

SOLID TRAIN OF BUICKS ARRIVES

C. Coddington, Inc., Operates Own 50-Car Train to Overcome Shortage.

The first solid train load of automobiles ever brought into the South on a regular schedule arrived Thursday afternoon in Charlotte. This special freight was made up of 149 Buick automobiles and 149 Buick touring cars from Flint, Mich., to C. C. Coddington, Inc., Buick distributor for the South, in 25 hours total running time, under direction of W. C. Murphy, Coddington's traffic representative. Murphy's cooperation was accorded the "Murphy Special," as it was called, by the various railroads handling the shipment and the schedule was only nine hours slower than fast passenger train schedules. Because of the quick trip, the train arrived here before special delivery packages containing bills of lading, which were mailed the day the train departed from Flint. No time was lost after arrival in beginning the task of unloading the train and when completed Lee A. Folger, vice-president, said slightly less than one minute was required, on the average, to unload each automobile. The loading at the Buick factory required three hours, 45 minutes. The value of the automobiles in this shipment was approximately $300,000. These Buicks are the 1922 model, and Mr. Folger said they were the first 1922 models of any make of motor car to be received in Charlotte. This shipment, however, is insufficient to fill all the orders for Buicks now booked by Coddington, and the train will leave Charlotte early Saturday morning on the return trip to Flint for another capacity shipment.

Aspirin

"Bayer" on Genuine Aspirin—say "Bayer"

Unless you see the name Bayer on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Take only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve Bayer Tablets of Aspirin cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoacetic acid ester of Salicylic acid.

Calles Optimistic Over the Situation

Mexico City, June 10.—P. Ellias Calles, Secretary of the Interior, who returned yesterday from an exclusive trip throughout the Republic, expressed optimism over the situation which has arisen between the United States and Mexico relative to recognition being extended the Obregon government. "I am absolutely sure," said the secretary, "that President Obregon will be able to resolve the so-called conflict with the United States without disengagement of himself or the nation."

He added he did not consider the situation grave, and said the entire cabinet was in absolute agreement with the policy outlined by President Obregon. Charges that he is sympathetic with the bolsheviks have been made against Secretary Calles, but he dismissed these allegations as "inconsequential," explaining, however, that he was "a friend of the proletariat and will defend it, but always within the law." The entire nation has been pacified, the secretary asserted, and is returning to the paths of peace. He said he would make a detailed report of his trip at today's cabinet meeting, at which international affairs may be discussed.

Southern Presbyterian Church Made Largest Per Capita Gifts

Chicago, June 10.—Gifts amounting to more than $200,000,000 were made by Southern church members during the last year according to a statistical table given out here today by Dr. Luther E. Lovejoy, of Chicago, and compiled by Dr. William E. Pample, Philadelphia, secretary of the United Stewardship Council, an interdenominational council.

The list is divided into two sections, gifts to the missions and benevolences and gifts for congregational expenses. The latter totaled the more of the two. The table follows:

LISBON
Picture City of Portugal.

Washington, June 10.—Lisbon, which newspaper dispatches report in civil upheaval has an appeal for the seeker of quaint and individual places, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The bulletin says: "This port of Portugal, which has very aptly been called the kernel of the country, saw the commercial pride of the Phoenicians and heard the fervent prayers of Vasco da Gama before he set out on his perilous voyage in search of India, the land which had lured navigators for centuries. "Lisbon's ancient name was Ullisipo which caused many Greek scholars to try to connect it with the wanderings of Ulysses, but the name probably originated from two Phoenician words meaning Pleasant Bay, which is made doubly plausible because the mouth of the Tagus just beyond the city widens into one of the best harbors in the whole of Europe."

A MOSAIC OF CONQUESTS
The Romans knew Lisbon as Felicitas Julia, and it grew to be the second city of Lusitania, that famous district of Hispania in the time of the Caesars. Its temple and theatre ruins attest its occupation. Successively it has been seized by the Alans, the Visigoths, the Moors, and the Crusaders. The fact that the inhabitants of Lisbon were tolerant of the dark Moorish invaders is evidenced in the coloring of the crowds in the Lisbon streets today. The kindly influence of the Crusaders mingled with the Portuguese masses left its mark too, and has shown itself in the friendly relations that have practically ever since, existed between the two nations.

"Men of letters have sought out the city for its individuality and beauty, which caused the ecstatic Byron upon first beholding from the bay its terraced seven hills to exclaim:
"What beauties doth Lisboa first unfold!
Her image floating on that noble tide
Which poets vainly pave with sands of gold."

"Commercially the city has natural advantages in its harbor, which can accommodate the largest vessel, and an advantageous position on the Atlantic. At present its trade is confined chiefly to exporting cork, wine, olive oil and tropical fruits, and importing coal, wood, corn, rice and manufactured articles from England, Brazil and its own African colonies."

A MEDLEY SCENE
"Along the Tagus vegetables, fruits and flowers are piled in high heaps to tempt the eager marketeer, boats of every description from the dingy fishing smacks to the ladylike Atlantic liner are loading and unloading their cargoes, and the fish peddlers who are to be seen everywhere in the Lisbon streets are raucously bargaining for their stock in trade with the fishermen along the wharves.
"Then house above house in ever-ascending terraces the city proper rises above the water front, its white buildings gleaming in the sunlight. In the hills near the city there is a limestone as white and soft as chalk which becomes hard upon exposure and this has largely been used as building material. Many of the buildings are faced with colored tiles, and others are washed pink or blue, but there is a softness in the general impression never to be seen elsewhere in the Lisbon old tiled roofs which are warped and curving, with their grassgrown furrows are delightful.

"The houses and streets in the greater part of the city present a spick and span appearance, but some of the older portions of the city are not only rustic, but are dirty. Morning and evening the milkman drives his cows through the streets and satisfies the housewife's mind that his wares are fresh by milking her pall full while she waits. One ardent city improvement enthusiast as late as 1835 put up a plea that the inhabitants be forbidden to break their horses, to kill or singe their pigs in the streets or to tie them to their doorposts, as such things rather annoyed the inhabitants."

KING DINES AS CITY RIOTS
"The government houses are in the Praca do Commercio around Black Horse Square nicknamed from an equestrian statue of King Joseph, which opens out toward the water. Rolling Motion Square, so called from the wavy mosaic of its pavement, is the business center. West from the center of the city stands the Palace of the Necessidades, where on a night in October, 1910, King Manoel II entertained a gay party of Brazilians at his last meal in his realm. While the dinner was at its height word was brought to him that revolution had broken out. He went calmly on with the dinner, scribbling on a menu card that the courses of the meal were to be served as expeditiously as possible, and not until the shells struck the palace walls did he rise from the table.
"Lisbon has one possession of which any city could be proud. It is the monastery of San Jeronymo which, in the beauty of its marbles, porphyry, jasper, jade, lapis lazuli, its mosaics, and its inlays, is said to be unexcelled except by the Sistine Chapel in Rome. On the site there originally stood a hospice and chapel built by Henry the Navigator for sailors. Here on the night of July 6, 1497, Vasco da Gama retired to pray earnestly for the success of the voyage on which he would embark the next day. Here, too, the King made a vow that if he were successful a noble temple should be built, and when the famous adventurer returned the first stone of the present building was laid."

ELABORATE ENTERTAINMENT.
Greenville, S. C., June 10.—An elaborate program of entertainment was arranged here Thursday for Colonel Charles R. Forbes, director of the Federal War Risk Bureau, who will arrive here Saturday morning for a visit to public health service hospitals at Camp Sevier.

GENEROUS WITH BLOOD.
Cleveland, Ohio, June 10.—An appeal for volunteers for blood transfusion was answered by 372 out of 500 members of the Cleveland fire department on duty yesterday. Three of the firemen's blood was found suitable. Coins were matched to see who would be accepted and Charles L. Trinker won.
