

SEN. HARRISON IN PRAISE OF DAVIS

Lauds Confederate Constitution and Wishes it Were Still Alive.

Montgomery, Ala., June 4.—Amendment of the Federal constitution to which some of the principles of the Confederate States would bring many needed reforms, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, declared here Monday...

And oh! that some of our present-day democrats who in their selfish desire to enrich a few at the expense of the many, protect one section to the detriment of another, who have joined the ranks of those who believe in a protective tariff, would read and memorize that part of the Confederate constitution that condemned in the strongest possible language a protective tax...

DAVIS IS LAUDED. Senator Harrison, who made the principal address at the dedication as a member of the Old South of the Memorial to which Jefferson Davis lived during the early days of the Confederacy, said high tribute to Davis, asserting that Jefferson Davis is truly the "Lion of the South."

"No American has been so little understood and so maliciously misrepresented as Jefferson Davis," Senator Harrison continued, adding that the imprisonment of Davis at Fort Mifflin was "only exceeded in debasement by one incident in the annals of the Jewish Nazarene."

The Mississippi senator described as "fatal blunder" the removal of the body of the Confederacy from Montgomery to Richmond, Va., he added, "it would have compelled the enemy to operate from a distance base of supplies, and lines of communication 800 miles long would have been the result."

VETERANS HONORED. High tribute also was paid by the speaker to the survivors of the Confederate army gathered here to honor their leader. "Men of the gray and women of the white," said Senator Harrison addressing them, "by your magnificent examples of devotion and bravery and sacrifice, you made humanity better, by the qualities and virtues you exhibited in that great struggle, patriotism was made more sublime, and let me say to you fear not that in this materialistic age the children of the South will never forget the principles which you suffered and the process heritage that you have given us. We and our children will revere the spirit of your service and devotion. We will remember that your marvelous self-sacrifice, heroic sacrifice, and inspiring patriotism is the most glorious legacy with which the South is endowed."
