It is the duty of the Newspapers of the state to watch carefully the doings of the legislature now in session at Raleigh, to report truthfully its proceedings, to support it in its effort to improve our laws, and to condemn it when it disregards the welfare of the people and debases its power for personal or partisan purposes.

The Joint committee appointed by both houses of the General Assembly to visit the State Hospital at Morganton performed its duty last week. The committee spent Tuesday and Wednesday at the Hospital. Charges of partisanship and mismanagement especially against the Steward of this institution had been industriously circulated, and the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate was sent with the committee to hear evidence on the case.

The Republicans on the committee were very desirous of sustaining some of these charges. On arriving at Morganton they declined to accept the hospitality of the Hospital, preferring rather to put up at a hotel in the town and spend the state's good money. These Republicans set up a sort of Star Chamber investigation. They summoned witnesses but soon found there was no evidence of any irregularities in the management of this most excellent institution.

Dr. Murphy courted the fullest and fairest investigation of the Hospital's management. He showed the committee over the immense buildings and grounds, and explained everything fully, and answered all questions frankly. As a consequence the committee, with the exception of two or three Republicans, were not only perfectly satisfied with the management of the Hospital, but enthusiastic in their praise of Dr. Murphy and his able corps of assistants. This is indeed an institution of which every citizen of the state should feel proud. Its management is superb. It is economical, and yet at the same time every want of its unfortunate inmates is supplied. This magnificent establishment with its corps of skilled physicians and attendants and all necessary equipments cost the state less per patient than it does to keep a criminal in a county jail.

The state should take care of these unfortunate, and it would be a public calamity if this fusion legislature should interfere in any way with its management or its appropriation.

A DIVISION AMONG FUSIONISTS. There is division in the fusion ranks at Raleigh.

It arose out of the county government question. The Republicans want to turn the eastern counties over to negro rule. They are after the spoils as usual, and are willing to put the eastern counties where there are large negro majorities in the hands of negroes. They want negro magistrates and negro commissioners there. In short they want to ruin the prosperity and sacrifice the property of the people of those counties.

The Populists are willing to turn these counties over to negro rule but not entirely. They want to provide the cumulative system of voting which allows the minority representation. By this system the minority instead of voting for five commissioners may vote five times for one commissioner.

Several separate and several joint caucuses have been held on these questions and considerable feeling has been manifested, and as yet there is no sign of agreement. Each side is stubbornly contesting for its views. What the result may be is hard to conjecture. We are inclined to think an agreement will be reached. If the Republicans get what they want North Carolina will suffer.

Prominent Republicans have been heard to say that if they can get the county government system and an election law to suit them they don't care whether fusion continues or not. They believe that with a solid negro vote, they can put North Carolina where she was in '68 and

'69. They believe the Populists will help them to again get control of the State, and it looks as if they may. When this is done and the State is delivered into the hands of Radicals the Populists will realize the destruction their work has brought, and when it is too late they will repent. The outlook for good government in North Carolina is dark. The people did it, and the people will pay the penalty.

REPUBLICANS AGAINST SIX PER CENT.

The six per cent interest bill which passed the Senate last week is being up in the House and its passage there is not at all certain. "Gizzard" French (Rep.) who figured in the legislature of 1868-69 to the amount of $15,000 to $20,000, is opposed to it. Lusk and Ewart, both Republicans are opposed to it. They are marshalling their forces and using their influence to defeat it. They hope to carry the Republican strength solidly against it. If they do do this and get a few Populist and Democrat votes the bill is defeated.

These are the "Reformers" the people elected to this legislature. The Ethiopian cannot change his skin nor can the Republican fail to plunder the people when an opportunity presents itself. The people may as well realize this fact once for all. The Populists both in the legislature and at home may as well realize it. If they go on with the Republicans they may as well make up their mind to join them in class legislation that oppresses the masses.

The great majority of the Populists will not go much further. They do not agree in principle with the Republicans and there is abundant evidence that they are drifting apart. Some Populists are going over to the Republican party, but most of them never will.

FARMERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE.

The Mecklenburg delegation in the Legislature have received the passage of some amendments to the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association which put that organization in shape to do business in the State. A branch of this association was organized in Mecklenburg two years ago and a splendid set of officers were elected, but owing to some defects in the charter business was suspended. These have now been removed and the Association can resume business.

Very few farmers carry fire insurance because they cannot afford to pay rates charged by old line companies. Their property is almost wholly unprotected, and in most cases its loss would ruin the owner. This Association furnishes the protection needed at the least cost. The officers receive no pay, and there is practically no expense connected with it. In case of loss by fire each member is assessed in proportion to the amount of his policy.

We hope the farmers of Mecklenburg for their Mutual protection will become members of this Association.

This state needs a reformatory for young criminals. The Times has advocated the establishment of one for some time. A bill is now pending before the legislature with this object in view and the prospects of its becoming a law are good. Let all parties join hands and give us this much needed institution.

The County Government and the Election Bill.

In Raleigh Thursday night, the Populists and Republicans, composing the joint committee of House and Senate on Elections and County Government, held a meeting. The bills are all ready to be passed, but the News & Observer says there has been no dates fixed, however, and Thursday night there was only a knocking together of heads after the manner of Sydney Smith's vestrymen who put their heads together to make a block pavement in front of the church. Everybody dropped a word or two into the slot, and it was stated by some that it could be fairly said that the pro-tem would be allowed more than 300 voters. Any township containing over 300 voters would be divided into two or more precincts. The polls will be open at 7 o'clock and close at 4, the voters to be counted by 5. There will be one ballot and one box. Other features of the coming bill were discussed, but resulted in a kind of Yale mixture capped with chaotic smoke. They all thought they wanted something whatever that was. One of the lights said that the Democrats could depend on one thing, namely, that all things would work together for the good of the dear people.

On the question of county government there was much difference of opinion, some favoring the abolition of the office of commissioner, some opposing such abolition. But the greater weight seemed to be towards the substitution of a like body under a different name, but to be elected by the people. The magistrates will be appointed either by the legislature or by the judges, some of the cagey ones favoring the latter. Several heavy weights are now here, including Capt. Harry Skinner, swamped in the tumultuous possibilities of the two measures herein mentioned. They will remain and soon like watchful old mummies through all the squalls, and see the twins through the teaching act, and later hope to rear the manatees. "The Retreat," a private hospital in Charlotte, for the treatment of nervous disease, to authorize the county of Mecklenburg and the city of Charlotte to buy fair grounds.

In the Senate Friday, Mr. W. C. Dowd, Senator from Mecklenburg, introduced bills to incorporate the towns of Seversville and Biddleville, in Mecklenburg county; to incorporate "The Retreat," a private hospital in Charlotte, for the treatment of nervous disease; to authorize the county of Mecklenburg and the city of Charlotte to buy fair grounds.

The six sub-committee chiefs are getting up the steam, and the feast will be a Balahazar affair reaching far into the night. There will be no "meme, meme" business about the blow-out during the first era of the orgies. All will be well and the wine of the State's gentle yeoman blood will flow freely down the gullets of greed. "They'll use the advantage of their power to lay the summer's dust with the showers of blood rained from the wounds of slaughtered Democrats."

Or to change the "figger," Mrs. Jarley, they are in the orchard for apples, and they'll pick the trees clean, from the commissioner pippin to the constable crab.

The Dance and the Church Member.

Is dancing a sin? This is a question that is often asked; frequently, by the despisable scribbler who cares nothing for the moral of any act, and who would not quit the practice though the wrong were demonstrated never so clearly to the irreverent, the irreligious, the giddy, frivolous warring the dance furnishes pleasure, and is in perfect accord with their profession; each being "of the earth, earthy."

The writer has nothing to say about the sin of dancing as it relates to this class. They are simply incorrigible. Were it proved conclusively that even for them the practice of dancing was a sin, they would come back to you with their "death dealing logic." "It's no more harm to dance than it is to play cards, attend 'sociables' &c, &c, as though they were bound by some irresistible power to do either. The thief, therefore, deserves commendation. He was obliged to steal or murder, and, of the two evils, he chose the less.

By this class who make a mook of sin—who "fear not God, nor have any regard for righteousness," this question is often scorchingly asked.

But the true christian, never—but occasionally, by that class of church members who are trying to "serve God and Mammon." It is a sin—a great sin for any church member to dance, because (1) it is inconsistent with his profession. The writer, a few days since, was told of a minister who attends regularly the card parties, the "select dances" &c, or his city O. Church of Christ, is it any wonder that infidels laugh at our religion? Is it any wonder that worldlings ridicule our profession and call us hypocrites? If it is wrong for the minister to dance, play cards, &c, it is wrong for the private member. God has not given one standard of holiness for the pulpit and another for the pew.

I verily believe that the inconsistent lives of professing christians is doing far more to hinder the progress of christianity than all the haunts of impurity, saloons, and infidel writings in the world. The inconsistent life of the professing christian is the widest gap opening into hell, and more any other, than the "dark" than any other. O that worldly minded "professors" would get out of the church. Don't profess to love and serve God, and, at the same time, seek enjoyment at from the world. You stultify yourself in every such attempt. It is one thing to make a profession of religion; it is altogether different thing to live a true, consistent, christian life. Church members frequent the dance; the christian is never there. Many church members are now in hell, and many more will get there; but not one true christian is now, or ever will be there. It is impossible to find a true christian in hell as it is to find him at the dance; he does not go to either place.

But it is wrong for the church member to dance, because (2) he perjures himself. Perjury is, confessedly, base and wicked; yet, every church member must plead guilty of this crime whenever he engages in the dance. When one assumes the vows of the church, promises obedience to her laws and ordinances, does he not perjure himself when he willingly and deliberately violates these sacred obligations?

Let us hear private individuals express themselves. "O, the church has no right to prohibit her members from dancing." My! My! What conceit! And, who art thou, O Wisdom head? Has God packed into your little cranium more wisdom than He has given to His church? Can it be said of you also, "No doubt ye are the people, and wisdom will die with you?"

Let us modestly ask, Would it not be better for such people to separate themselves from an institution so tyrannical in its nature? They belong to the world, ("the world would love its own"), why not remain where they belong? The church is not a fit place for them; and, sure, they are not fit for the church. There is no congeniality. The church is the home of christians, why should they intrude?

Is it a sin for the church member to dance? Is inconsistency a virtue? Is perjury an "ornament of grace"? If so, then it is no sin for the church member to dance; other wise it is.

The Damage in Florida by the Cold.

An exchange says: A careful calculation as to the financial loss inflicted by the late cold snap in Florida places it at $7,000,000. This is assumed that the orange trees are not killed, and takes into account the loss of but half the orange crop of 5,000,000 boxes, as well as of the lemons, limes, pineapple plants and the quantities of tropical vegetables that are raised in Florida for the early market in the North, and which are about all killed. It was the most expensive frost that ever visited that peninsula.

Bills by Senator Dowd.

In the Senate Friday, Mr. W. C. Dowd, Senator from Mecklenburg, introduced bills to incorporate the towns of Seversville and Biddleville, in Mecklenburg county; to incorporate "The Retreat," a private hospital in Charlotte, for the treatment of nervous disease; to authorize the county of Mecklenburg and the city of Charlotte to buy fair grounds.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Cleveland's Administration Endorsed—The Vice President's Bill—The doings of Congress. WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—That there is a conspiracy in existence to make money out of the condition of the Treasury is believed by many men in both branches of the Congress. Naturally members of the administration will not express their belief upon such a matter. The idea of the conspiracy is understood by those who believe in their existence, and to withdraw gold from the Treasury and hoard it until gold can be by its scarcity be forced to a premium. Your correspondent does not undertake to make the positive statement that there is a conspiracy, but the facts are such as to justify the suspicion that there is. It is known to a certainty that the legitimate demand for gold—to pay debts and for purchases in Europe—could have been met with less than one half of the gold that has been recently withdrawn from the Treasury. It is perfectly clear then that more than one-half of the gold withdrawn is now hoarded in the vaults of banks and safe deposit companies. Why? I can earn nothing for its owners while lying idle, and the men who are credited with doing the hoarding are men who always expect a profit out of all their financial transactions. There is only one way they can make a profit out of this one, and that is to force gold to a premium. That's why so many believe they are doing that very thing, or at least try to do it. Can Congress do anything to head off such a conspiracy? It unquestionably can, but will it do so? That is a question easier to ask than to answer. If there is such a conspiracy, it exists solely because of the belief of its members that Congress will do nothing to prevent its operation being successful. President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle are thoroughly alert, and they will not allow gold to go to a premium if it be possible under the authority vested in them by present laws to prevent it by issuing more bonds, and they are both satisfied that it will be, although they would much prefer Congressional action.

Senator Faulkner, who is chairman of the committee on Territories, is anxious to get the bill for the admission of Arizona and New Mexico before the Senate and hopes to be able to do so in a few days. Those bills would have been passed long ago, but for the secret opposition of republican Senators, who lack the courage to openly prevent the admission of those territories, but make use of all their parliamentary skill to kill the bills indirectly, by preventing their being acted upon.

Secretary Carlisle succeeded in getting the House to adopt two important amendments to the Sundry Civil appropriation bill. The first restores to the Secretary of the Treasury the discretion to issue notes of such denominations as he may deem best in place of currency pending redemption. At present he is compelled to re-issue notes of the same denomination as those redeemed and cancelled. The other which amends the law for the issue of gold certificates, provides that such certificates shall not be receivable for custom dues after July 1, 1895, and shall not be available for use as a part of National banks reserve fund and discontinue their further issue.

Sixteen out of the twenty-one votes which were cast in the Senate against the Nicaragua Canal bill came from democrats, and 11 out of the 31 votes cast for it. 13 democrats were paired. Opinion differs widely as to the probability of getting it through the House. Only one thing is certain, and that is, that it cannot be brought to a vote in the House without an order from the committee on Rules. It has been stated by friends of the bill that Speaker Crisp has partly promised that an order setting a time for a vote would be reported, but the statement has never been confirmed by a member of the committee. Even if such an order were reported it might meet the fate of the Currony bill order—be rejected by the House. The Canal lobby is very active.

A decided administration victory was won in the Senate Saturday afternoon, when Senator Vest's amendment to the pending Hawaiian resolution was adopted by the Senate. The Vest amendment expresses sympathy with all attempts to establish republican institutions; reaffirms the doctrine of absolute non-interference with foreign nations, and says: "That the administration of President Cleveland in maintaining this policy as to our foreign relations deserves the approval and support of the American people." The odd feature of this victory was that it was won by the vote of Senator Pettigrew, who will be remembered was one of the republican Senators who voted against the McKinley tariff bill, he having with 23 democrats voted for the Vest amendment, while 18 republicans and 4 populists voted against it. Had Pettigrew voted with the republicans there would have been a tie.

The tariff receipts of the government are rapidly increasing this year, furnishing the answer to the argument advanced by republicans, that the tariff would have to be amended in order to produce more revenue, and bearing out the estimates made by Secretary Carlisle of the new tariff as a revenue producer.

The Record says that a well informed gentleman remarked in Greensboro Wednesday night that the next Republican candidate for Governor of North Carolina would be James M. Moody of Haywood.

Some weeks ago Philip A. Reep, a prominent merchant at Reepville, in Lincoln county, made an assignment. The Rutherford Democrat says that last Monday John Y. Jordan, representing C. E. Graham, of Asheville, and the Elizabeth Shoe Company, swore out a warrant charging Reep with obtaining goods under false pretense, the specific charge being that he had represented his indebtedness to be only $2,200 and his deed of assignment filed within sixty days showed liabilities aggregating over $8,000. He was bound over.
