

Only 12 More Days

Left for the little folks to draw us some funny pictures for our advertising and send them in to win part of the

$25 Prize Money

If you haven't entered the contest yet, sit right down and read the rules and get your parents to help you make a drawing. Win some of the prize money for Christmas.

Contest Rules and Prizes

(Read Carefully)
There will be 25 prizes of $2.00 each.
Every contestant will have an equal chance.
The following rules MUST be observed if you expect to win a prize:
1. All drawings must be made with black water-proof ink and on a good grade of white paper.
2. Copies of cartoons heretofore published by us will not be accepted. They must be new drawings and expressive of your own ideas of our famous "Y. & B." trade mark and delivery systems used to furnish the public with the best brands of Coal and Wood.
3. All drawings must be submitted by 6 o'clock the evening of December 14th, 1912.
4. Write your name, address and age plainly on your drawings, and either send or mail them to "Y. & B." Contest Committee, Chronicle Office, Charlotte.

Every Kid in Town
And Their Parents

Know This

TRADE

MARK

Stands for Best Quality

COAL AND WOOD

DELIVERED
CLEANEST

DELIVERED
QUICKEST

Big "Y. & B."
Drawing Contest
Closes on Saturday,
Dec. 14th

$25.00 Given to the Little Folks

Phone 211

For Cheerful
Christmas
Coal and Wood

YARBROUGH & BELLINGER CO.

Deliver or Address All Drawings to "Y. & B." Contest Committee, Chronicle Office, Charlotte.

NEW CHURCH FOR ROCK HILL FOLK

Presbyterian House of Worship
Is Dedicated—Former Policeman
Acquitted of Murder Charge

(Special to The Chronicle.)

ROCK HILL, S. C., Dec. 2.—Oakland Avenue Presbyterian church was opened for public worship for the first time Sunday morning. A large congregation was present for the Sunday school and preaching service that followed. Rev. Alexander Martin preached a forceful sermon, especially appropriate to the occasion from the text "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it; the watchman waketh but in vain." Psalms 127:1.

This handsome edifice is arranged in a most convenient manner, the Sunday school room being separated from the main auditorium by sliding doors and can be used as a part of the main auditorium. The auditorium will seat about 400 persons, while the rooms in the transepts will seat an equal number. There is a transept on either side of the main building, each having an upper and lower class room with sliding doors. These are the principal class rooms in the edifice and are nicely fitted up.

The architectural design, both exterior and interior, is pleasing to the eye and the acoustics of the building are excellent. The building is one of the handsomest of the city's churches. It cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The church is located within a stone's throw of Winthrop College and a section of the auditorium has been set aside for the use of the Winthrop students who desire to worship there. Rev. Alexander Martin and Rev. F. W. Cragg, co-pastors, will alternate between the Presbyterian churches in the city.

Considerable interest was taken here in the trial of J. A. Eubanks, formerly a policeman of Rock Hill, who on Saturday was tried in the York Circuit Court on the charge of killing a young man named Harry Putnam. The case consumed the entire day, the jury setting in late in the afternoon. A sealed verdict was returned late Saturday night and was returned in court Sunday morning. The defendant was acquitted.

It was on the morning of Sunday, June 16 last, that the killing occurred. Putnam who was employed at the Victoria Mills, was en route to the station to take the 8 o'clock train for Chester, or at least had announced his intention of doing so. A freight was pulling slowly up the track and Putnam jumped on and rode a few yards before jumping off again. Eubanks, who was on duty as policeman at that time, saw Putnam on the freight and as there was a city ordinance against this he proceeded to put Putnam under arrest. The young man at that time offered no resistance, but later stopped and said that he was going no further as he had done nothing to be arrested for.

Just how he was shot is not known. In the trial it was claimed that it was accidental and that the officer had no intention of killing the prisoner. At the time of the shooting he made conflicting statements and there were several who came up directly afterwards and none of their descriptions tallied exactly. The coroner's jury which heard all of the evidence, returned the following verdict: "That H. H. Putnam came to his death from a pistol shot in the hands of Policeman J. A. Eubanks while in the discharge of his official duties as policeman of the City of Rock Hill." On the strength of this verdict Eubanks was placed in jail at Yorkville, where he remained until he was freed by the jury Sunday morning.

The shooting aroused considerable excitement here and there was considerable talk of lynching the officer. However, there was no leader for the mob and the lynching talk soon subsided. The friends of young Putnam employed counsel to assist the State in convicting Eubanks when he was brought to trial. Dunlap & Dunlap assisted Solicitor Henry Dunlap secured the services of City Attorney Wilson, being on duty at the time of the killing. Also T. F. McDow and J. R. Hart of Yorkville.

REV. GILBERT ROWE PREACHES FAREWELL

Tryon Street Pastor Leaves This Week To Take Up Work As Presiding Elder

Rev. Gilbert T. Rowe, who has been pastor of Tryon Street Methodist Church for three years Sunday delivered his farewell sermon to the congregation and next Sunday will begin his duties as presiding elder of the Winston district.

The occasion was one of no little feeling and regret on the part of the congregation whose esteem and love for their pastor had led them to make special effort this year to have him returned to them to finish out his four years of service.

The preacher in his closing sermon reviewed the fundamental principles of Christianity which he declared he had always endeavored to stress and hold up before his people during his pastorate, while at the same time drawing a sharp line between the essential and the merely incidental.

The thesis of his sermon was the eternal and indestructible principles of salvation laid down in the Bible as the revealed word of God. The preacher showed how these essentials had withstood various shocks from time to time when it was believed that the taproot of Christianity had been killed or seriously injured, and declared that the truths of salvation and of revelation will always remain adequate and full and will afford to the world all that it requires in its effort to find the source of all life and of real salvation. Many historical facts bearing on this argument were related and the summary of the whole was eminently fitting and a proper climax to the three years' work which Rev. Mr. Rowe has completed in this city.

The pastor spoke in fine terms of Rev. B. K. McLarty, his successor, who comes to this city from Greensboro. The two ministers were classmates in high school in Moore's, members of the same class at Trinity College and graduated from the same platform.

Rev. Mr. Rowe will leave for Winston during the week, and Rev. Mr. McLarty expected to fill the pulpit at morning and evening services next Sunday at Tryon Street Methodist church.

MOUNTAIN BOOMERS OF TRINITY BANQUET

Western North Carolina Students
Entertain With Members Of Faculty As Guests

(Special to The Chronicle.)

TRINITY COLLEGE, DURHAM, Dec. 2.—The Mountain Boomers' Club of Trinity College on last Friday night held its annual banquet at the Lechnoor Hotel in Durham with nearly the entire membership in attendance. The banquet, if indeed it might be called that, was a very informal affair and consisted only in a four-course supper, followed by a treat to cigars. The club invited as its special guests for the occasion, the members of the faculty whose homes are located in the mountainous section of the western part of the State, these professors being also honorary members of the club, and are as follows: Dean W. I. Crawford, professor of philosophy; Dr. W. K. Boyd, professor of history; and Dr. J. J. Wells, professor of biology. More than three-fourths of the entire membership of the club was present, and everyone enjoyed the evening.

The supper consisted of four courses, the first being composed of cereals; the second of fried fish, broiled steak, scrambled eggs, American boiled Irish potatoes, hot rolls, milk and coffee; the third course, hot cakes and syrup, and the fourth, ice cream and cake. After the supper had been finished, cigars were passed around, and the members enjoyed the remainder of the evening amid the whiffs of cigar smoke.

The purpose of this club is to further the interests of Trinity College in that section of the State lying beyond the Blue Ridge Mountains, and the membership is drawn exclusively from that section of the State. Each member of the club is a self-appointed committee of one whose business it is to look after the interest and welfare of the college in his section and especially in his home town and county, and to do all he can to bring as many men as possible to Trinity from his section of the State.

The officers of the Mountain Boomers' Club are as follows: President, S. W. Marr, Bryson City; vice president, J. O. Rentre, Burnsville; corresponding secretary, W. A. Wilson, Trade, Tenn.; recording secretary and treasurer, R. L. Brown, Boone.

Coughing at Night.
One bad cough can keep the whole family awake at night. Phil. Disraeli, Schaffer, M.D., says: "I could not sleep on account of a bad cough, and I was very weak. I used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and soon the cough left and I slept soundly all night." Bowen's Drug Store.

Jeff Was Only Trying To Do Mutt A Favor

By "Bud" Fisher

