. in Savannah News.) If the past tense of sink is not sinked, but is sank. Then the past tense of wink is not winked, but it's wank. But if the past tense of think is not thank, but is thought. Then the past tense of wink is not wank, but is wought.

GERMAN SCHOOL LIFE INTERESTING

Not the least interesting part of "German Memories" (Scribner's), by Sidney Whitney, the English journalist and writer, is that describing school days in a German gymnasium, which contains an account of this interesting custom:

"By far the most pleasing feature of the school probably due to the teaching of Pestalozzi, were the Whitsuntide and summer walking hours, undertaken by the boys in charge of the masters. At Whitsuntide these jaunts lasted about ten days, and in the summer between three and four weeks, when the itinerary was extended as far as Switzerland and even into northern Italy, and all this at an incredibly small cost. I can recall a trip lasting ten days, the amount debited to the account of each pupil scarcely exceeding 2 pounds. These tours were looked forward to with delight and discussed by the boys for weeks, even months, ahead. When the day came and leather knapsacks were distributed all round, and we started for the railway station, it was a scene of great excitement. "As we trudged along the road on a fine spring morning one of the masters would produce a book of German student songs and with a tuning fork lead the singing, in which all joined with effect, as the training of the voice as well as gymnastics, dancing and fencing, belonged to the regular school curriculum. The masters in charge were usually well versed in geography, geology, mineralogy, botany and other natural sciences and drew the boys' attention to such facts as would be likely to quicken their interest or increase their knowledge. The varied and attractive nature of the Saxon scenery, forest-clad hills and valleys with rushing streams, lent itself admirably to such a purpose. The journey was mapped out to touch as many points of interest as possible on the route chosen. Thus in passing Bautzen, the victory of Napoleon in 1813 became the theme of interest and instruction; at Hortschirk, the defeat of Frederick the Great.

Her First Pic.

(Abbie C. Dixon, in Lippincott's.)

"Well, well," he exclaimed, as he tackled her first meat pie, "where did you get this?" "I made that out of Mrs. Shorter's cook-book," replied the young wife. "It's a—"

AUSTRIAN RABBITS ARE ENTERPRISEFUL CREATURES

(New York Telegram.)

About 45 years ago three pairs of enterprising rabbits were introduced into Australia. Today the increase of these six immigrants may be counted by millions. They became a pest to the country. For tunes have been spent to exterminate them. Wire fences many feet high and thousands of miles long have been built to keep out the invaders. The rabbits had to fight awful odds to live, but they have now outwitted man. They have developed a new nail—a long nail by which they can retain their hold on the fence while climbing. With this same nail they can burrow six or eight inches under the netting, and thus enter the fields that mean food and life to them. They are now laughing at man. Reserve power has vitalized for these rabbits latent possibilities, because they did not tamely accept their condition, but in their struggle to live learned how to live.

Pointed Paragraphs.

(Chicago News.) The police often get those who help themselves. Love doesn't laugh at the smith who repairs automobiles. Too often after a man has done his duty it refuses to stay done. The man who is too lazy to work is always seeking a public office. A girl believes that any chap who proposes to her is a hero—and he is. It's a pity that courtship isn't a training school for trials that come after.

Boy Scout Trick.

(The Christian Herald.)

Did you know that four boys can sit down together quite comfortably with apparently nothing to sit upon? The trick is an easy one. Try it. Stand up in the form of a right angle cross with right elbows touching and each boy's back at right angles to the boy behind. Count three and let everybody sit down, exactly as though he was about to sit on a chair; when each boy will discover himself quite comfortably on the knee of the boy behind him. This is always very funny and nice, and invariably ends in a big laugh.

Benjamin Franklin said—"A penny saved is two-pence earned,"—and yet some people continue to pay 25 to 45 cents for others, when 20 cents per pound will buy the purest, most wholesome and highest of the high grade Baking Powders, made at any cost. Sold by all good Grocers. Insist on having it.

All Arguments Are In; The Case Has Gone To The Jury!

By "Bud" Fisher

