A CHERFUL VIEW.

Mr. L. L. Hotchkiss sees Evidence of an Improved Industrial Situation.
Mr. L. L. Hotchkiss says he thinks there are general improvements in the industrial condition of the country since the tariff question has been settled. His own correspondence is increased with letters of inquiry. He thinks that business will now adjust itself to the new conditions, and as gold has ceased to go to Europe as crops bid fair to be good, and as the tariff is settled, he thinks the situation is considerably improved and will get better as time goes on. Mr. Hotchkiss has never viewed the recent gold out flow with alarm. We borrowed foreign money on our securities. We borrowed in sterling and we had, of course, to pay in sterling. That was all there was of it. Business men generally appear to hold such views. Surely there's a good time coming.

A Marriage at Davidson.

Mr. J. A. Tillinghast and his sister, from Raleigh, passed through the city Wednesday on their way to Davidson College, where Mr. Tillinghast and Miss Claude Stinson, of that place, will be married to day. Mr. Mr. Tillinghast's father who is a deaf mute, is a professor in the State Deaf and Dumb Institute in Raleigh, and Mr. Tillinghast himself leaves with his bride for Boulder, Mont., where he goes to accept the place of superintendent of the Montana Deaf and Dumb Institute, located at that place. He is a young man of unusually bright mind, a graduate of Davidson College from which institution a year or so after graduating, he took the degree of Master of Arts, pursuing a course in English literature under Dr. W. S. Currier. He is rapidly making a name and place for himself in the land of opportunities, the far west, where he has labored for several years and his success is gratifying to his many Tar Heel friends.

Mr. A. L. Smith has returned from a visit to his old home in Halifax county, and you ought to hear him talk crops.

Mr. A. L. Smith has returned from a visit to his old home in Halifax county, and you ought to hear him talk crops. He made a tour of the State farm and says that it beats anything he ever saw. He drove for six miles through a solid field of corn, the corn averaging 9 feet high and he saw 1,500 acres of cotton in one field. Mr. Smith says that Halifax county will raise enough corn this season to do two years. The crops all through the eastern part of the State are really the finest within the memory of the land owners.

A Florida Car.

A special train of cars, all filled with Knights of Pythias, passed through Charlotte at 8 o'clock Monday morning, bound for Washington. A conspicuous feature of the uniform of the Knights was a white cap ornamented with a stuffed alligator. One of the train was a museum of living creatures from Florida. Among them was an alligator ten feet long. They had a rattlesnake six feet long, and if anyone would tap on a rattler's cage with a cane, the rattler would make a vicious bite against the wire netting. There were pelicans, all kinds of sea fowl, a deer, panther, bear and other animals, very much alive in the car.

Senatorial Primaries.

I noticed in your last issue that there was a difference of opinion between you and the Observer in regard to the resolution offered by myself and adopted by the executive committee of Mecklenburg county in regard to the primary vote to settle the Senatorship. If you will refer to the minutes of secretary of said board you will find that both Eastern and Western Senators were included, for that was the intention of the motion.
Respectfully,
J. WATT KIRKPATRICK.

Primaries for Congressmen.

The protracted convention at Lumberton is an argument in favor of the primary plan for Congressmen and Governors. Nearly all the members of the Lumberton convention were men of business and it was at a sacrifice that they remained there. The primary plan would do away with the convention fight, as all the delegates would have to do would be to go there and cast the vote and that would end it. Every day it becomes more apparent that the primary is the thing in politics and it will be adopted eventually.

Withers and Roark.

The election of cotton weigher and inspector for Charlotte, takes place Monday. The election is for one year, and is made by the county commissioners and city aldermen in joint session. There is no opposition to Mr. J. S. Withers, the present weigher, and Mr. Warren Roark, the present inspector. They will be re-elected by acclamation, and nobody expects anything else, for they are excellent officers and have always given satisfaction to both buyers and sellers.

TARIFF BILL A LAW.

BUT NOT BY CLEVELAND'S SIGNATURE.

He Writes a Letter in Which He Tells Why He Did Not Sign the Bill—His Views on the New Tariff Law.
WASHINGTON, D. C., August 27.—President Cleveland has written the following letter to Representative Catchings, of Mississippi, in which he sets forth his views of the new tariff law, and gives his reasons for not approving the bill.
"EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,
August 27, 1894.

Hon. L. C. Catchings:
My Dear Sir:—Since the conversation I had with you and Mr. Clark, of Alabama, a few days ago in regard to my action on the tariff bill now before me, I have given the subject further and most serious consideration. The result is I am more settled than ever in the determination to allow the bill to become a law without my signature.

When the formation or legislation which it was hoped would embody Democratic ideas of Tariff reform was lately entered upon by Congress, nothing was further from my anticpation than a result which I could not promptly and enthusiastically endorse.

It is therefore, with a feeling of the utmost disappointment that I submit to a denial of this privilege. I do not claim to be better than the masses of my party, nor do I wish to avoid any responsibility which, on account of the passage of this law, I ought to bear as a member of the Democratic organization. Neither will I permit myself to be separated from my party to such an extent as might be implied by my veto of legislation, which, though disappointing, has still chargeable to Democratic opposition. But there are provisions in this bill which are not in line with honest tariff reform, and it contains inconsistencies and crudities which ought not to appear in tariff laws or laws of any kind. Besides, there were, as you and I well know, incidents accompanying the passage of the bill through the Congress, which made every sincere tariff reformer unhappy, while influences surrounded in its latter stages and interfered with its final recognition, which ought not to be recognized or tolerated in Democratic tariff reformers' councils. And yet, he and all the hard treatment it received at the hands of pretended friends, it presents a vast improvement to existing conditions. It will certainly lighten many tariff burdens that now rest heavily upon the people. It is not only a barrier against the return of mad protection, but it furnishes a vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected monopoly and governmental favoritism.

I take my place with the rank and file of the Democratic party who believe in tariff reform and who know what it is, who refuse to accept the results embodied in this bill, as the close of the war, who are not blinded to the fact that livery of Democratic tariff reform has been stolen and worn in the service of Republican protection, and who have marked the places where the deadly light of treason has blasted the counsels of the brave in their hour of might.

The trusts and combinations—the communion of self, who see machinery have prevented us from reaching the success we deserved, this should not be forgotten nor forgiven. We shall recover from our astounded amazement at their exhibition of power, and if then the question is forced upon us whether they shall submit to the free legislative will of the peoples' representatives, or shall dictate the laws which the people must obey, we will accept and settle that issue as one involving the integrity and safety of American institutions.

I love the principles of true Democracy because they are founded in patriotism and an interest in and fairness toward all interests, and I am proud of my party organization because it is comparatively sturdy and persistent in the enforcement of its principles. Therefore I do not despair of the efforts made by the House of Representatives to supplement the bill already passed by further legislation, and to have engrafed upon it such modifications as will more nearly meet Democratic hopes and aspirations.

I cannot be mistaken as to the necessity of free raw materials as the foundation of logical and sensible tariff reform. The extent to which this is recognized in the legislation already secured is one of its encouraging and redeeming features, but it is vexatious to recall that while free coal and iron ore have been denied us, a recent letter of the Secretary of the Treasury discloses the fact that both might have been made free by the annual surrender of only about $700,000 of unnecessary revenue. I am sure that there is a common habit of undervaluing the importance of free raw materials in tariff legislation, and of regarding them as only related to concessions to be made to our manufacturers. The truth is, their influence is so far reaching that if disregarded a complete and beneficent scheme of tariff reform cannot be successfully inaugurated.

When we go to our manufacturers free raw materials we unshackle American enterprises and ingenuity, and these will open the doors of foreign markets to the recipients of our wares and give opportunity for the continuous and remunerative employment of American labor.

With materials cheapened by their freedom from tariff charges the cost of their product must be correspond-

Organize Against the Saloon.

The State Temperance Association has provided for the organization of auxiliary associations in counties, townships and corporations. Let any person or persons interested in this work call at the office of temperance and prohibition people, secure some one to deliver an address, and organize by electing a president, secretary and treasurer and an executive committee. Authorize the officers to call meetings, provide for addresses and the distribution of literature on the subject, and whatever may increase the sentiment for temperance and secure the suppression of the liquor traffic in your county or corporation. Report your organization to the corresponding secretary of the State Association.

The object of this organization is not to organize any temperance organization, nor is any member expected to sever his connection with any political party. But do all you can to secure temperance men as candidates in any party, and to secure the enactment of good temperance laws, and their rigid enforcement.

The Legislature will be asked to enact a law similar to the Mississippi law. Do all you can to secure the passage of this law. Organize at once everywhere.

Greensboro, N. C.

James A. Leckhart As He Really Is.
The Wilmington Star says: The nominee, James A. Leckhart, of Anson county, is a man of imposing presence, tall in stature, physically robust, handsome of mould, graceful in carriage, affable in manners, gifted in speech and voice, eloquent in delivery, and with mental vigor and discerning judgment—a man who would attract attention in any assemblage, and one of whom any constituency might be proud. With this he is credited by those who know him best with a character distinguished for integrity, honesty, sincerity, conscious discharge of obligations and duty, adhesion to the right as he sees it, by his thoroughbred Democracy and the courage to stand by his convictions and principles at all times and under all circumstances. These are some, but not all, of the honorable characteristics which gave James A. Leckhart his strong hold on the friends who stood by him so steadfastly in that convention.

Congressman Wilson Re-nominated.
A Martinsville, West Va., dispatch of the 29th says: The congressional convention for the second West Virginia district met here at 10 o'clock to-day to re-nominate the Hon. W. L. Wilson for Congress. All last night and this morning delegates were arriving and at the hour fixed for assembling almost a thousand men were called to order by Chairman M. J. Gamble, of Hardy county.

At 2:29 resolutions were reported and adopted, endorsing the Chicago platform, especially the tariff plank thereof; the action of the House of Representatives; of Grover Cleveland, and of W. L. Wilson, and accepting the tariff bill, as passed, in the sample case as did President Cleveland. In a short but brilliant speech John T. Meigs, of Preston county, nominated Mr. Wilson, and he was made the nominee by acclamation.

FATAL STRAY AT AIKEN.

A dispatch from Aiken, S. C., of the 29th says: William Chatfield, son of Mauger Chatfield, of the Highland Park Hotel, at Aiken, was shot fatally to-night at 8:30 o'clock by James J. Wingard, a policeman of that city. Chatfield was ordered by Wingard to stop cursing on the street, and some words passed when Chatfield struck Wingard and the latter attempted to use his club. Chatfield had seized the club, and the latter, breaking away, fired two 42 calibre bullets into Chatfield, one striking him in the abdomen and the other in the side. Wingard was arrested. Chatfield will hardly live through the night. He is 25 years of age. Wingard is a young man and has a family.

A Young Woman Succeeds and All for Love.

The Concord Standard says: Miss Maggie Tate, sister-in-law of Prof. F. Brown, of Enochville (Rowan county), committed suicide Wednesday night by cutting her throat with a razor. Miss Tate was a lady of very fine qualities, and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was about 35 years of age, and lived with Prof. Brown, about one-half mile from Enochville. The cause of her rash act is assigned to the general cause for such deeds—the result of a love affair. The remains of Miss Tate were taken to Mississippi for burial Thursday.

Annou Democratic Primaries.

The Democratic primaries were held in Anson county Saturday. The result was that Capt. J. C. McLaughlin was nominated for clerk of the court, B. L. Wall for sheriff, L. D. Robinson for the Register, S. A. Benton for treasurer. This is a strong ticket and will beat the Populists badly.

Another Record Broken.

John and Jasper Atkinson, who killed John Camp near Winboro, S. C., will have, on September 21, the Governor refusing to interfere. This will be the first case on record in South Carolina where men who were recommended to the mercy of the court by the jury will be hanged.

Ends at Last.

A dispatch from Hillsboro, Tex. dated the 29th inst. says: J. O. A. Box was unanimously nominated to Congress by the sixth district Democratic convention on the 3,398th ballot.

An Admirable Economy.

The Washington Post, independent, says: The Hon. J. D. Sayers, chairman of the committee on appropriations, gratifies the country and credits himself in the announcement that the Fifty-third Congress has effected a saving of $30,000,000 in the budget of public expenditure. Reductions, where they can be made without impairing the efficiency of the government, are always to be desired, but we recall no time within the generation when economy was more desirable than it is at present. The operation of the McKinley act has not been satisfactory. The result is that with a constant and legitimate growth of necessity for public expenditure and a tariff arrangement that did not yield the revenue we have been gradually approaching a condition of bankruptcy. Even without the encouragement of the new tariff bill, the reductions effected by the committee of which Mr. Sayers is the chairman are therefore as useful as they are timely. A matter of $30,000,000 is always on hand for any government and under any circumstances, but Mr. Sayers has accomplished that economy at a crisis which lends it peculiar significance.

We do not doubt that, when the new tariff bill shall have gone into thorough effect, the Treasury will be relieved of all its present embarrassments. Such competent authority as Secretary Carlisle may be quoted in support of this opinion. But some months must elapse before that consummation can be reached, and meanwhile such achievements as this of Mr. Sayers come at a most opportune time.

The Democratic party can go before the people in November with a very fair title to their confidence. It is something, surely, to have substituted a sound, conservative, and provident financial system for a thoroughly unsatisfactory and inadequate one, and to have exhibited, at the same time, a capacity for wholesome and genuine retrenchment.

Coordinate Gold.

The appearance in Petersburg of Mr. Drury Barner, of Arkansas, brings up a point in Charlotte history, which the Richmond Dispatch, in a special from Petersburg, narrates as follows: "Mr. Drury Barner, of Arkansas, a former resident of Petersburg, is here on a visit for the first time in twenty-five years. During the war Mr. Barner was detailed from the Confederate army to look after repairing the telegraph lines after they had followed General Stoneman, with a force of hands, from Gordonsville to Hanover Junction, repairing the wires after they had been cut by his troops. Mr. Barner at one time had his headquarters in Richmond. He was also, during the war, in the employ of the Southern Express Company, at Charlotte, N. C., and was the officer of the company who, with a detailed squad of Confederate soldiers, guarded the gold of the Confederate government which was shipped from Richmond to Charlotte, N. C., when the former city was evacuated by the Confederate forces. Mr. Barner says that the gold was packed in kegs, and that it filled a whole car. The gold was subsequently carried away from Charlotte in wagons, and was afterwards captured by the Federal army."

Mr. Barner is mistaken about the gold being taken away from Charlotte in wagons. It was carried to Chester by rail, as far as it could be taken by train, for the reason that G. N. Sherman had destroyed the railroad between Blackstock and Columbia. The gold was taken from Chester by wagon in the direction of Washington, Ga., and was captured near Washington, Ga., by the Federals, as some say, was distributed among those in charge. This is written in the interest of the truth of history.

If, as Mr. Barner says, it filled a whole car, it would indicate that there was in the neighborhood of 750 tons. Cars must have been cars for true in those days, as there are none in this day and time that will carry over 40 tons to the car.

The Total Visible Supply of Cotton.

New York, Aug. 25.—The total visible supply of cotton for the world is 2,047,218 bales, of which 1,038,118 bales are American, against 2,291,929 bales and 1,828,729 bales respectively last year. Receipts of cotton this week at all interior towns are 19,309 bales. Receipts from the plantations, 15,002 bales. Crop in sight, 7,450,225 bales.

The Hot Warm Post in Mississippi.

A dispatch from Bolivar county, Miss., says the boll-worm has made its appearance in the delta country and is badly damaging the growing cotton crop. Planters agree that if the pest cannot be exterminated the entire crop in some sections will be a total loss.

Dockery the Republican Nominee.

A special to the Observer from Rockingham dated Aug. 25th says: The Republican convention of the sixth district met here today and unanimously and enthusiastically nominated Hon. O. H. Dockery for Congress. There were no factions. Every county was represented.

Creham to Leave—Don't Enter.

It is stated on good authority that Mr. C. Creham has been ordered to vacate the rooms his family occupy in the Southern Railway Company's depot building, in order to make room for Superintendent J. A. Dodson's headquarters to be moved from Atlanta to Charlotte.
