

Geo. W. Day in the Henry W. Savage Pullman Farce "Excuse Me."

ter and meantime pretend to quarrel on account of their behavior to the other passengers who think they are bride and groom. A husband and wife each secretly going to Reno for divorce, travel on the same train, so does a cranky woman hater and the woman who made him hater by rejecting him years before. She is a missionary now and is quite willing to accept him. There is a country parson and his wife who for the first time in 20 years are free from the observation of his flock and eager for the time being to forget his cloth and the decorum it implies. There are other passengers who figure actively in the lively events of the journey, while the conductor, the Pullman porter and the newsboy heightens the humor of it all. The whole idea of the farce is excellent. It is novel too. The entire action is represented as taking place in the Pullman cars of the Overland Limited express train. The stage effects are strikingly realistic.

SALISBURY SOCIAL

(Special to The Chronicle.)

SALISBURY, Nov. 5.—A wedding of surpassing beauty took place in the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock when Miss Janet Crump became the bride of Dr. Eugene Price Gray of Winston-Salem.

The church was elaborately decorated for the occasion. Prior to the ceremony a beautiful musical program was rendered. Miss Bertha Knox presided at the organ and rendered several appropriate selections. Just before the bride party entered, Mr. Francis Griffith sang "O, Thou Sublime, Sweet Evening Star," from Tannhauser, and "O, Perfect Love."

As the notes of the wedding march from Lehengrin were sounded the bride party entered the church. First, the ushers, Messrs. Eugene E. Gray, Jr., Walter Crump, James A. Gray, Jr., Jack Glenn, Thomas Barber and Julian McKenzie came down the aisle and took their places in the chancel. They were followed by the little flower girl, Miss Elizabeth McCorkle. Following her and preceding the bride came the maid of honor, Mrs. James Marshall McCorkle. The bride entered with her father, Dr. W. L. Crump. She was a vision of loveliness in her wedding gown of white crepe meteor en train, elaborately embroidered in pearls and trimmed in handsome lace. Her long tulle veil was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The groom with his best man, Mr. Wilson Gray, entered from another side and met the bride at the altar, where Rev. Dr. Byron Clark performed the ceremony. The bridal party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Immediately after the ceremony, a beautiful and brilliant reception was given at the home of Doctor Crump, the guests were the members of the bridal party, relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom. After the reception, Doctor and Mrs. Gray left for a honeymoon trip to northern cities, after which they will be at home in Winston-Salem.

The bride is one of Salisbury's most beautiful and attractive young women. Doctor Gray is a prosperous and successful young physician of Winston-Salem. He was at one time connected with the Whitehead Stokes Sanatorium and has a host of friends in this city.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray, Jr., of Winston-Salem, Mrs. James E. Gray, Miss Alice Gray, Mrs. Robert M. McArthur and Messrs. Wilson Gray, James A. Gray, Jr., Jack Glenn and Thomas Barber of Winston-Salem; Mr. Walter Crump of Warrenton; Mrs. James Beall of Linwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Graham Robertson of Concord.

Mrs. A. H. Boyden was the hostess to the Salisbury Book Club Wednesday afternoon at her home on South Church street. The attractive home was made more beautiful by quantities of large white chrysanthemums, palms and ferns.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Tiernan, the vice president, Mrs. M. C. Quinn, presided over the meeting. Interesting items were given and an animated discussion of the books took place, notable features of the afternoon being an article by Gertrude Atherton which was read by Mrs. Boyden, and an article entitled "The

which was read by Mrs. Shober. At the close of the literary program the hostess, assisted by Miss Louise Neave, served a delicious salad course. Miss Jeanie Klutz was a guest of the club.

The Twice Seven Book Club held a most enjoyable meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. Neave at her home on West Innis street. For the occasion the home was most attractively decorated. A most interesting afternoon was spent in selecting books for the new series and outlining the program for the Winter. Following the literary program a tempting salad course was served.

The State congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet in Asheville Saturday and will be in session for several days. Among those going from Salisbury are Mrs. Edwin R. Overman, Mrs. E. C. Gregory, Mrs. George Fisher and Mrs. R. Norman.

Mrs. E. C. Crego entertained a number of friends at auction bridge Tuesday afternoon at her home on West Horah street in honor of Mrs. Clarence Sawyer of Asheville, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. F. Snider. Auction bridge was played at four tables and in a series of absorbing games the highest score was made by Miss Mary Smith, who was awarded a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums. The honoree was also presented with a prize.

At the close of the games the guests were invited into the dining room, where a delicious two-course luncheon was served. Miss Nellie Holmes Pearson poured coffee, Miss Beulah Kern presided at the punch bowl, while Mrs. P. B. Beard assisted in serving.

The guests were: Mesdames Clarence Sawyer, E. G. Pearson, James Gilmer, Whitehead Klutz, F. B. Beard, Charles Reiser, D. W. Burright, J. W. Carlton, J. D. Norwood, Earnest Taylor and C. T. Bernhard; Misses Beulah Kern, Nellie Holmes Pearson, Jennie Sullivan, Carmait Grimes and Mary Smith.

Monday afternoon at her home on South Long street, Mrs. Pearl Bernhard delightfully entertained the members of the Afternoon Bridge Club and a number of other guests in honor of Miss Janet Crump, a charming bride-elect of November. Mrs. Bernhard's attractive home was made more beautiful by a profusion of Autumn flowers. Mrs. Clarence T. Bernhard greeted the guests at the door while Mrs. Paul H. Bernhard received in the drawing room, assisted by the honoree.

There were eight tables of auction and the games were played with zest and enthusiasm. The honoree was presented with a handsome silver deposit cream and sugar set.

At the close of the game, a lunch, consisting of chicken salad, chowchow, sandwiches, beaten biscuit and tea, was served.

The guests were: Mesdames W. B. Strachan, Wallace Scales, Whitehead Klutz, Hugh Brown, C. T. Bernhard, F. L. Robbins, J. W. Carlton, Clarence Sawyer, John R. Crawford, W. M. Wiley, Samuel Wiley, J. H. Gorman, Percy Grimes, T. E. Witherspoon, R. W. Norman and Ernest Taylor, Misses Janet Crump, Alice Gray, Beulah Kern, Luna Thompson, Annie Laurie Ramsay, Brent Blackmer, Hattie Barlow, Lilly Bernhart, Lucila Linn, Julia Cruch, Louise Neave, Anne Neave, Mary Henderson, Maud Brown, May McCorkle, Nellie Holmes Pearson and Kathleen Klutz.

A most enjoyable meeting of the St. Monica Reading Circle was held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. D. W. Burright. The usual program was carried out with enthusiasm, the items an discussion of the books proved most interesting. Notable features of the afternoon were Mrs. Burright's resume of current events and an interesting article which was read by Miss Jeanie Klutz.

At the conclusion of the literary program the hostess served a delicious collation. In addition to the club members, Mrs. Burright had as her guests, Mrs. Morgan of Washington and Mrs. Loughery of Roanoke, Va.

Mrs. Samuel Hamilton Wiley returned home Saturday from a two-weeks visit to relatives in Raleigh.

Mrs. Loughery of Roanoke, Va., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. R. M. West.

Mrs. R. L. James entertained a few friends at her home Wednesday evening from 8 to 10:30 in honor of Miss Biennis Pace of Princeton, Ind., who is visiting in the city.

Mrs. S. C. McCracken of Washington, Pa., has arrived in the city on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Floyd B. Miller.

Miss Margaret Scott, one of the teachers of the Statesville Female College, spent Saturday and Sunday with her friend, Miss Selma Whitaker of Franklin Township, returning Monday to Statesville.

Little Julia Kerr, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kerr, has been very sick for a long time and was taken worse Wednesday. The child is in a serious condition.

TERMINAL FACILITIES

Piedmont and Northern Gets New Station at Gastonia's Creamery to be Started—Seventeenth Cotton Mill in Sight. (Special to The Chronicle.)

GASTONIA, Nov. 9.—At last the Piedmont & Northern has secured an uptown ticket office, having just closed a lease on the room in the Y. M. C. A. building recently vacated by the Pollock Company. This is only one door from the corner of the intersection of Main avenue and South street, where the interurban cars arrive and depart from Gastonia. Negotiations are now pending between the railroad officials and the Y. M. C. A. trustees looking to the enlarging of these quarters by the extension of the room at the rear over spaces now vacant. If this is done there will be ample room for a lunch room in addition to the waiting room and ticket office. This will probably be done. It is stated on good authority that cars will be running uptown within ten days. This will be much more convenient for the traveling public than the present arrangement, the cars stopping now at the freight depot on South Broad street.

More than half of the $3,000 capital stock for the creation and operation of an up-to-date co-operative creamery in Gastonia has already been subscribed and the indications are that the balance will be easily and quickly raised. The plans for this plant call for one of the most modern equipment, including refrigerating plant and pasteurizing machinery. The capacity will be 600 pounds of butter per day. Mr. J. Bun Brydges of Gastonia, one of the principal promoters, is an experienced man in the business, having promoted the Stanley, Mooresboro, Shelby and Yorkville creameries, all of which are successful. Many farmers in this immediate section are taking stock in the enterprise and will furnish butter fat for the creamery. That it will prove of great benefit to the county is not doubted.

Machinery is being placed in the new Armstrong Cotton Mill and it will be put into operation in a short time. The building has just been completed. This is Gastonia's seventeenth cotton mill.

ROCK HILL NOTES

Statesville People May Locate Business in South Carolina Town—Greeks Aid Countrymen. (Special to The Chronicle.)

ROCK HILL, S. C., Nov. 9.—Messrs. G. A. Critcher and W. W. Penny of Statesville, N. C., were in the city Friday prospecting. Mr. Nash of the Helms-Bass Furniture Company turned the gentleman over to Secretary Spencer of the Chamber of Commerce, who in turn, hunted up Ross Roach and carried the prospectors over the city in an automobile.

The gentlemen seemed greatly pleased with the city and it is more than probable that they will decide to open up a place of business in the city.

Messrs. Critcher and Penny are in the cabinet making and upholstering business, making a specialty of fitting offices with furniture and repairing and upholstering chairs and other articles of furniture, both household and office. Both are experienced in their line of work.

George Kerhoulas, probably the best known member of the little Greek colony in this city, is authority for the statement that the Greeks of Rock Hill have forwarded $250 to their native land to aid in the fight against Turkey. Kerhoulas also states that he will go to Charlotte next Sunday to be present at a meeting of Greeks, who will take steps to raise money to be sent to the Grecian government. The Greeks here are watching the progress of the war in which their native country is engaged, with great interest and they are firm in the belief that Greece and the Balkan States will be able to drive the Turks from Europe and bring them to terms. If these little countries are allowed to pursue their advantage over Turkey. It is feared, however, that the big powers will take a hand and take some action favorable to Turkey.

Mr. J. L. E. Gill, a well-known citizen of Rodman, Chester County, died suddenly in Chester Friday. Mr. Gill was probably about 60 years of age and was a brother-in-law of Mr. J. A. Shurley of this city. None of the particulars in regard to his death have been received, but it is understood that he dropped dead.

An English Author Wrote: "No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

The New Plant Of The Interstate Chemical Company

The above is a cut of the new plant of the Interstate Chemical Corporation, which is the newest and most improved plants which this concern has in operation, others being located at Tampa and Bowling Green, Fla., Greenwood, S. C., and Macon, Ga. The company owns a large number of phosphate rock beds near Bowling Green, Fla., from which acid is taken. The Charlotte plant has a capacity of 60,000 tons a season and works between 175 and 350 men, the number varying with the season. It is sometimes necessary to have the maximum number of laborers engaged and at other lax times in the period of manufacture, half of this number is sufficient. The plant has extensive sheds, acid chambers and transmission houses, being equipped throughout with electrical apparatus. Mr. Miles M. Hunter is superintendent of the plant and Mr. F. O. Landis is sales manager. The concern has just put its new plant here in operation and it is now manipulating complete fertilizers. The Interstate Chemical Company has a capitalization of $10,000,000.
