Just because a fellow is uppish, don't jump to the conclusion you can't down him.

LOVING CUPS FOR ELKS IN PARADE

Exhibited To-day in Garibaldi-Bruno's Window—Trophy by New Bern Lodge and Another Just Offered by Charlotte Elks.

Two silver loving cups to be presented next week to the lodges of attending Elks at the state convention here who meet the conditions set forth for competition for the trophies, were today placed on exhibition in the display windows of the jewelry firm of Garibaldi, Bruno & Dixon, on South Tryon street, where many pedestrians have halted to admire the handsome pieces of the silversmith's art.

The two cups are offered, one by Charlotte Lodge of Elks and the other by New Bern Lodge, the latter cup having been offered in 1912 and being held at present by the High Point Lodge of Elks, No. 1155.

The New Bern cup has the following engraved words:

"Parade Trophy, presented to North Carolina Association B. P. O. E. by New Bern Lodge No. 764; tenth anniversary, March 14, 1912."

The New Bern cup is offered to the lodge which makes the best show as to number and appearance, 60 per cent being allowed for numbers and 40 for appearance.

The handsome new cup that is to be given by the Charlotte Lodge shows the following engraving:

Presented to
By Charlotte Lodge No. 392,
For Appearance, Mileage, Numbers
State Convention Parade
June 24-25, 1915,
Charlotte, N. C.

The decorating of the city for the State Convention of the Elks next week is proceeding rapidly and already many of the principal buildings and the hotels show liberal treatment of flags, bunting and streamers, while the members of Charlotte Lodge, B. P. O. E., are making very extensive plans and preparations in detail for the important part which they will play next week as host to their visiting brothers from all parts of the state.

Mayor Reports Good Meeting of Municipal League in Asheville

Mayor T. L. Kirkpatrick returned last night from Asheville, where he attended the annual meeting of the Carolina Municipal League, which has in session for two days and at which he delivered an address on "Law Enforcement," which will appear in The News. The meeting, according to Mayor Kirkpatrick, was an excellent one and featured by many excellent and timely addresses.

Kinston was chosen as the next place of meeting. Former Mayor Bland of this city, has been president of the league for several years and one of the leading spirits in it. The new officers are Mayor Thomas Murphy, of Greensboro, president; Mayor Rankin, of Asheville, first vice-president; Mayor Armstrong, of Elkin, second vice president; Mayor Johnson, of Raleigh, third vice president; and Mayor Kirkpatrick, of Charlotte, fourth vice president. Among some of the very able addresses delivered at the meeting the following: "City Health Problems," by Dr. C. B. Reynolds, superintendent of health of Asheville; "Relation of Public Service Corporations to City Government," by Mayor Johnson, of Raleigh; "Fire Prevention," by Mr. Herwood Brockwell, of Raleigh; "Moonlight Schools," by Mr. Paul Jones, of Tarboro head of the Junior Order forces of the state. The last mentioned address was devoted to the need of education in the state.

Verdict Set Aside By Judge Lane in Ending Week's Work

The verdicts in two important cases that have engaged the time of Judge Lane and Mecklenburg superior court for some days, have been set aside by the court after juries had returned damages, the amount of $1,000 being allowed in the case of Mrs. Lula Cotten, administratrix vs. Mr. A. N. Perkins and the Central Hotel, while the amount given in the case of Logan Williams colored, against the Carolina & Northwestern Railroad, was $600. The latter award was made by a Gaston county jury and the verdict then brought up before Judge Lane in this city yesterday afternoon, a large number of lawyers from the city and from Gastonia and Chester appearing in the case.

The action against Mr. Perkins and the hotel was brought as a sequence of the death of Willie Cotten, who lost his life while employed at the hotel as elevator boy, the accident taking place last summer.

Death of a Little Child. Charles Lloyd Hope, Jr., the 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lloyd Hope, of Gaffney, S. C., died last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of its grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Johnston here, after a short illness. Mr. and Mrs. Hope were here on a visit to Mr. Johnston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Johnston. The body was sent back to Gaffney today and the burial will take place there.

METHODIST PROTESTANT. Tabernacle services will begin Sunday 10 a. m., meeting to continue through following week. Church located corner of Central ave. and Hawthorne Lane. A hearty welcome extended to all. Rev. D. A. Braswell, pastor.

BEAUTIFUL MORNING WEDDING

In Ceremony Marked With Simplicity, but Impressive and of State-Wide Interest Miss Elizabeth McBee and Mr. Capus Miller Waynick, Become Husband and Wife—Ceremony Solemnized at Preston Home.

A morning wedding of state-wide interest, planned with the utmost simplicity and yet very charming in detail, was solemnized this morning at 9:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Preston, uniting in marriage Miss Elizabeth Hunt McBee and Mr. Capus Miller, the latter of Greensboro.

A representative gathering of guests, including only relatives and a few very intimate friends, witnessed the ceremony. Rev. Dr. D. H. Rolston, of the First Presbyterian church, pastor of the bride, was the minister, and the covenant vows were taken in a ceremony of rare beauty and impressiveness.

The morning was perfect and the warm sunshine bathed yard and house with its happy forecast for the young people who stood before the minister.

White and yellow daisies were the only flowers used in decoration, chosen, not only for their beauty but simplicity.

The two parlors separated only by lovely hangings of old rose silk, were set with brass jardiniere of daisies. Daisy chains made simple, but effective garlands on the silken drapery. The bride and groom stood in the rose draped doorway, the latter being accentuated in beauty by two big brass jardiniere of gold daisies and plumosa fern.

There was only one attendant, the little ring bearer, Miss Anna Jackson Preston, the older of Mr. and Mrs. Preston's two beautiful little daughters, and a distinguished little kinswoman of the bride. She was a picture for an artist's brush in her "wedding dress," which was of sheer white batiste, with three ruffles each edged with real Val. The waist, or body, about five inches long, was encircled with a band of yellow and white daisies, and around her beautiful head of golden curls was a coronet of daisies. She carried a tiny gold basket, just big enough for the wedding ring, from which was a "shower" of daisy chains.

To the accompaniment of Lohengrin's bridal chorus, rendered by Miss Julia Alexander, little Miss Preston entered the parlors walking with the beauty and grace of perfect and lovely childhood to the silk draperies between the two rooms, taking her stand immediately in front of one of the big brass jardiniere filled with daisies, the background being ideal for the little ring bearer's wedding gown.

She was followed in a few minutes by the bride and groom.

The bride wore a becoming and modish tailored suit of navy blue cloth with vest or rolling collar of cream silk, her hat being one of the new shades of red that the season has made pronouncement. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride's roses, and lilies of the valley and dainty ferns, tied with white maline streamers. The happiest of congratulations followed, and then Mr. and Mrs. Waynick left for Norfolk, where they take the boat for New York. They will be absent for a fortnight.

Their future home is to be Greensboro. They will go at once to their own home, Mr. Waynick having built a pretty house in a delightful part of the city, for his bride.

The bride is a daughter of the late Thomas McBee, of Lincoln and Mrs. Sude Avery McBee, of Morganton and Charlotte, and a granddaughter of the late Judge Alphonso C. Avery Burke, whose name is honored throughout North Carolina. Her ancestors, both maternal and paternal is amongst the first in North Carolina, and in her clearmindedness, intellect and nobility of nature she is a true daughter of illustrious forebears. She was a graduate of Fassifern, and later of Salem Academy, of which her distinguished aunt, the late Mrs. Stone-wall Jackson, was the oldest living graduate up to the time of her death.

The bride was not only a leader in thought, in honor, but was one of the most beloved girls in college. During her residence in Charlotte she has won all hearts by her lovely character and bright, charming personality. The groom is known as one of the state's most progressive newspaper men. A writer of ability he easily went to the fore, and is today in charge of The Greensboro Record during the absence of its editor, Col. Jo. Reese, who went north for his health. Mr. Waynick has a host of personal friends, his fine qualities commanding all who like a manly man—a man who thinks in the upper strata and who lives so as to deserve the friendship and admiration of the community in which his lot is cast.

Among the out-of-town relatives who witnessed the wedding were: Messrs. Alphonso and Silas McBee, brothers of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Avery of Morganton, the former an uncle of the bride; Dr. and Mrs. Robt. Hall Morrison, the former a great uncle of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Waynick of Anderson, S. C., Mr. Julian Lewis of Greensboro, Miss Bertie Waynick of Greensboro.

COL. LEWIS WILLIAMS. Very Seriously Ill at Hotel Tryon—Suffered Stroke of Paralysis Last Night.

The older citizenship of Charlotte, and the Masons of the city, will hear with regret of the very critical condition of Col. Lewis S. Williams, the oldest citizen of Charlotte and oldest Mason in the state. Col. Williams suffered a stroke of paralysis last night shortly after midnight, and is very seriously affected. Col. Williams is at the Tryon Hotel. He is the father of Mrs. J. P. Caldwell. He is in his 90th year.
