The signed contract of James A. Kelly of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who is to lead the Durham team in the North Carolina League, was received by the athletic association this morning.

Mr. J. A. Gardner of this city has been awarded the contract for a new building for the Winnsboro Bank at Winnsboro, S. C.

VARIOUS SENTENCES GIVEN THE CONVICTED DYNAMITERS

gal in April, 1911. The evidence in this case shows that almost 100 explosions, damaging and destroying structures in process of erection by, and machinery of, open shop concerns took place, culminating on the first day of October, 1910, in the destruction of The Los Angeles Times building and the murder of 21 persons.

"This system of destruction was not carried on for revenge or in obedience to any other human passion, but for the deliberate purpose, but a veritable reign of terror, to enforce compliance with the demands of the iron workers upon the open and closed shop questions."

"Twitmore, the man who paid the dynamiters for work on the Pacific Coast, who asked for more explosions even after the 21 persons were killed, ought not to be here on trial for dynamiting. He ought to be out there on the coast or trial for murder."

"So ought Clancy and Munsey, the men who for two weeks harbored James B. McNamara in Salt Lake City. These men ought to be in San Quentin prison in California along with the McNamaras right now."

All motions for new trials for the 38 labor union officials convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases, today were overruled by Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson.

As soon as court convened a few minutes after 10 o'clock District Attorney Miller arose from his seat.

"If the court please, the Government asks for judgments on the verdicts," he said.

Chester H. Krum, counsel for the prisoners, then addressed the court.

"We ask in behalf of all the 38 men found guilty that the verdicts be set aside."

"That motion will be overruled," said Judge Anderson.

The motions for arrest of judgments were likewise disposed of. Turning toward the prisoners, Judge Anderson said:

evidence is bad enough but this report may not be convicting. "As to Cooney I have not reached a decision as yet."

Coughlin was asked about his connection with the union. The district attorney interrupted, saying the evidence was enough to justify the verdict.

"Do you think the dynamite campaign carried on for six years was right?" asked Judge Anderson.

"No, sir, your honor, I do not," said Coughlin.

Coughlin told the court he was married and had two children. He said he had never been arrested before.

At this time Judge Anderson did not indicate when he would impose sentences. It was believed he would call up one by one many of the defendants and impose sentences shortly.

Judge Scores Attorneys for Defense. Just as Frank Murphy, Detroit, was called, Judge Anderson announced his purpose in questioning the men.

"I am doing so because I don't believe you have had the defense you ought to have had," said the judge.

"That's why I am questioning you. You don't have to answer my questions if you feel the answers will prejudice your case."

Murphy was asked whether he had not been arrested in July, 1911, after the McNamaras were arrested. The prisoner replied he had been acquitted.

"Do you believe a man ought to be sentenced if he is found guilty?" "Yes, I do."

District Attorney Miller said: "I believe Murphy is guilty but not so guilty as some of the others."

Hiram R. Kline, Muncie, Ind., a former organizer for the carpenters' union, was called.

Kline explained a $100 bill he was accused of paying to Charles Waechtmeler as part of a fund to be used for blowing up buildings in Detroit.

The prisoner asserted the money had nothing to do with any proposed explosions. The district attorney said this evidence ought to have been brought out on the stand.

Bernhardt Pronounced Guilty. When William C. Bernhardt, Cincinnati, was called, Judge Anderson said:

"Bernhardt, I feel sorry for you, but it is too late to explain now. The letters you wrote were bad."

"I hope God may strike me dead," Bernhardt attempted to continue.

"Now, don't talk that way," said the court.

MR. MCGINN RECOVERS DIAMOND AS RESULT OF CHIEF'S WORK

Through good detective work on the part of Chief of Police T. M. Christenbury, Mr. C. R. McGinn of this city has recovered a $250 diamond ring stolen from him on October 18.

John Turner, colored charged with the theft, was bound over this morning to the next term of criminal court by Recorder D. B. Smith, who heard the evidence in the case.

Last October Turner was a driver for the Reid livery stables. He found the ring, it is alleged, in a buggy occupied by Mr. McGinn during that month. He was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and sent to the chain gang to work out a fine.

The evidence against Turner was such as to satisfy the court that the matter should be gone into more thoroughly and during the January term of Superior Court Turner will again be given an opportunity to substantiate his plea of "not guilty."
