The Make-good Tobacco

Whether you smoke it in a jimmy pipe or as a cigarette.

Take it from any angle, Prince Albert simply measures right up to every idea of what a smoke should be. Pack in your old jimmy and it opens up a new delight in pipe smoking. Roll up a cigarette and you have the finest paper-coated smoke ever compounded. Burns evenly, with none of that die-out-between-whiffs habit. And doesn't burn up in flash like dried-out, chaff-brand tobaccos. P. A. is long burning and it's handy for cigarette smokers because it is easily handled on a windy day.

Now, Mr. Man—you who think you can't smoke a pipe—give P. A. the third degree in YOUR jimmy pipe. You'll find all its promises right in bloom.

Put this on ice: Prince Albert won't bite your tongue. The sting is taken out by the patent process that we spent three years and a fortune to perfect.

All live tobacco shops, in tidy red 10 cent tins, tippy red 5 cent cloth bags, half-pound and pound tin humidors with moisture pads in top and pound glass humidors with a sponge in the lid.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY

could be hunched up during the night, and he consented. Work started on this a short while ago.

The girls who live some distance from the mills and who have to pass through a portion of the town where they would want to make a neat appearance realize the benefit of the long aprons that protect their dresses while they are at work. After the day's work is done they can take off the apron and have a clean dress and the cap has protected the hair from lint and it looks almost as fresh as when they left the dressing table in the morning. With these two helps the girls can pass from the mills in the afternoon and not feel abashed at their appearance.

PROGRESSIVE ITEMS

(From Mill News.)
ROCK HILL, S. C.—Hamilton-Carhart Cotton Mills have contracted for a complete and modern plumbing system in the mill.

HOPE MILL—The Hope Mills Manufacturing Company, it is expected, will soon have all machinery in operation.

KANNAPOLIS—The new mill being built at this place by the Cannon Manufacturing Company is being finished up on the inside and it is expected that the machinery will be installed at an early date.

HENDERSON—The new cotton mill in South Henderson, which will be known as Harriet Mill No. 3, is nearing completion and is now lacking only the finishing touches. The machinery for the new mill is expected to arrive about the first of next month and will be installed as rapidly as possible. It will employ at least 100 operatives and is expected to begin operation about the first of next year. The machinery will all be driven by electric power. The new machinery recently purchased for the big Henderson Cotton Mill at North Henderson will also be installed during the coming month, and this, too, will be driven by electric power.

MARION—The new engine for the Marion Manufacturing Company from the Allis-Chalmers Company has arrived and is being erected by Mr. Adams of Chicago. The engine is of the latest Corliss type, 22x42 high pressure compounded with a low pressure cylinder which is 48 inches in diameter by 42-inch stroke, capable of developing 1,500 horsepower. The engine is supplied with steam from four large boilers made by the Lombard Iron Works of Augusta, Ga. This combination will make an up-to-date steam power plant to furnish power for the old mill and the large addition which this company is now completing. The new power plant will be ready for operation between the 1st and 10th of December of this year. W. M. Clay is the master mechanic in charge of the power plant and shop which is also modern in every way. Bryson & Webber, contractors, are building new cottages on the northern side of the village and expect to have a number completed at an early date. The company has just completed and turned over to it employes a nice church building, a school building and lodge and amusement hall, all of which are comfortable and convenient.

IF I SHOULD DIE TONIGHT.
If I should die tonight,
My friends would look upon my quiet face.
Before they laid it in its resting place,
And deem that death had left it almost fair;
And laying snow-white flowers against my hair,
Would smooth it down with tearful tenderness
And fold my hands with lingering care.
Poor hands, so empty and so cold tonight!
If I should die tonight,
My friends would call to mind with loving thought
Some kindly deeds the icy hands had wrought.
Some gentle word the frozen lips had said,
Errands on which the willing feet had sped;
The memory of my selfishness and pride
My hasty words would all be put aside,
And so I would be loved and mourned tonight.

IF I SHOULD DIE TONIGHT.
If I should die tonight,
E'en hearts estranged would turn once more to me,
Recalling other days remorsefully.
The eyes that chill me with averted glance
Would look upon me as of yore, perhaps, and soften in the old familiar way.
For who could war with dumb, unconscious clay?
So I might rest forgiven of all tonight.
Oh, friends, I pray tonight,
Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow;
The way is lonely, let me feel them now.
Think kindly of me, I am travel-worn;
My faltering feet are pierced with many a thorn.
Forgive, oh hearts estranged, forgive, I pray,
When dreamless rest is mine I shall not need.
The tenderness for which I long tonight.
—ALICE CARY.

Ban on Pipe Lifted.
Springfield Republican.
The grievance which pip-smoking tourists have long entertained against the customs is to be amended by the Treasury Department. Assistant Secretary Curtis has given orders that travelers may bring in, duty free, 2 pounds of smoking tobacco, as an equivalent for the 500 cigars or 300 cigarettes which are allowed by court-Smokers who come home by way of England are likely to take full permission of the concession, for it is generally agreed that the English tobacco make one grade that can not be equaled in this country.

CAP FOR GIRLS.

The following extract of letter from a number of girls who earn their living in a mill is taken from "The Woman's Department," in The Mill News:

"As to caps for mill workers I have for months made my daughter (who is a spinner) caps; cut a circular piece of calico 34 inches in diameter, hem edge, and stitch a bias piece 1 1/2 inches from edge; run a piece of ribbon through and tie a bow. I also make her aprons long with elbow sleeves. She slips off cap and apron and, behold a nice clean girl goes to and from work.

"I am delighted with this department for its the home where refinement can be taught, which will cause 'factory girls'—as all mill girls are called, to be respected."—Home Body.

NEW MILL SCHOOL.

The Wiscasset Mill and Efrid Manufacturing Company of Albemarle have given contracts for the erection of a handsome two-story brick school building. It will be erected about three blocks from the heart of the town, and will be for the benefit of the children of the employes of the two corporations. The building will be entirely modern in equipments. It will contain 10 large class rooms and an office and library and will be equal to any graded school in the State of the same size town. The building will be completed by the first of January in time for the spring term of 1913.

A Vacation Warning.

Bishop Berry of Buffalo, at a luncheon at Ocean Grove, condemned the young man who takes a vacation that is beyond his means. "There is more pain than pleasure, anyway," he said, "in living beyond one's means. A young Buffalo book-keeper, on a recent visit to New York, thought to impress his New York friends by putting up at the Ritz-Carlton. Of course, he couldn't afford so fashionable a hotel, and he had to economize in various ways to make ends meet. "He happened, on one occasion, to be taking his evening meal on a bench in the park, when a young man and his sister, friends of his, passed in an automobile. "The Buffalo youth bent his head over his sandwich, but the New Yorker saw him and shouted: "Hello, George! Dining out again, gay dog, eh?"

The Only Way.

An elder who baptizing converts at arrival meetings, advanced with a wiry, sharp-eyed old chap into the water. He asked the usual question, whether there was any reason why the ordinance of baptism should not be administered. After a pause a powerful-looking, tall man who was looking quietly on, remarked: "Elder, I believe I don't want to interfere in your business, but I want to say that this is an old sinner who has got hold of, and that one dip won't do him any good; you'll have to anchor him out in deep water over night."

FLINT.

(Special to The Chronicle.)
FLINT MILL GASTONIA, Nov. 9. The Flint Manufacturing Company is having erected several new residences in the village. These are built for the additional help which the mill has taken for both day work and night work. The people of the Flint Mill have as good water as there is to be found anywhere on account of the deep wells. Almost all of the wells that have been dug so far have been bored through solid rock. Mr. Martin Kincaid and Miss Anna Price were united in marriage last Monday, the ceremony being a very quiet one. The school at the Flint Mill is progressing very nicely with Miss Winifred McLean as teacher. At the opening there was a good enrollment, and the number is still increasing. Mr. W. F. Kincaid has accepted a position with the new Armstrong Mill as overseer of the spinning room and has moved his family there. Mr. Glenn Hooper succeeds Mr. Kincaid at the Flint Mill, and will occupy his house.

NEW DRESS FEATURE

Young Women of Trenton Mill Adopt Apron for Use While at Work. Since The Chronicle cap has been so favorably taken by the spinners and weavers, another movement toward neatness in everyday work is spreading among the ladies who work in the mills. When The Chronicle representative was interesting the girls at the Trenton mill at Gastonia, mention was made of another idea for a long apron that would cover the whole dress, sleeves and all, that should be worn by the spinners and weavers and especially the spoolers. Large pockets could be made for them in order that they might put waste thread in them when not near their waste sacks. This conversation was had with Miss Laura Moose of the Trenton mill and that lady immediately had a talk with some of the girls and did not wait for The Chronicle to start the movement at all, but now she has several of the girls wearing the long aprons while they work in the mill. Recently the girls asked the superintendent, Mr. Arthur Dixon, if he would build them a closet in the mill where they aprons and caps. Don't waste your money buying strengthening plasters. Chamberlain's Liniment is cheaper and better. Dampen a piece of flannel with it and rub it over the affected parts and it will relieve the pain and soreness. For sale by all dealers.
