JIM GUDGER NO

Veteran Hurler Canned; Roberts Gets Release Today.

Jim Gudger, veteran hurler until recently with the Houston club of the Texas league, was released last night by President Hayman, of the Hornets. Gudger was purchased by Charlotte on option from Houston earlier in the year. He failed to make good here and was turned back. Houston released him and he asked for another chance here. He has been unable to win and his defeat at the hands of Spartanburg yesterday was the final blow. Roberts, the little catcher who blew into town in a Ford one day and asked and received a job as a catcher, will go out the way he came in tomorrow with the added baggage of an unconditional release.

Ray Kennedy will be ready for duty Monday and Carroll will be retained as second catcher. Kennedy is as good an infielder as he is a backstop and may play third base until that hole is

BULLS WIN.

Durham, June 4.- Durham and Winston-Salem played a very slow game this afternoon, the Bulls hitting three Twin pitchers hard and taking advantage of errors. It took two hours and a half to play the nine-inning combat. It was the only game in the Piedmont League today that reached a decision, others being rained out or tied.
