

A MILLION BALES NOT TENDERABLE

One-Fourth of Cotton Held in Warehouses Not Up to Contract Grades.

Washington, June 15.—Nearly 1,000,000 bales of cotton, exclusive of linters, held in public storage in this country on May 31, were not tenderable on future contracts, the Census Bureau reported today to Secretary Hoover. Cotton not tenderable, it was explained, includes a grade of white cotton, tinged cotton, yellow stained, blue stained and any cotton bluer than low middling white.

and public cotton yards, amounted to 4,639,068 bales on May 31, the report said. Nearly a million bales of this was not graded, the report stating that warehouse men, as a rule, are interested merely in the price per bale and not in the quality.

Data returned from storage places reporting placed the total American cotton held at 3,974,974 bales, of which 24 per cent, or 970,230 bales, was reported as not tenderable on future contract.

In computing the amount of untenderable cotton, only American cotton was considered in arriving at the total of 4,639,068 bales of all cotton held in warehouses. There were 100,738 bales of foreign cotton also held on May 31, bringing the total cotton in public storage and at compresses to 4,739,851 bales.

No child is born short-sighted, but the tendency may be inherited.

AD CLUBS HAVE TWO CANDIDATES

Boosting MacIntosh and Hopkins for President of the Organization.

Atlanta, June 15.—Supporters of Charles Henry MacIntosh, of Chicago, and George W. Hopkins, of New York, rival candidates for international president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, were working hard here today while the convention delegates were attending inter-departmental meetings.

The Chicago advertising man had been regarded as certain of being elected until friends of the New Yorker came out last night with announcement of his candidacy. The committee to nominate officers who are to be elected Thursday was divided, leaving the final choice to be made on the floor of the convention.

Milwaukee, Wis., was unanimously chosen by the president for the 1922 convention. Atlanta City, N. C., the only other city nominated had been withdrawn. While the next meeting place is to be decided by vote at the general session Thursday, supporters of the Wisconsin city were confident that they had won the choice of the executive is generally ratified.

RING OWNED BY KABER LOCATED

Said to Have Been Given Assassins by Widow as Part Payment.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 15.—A diamond ring and watch owned by Daniel F. Kaber, which are said to have been turned over to one of his assassins by his widow, Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, as part payment for his murder, have been located by the police and it was predicted the articles would be in their possession within a few hours.

The police refused to say whether the ring and watch are still in possession of one of four men said to have been aired to commit the murder, for which Mrs. Kaber, Mrs. Mary Brickel, her mother, Miss Marian McCardle, her daughter, and Mrs. Erminia Colavito, a mid-wife, are under indictment.

Mrs. Colavito declared the two articles were given to the man by Mrs. Kaber in her presence, according to the police. The city chemist today continued an analysis of some "medicine" which Mrs. Colavito is said to have admitted she prescribed for John Julian, now in the Newburg state hospital for the insane, as a cure for headaches. The "medicine" is said to be similar to that given to Kaber. A preliminary analysis, the chemist said, showed that it contained poison.

Fads and Fancies Of Official Family

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR

The "Buffalo Bill" of the cabinet is Albert B. Fall. Secretary of the Interior. Fall not only looks like the late wild west hero, but he is said to have been almost as good a shot in the old gun days out in New Mexico.

This tall, well set up man with long "spider-leg" moustaches, a "poor face" and hair worn over his peak in long Western style, doesn't look like the typical Cabinet member, but he is one of the most trusted advisors to President Harding. It is said that the President trusts Fall's judgment as much as that of any man in the Cabinet. They are also warm personal friends due to an acquaintance growing out of the days when both served in the United States Senate.

Fall is popularly known as the "fire-eater" of the Cabinet—but those who know him personally say there is not a kinder, better natured man in Washington official life. There is a firm gleam in his sharp eyes, however, which indicates that he will not stand for nonsense. He spent many years in the wild border country of the Southwest, where arguments were won by the man who was quickest on the trigger. But coming to the Senate, he soon showed that he was a dead shot with his tongue as well as with a six-shooter and few opposition Senators had the courage to stand up under his withering sarcasm. He was a bitter-ender during the treaty fight and one of the severest critics of Woodrow Wilson.

COMPLIMENT IS PAID TO "BILLY MALONE"

Elizabeth City, June 15.—Franklin T. Miller, assistant to Secretary Herbert Hoover of President Harding's cabinet, paid E. L. Keesler of Charlotte a marked compliment while making the principal address at the first meeting of the North Carolina Building and Loan League now holding its annual sessions here. Mr. Miller declared that it was Mr. Keesler who was the author of the first home loan bank bill to be introduced in Congress, this measure having been sponsored by Mr. Keesler while he was president of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations and introduced in 1918. The main body of Mr. Miller's address was in connection with the housing problem in this country and he forecast that only stimulation of interest in building and loan associations could this problem be solved.

The sessions of the convention today will be featured by addresses by E. L. Keesler of Charlotte and Insurance Commissioner Stacey W. Wade, Heriot Clarkson of Charlotte and Col Walker Taylor of Wilmington will also address the convention which is being attended by about 75 building and loan men of the State.

FLORIDA BUSINESS MAN ENTHUSIASTIC

"I wouldn't take all the world for the good Garren's Tonic has done me. There is absolutely no question about its being a wonderful medicine, prompt in its action and very beneficial. I weighed less than 135 pounds and was on the verge of a nervous breakdown in 1914, suffering from indigestion. After taking four bottles of Garren's Tonic I felt like a new man. My average weight of 185 pounds was regained and has not been below 175 pounds since," said John P. Crouch, secretary of the Florida Help Supply Company, Jacksonville, Fla.

THE INDIANS KNEW.

A famous physician stated that more women might find relief from suffering through taking a medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than through undergoing all the operations, if they would only take it in time. At the first sign of female weakness, as indicated by backache, dizziness, bearing down pains and nervous exhaustion, take this famous remedy of roots and herbs, and avoid the serious consequences of delay.

The Indians and early settlers knew and benefited by Nature's Allies, the roots and herbs of the field. Because Lydia E. Pinkham knew their medicinal value, thousands of women all over the world have been saved from operations, but only such as have taken it in time.

COPPER STILL SEEN IN COURT

Huntersville Men Being Tried on Charge of Moonshining.

The trial of two white men of the Huntersville section of the county on a charge of making liquor is proving the most interesting case on the criminal court docket, which was called when Judge J. E. McElroy opened court Monday morning. The men being tried are Thomas H. Brown and W. A. L. Smith. J. L. Cross, another man of their neighborhood, who was placed under arrest shortly after the Mecklenburg grand jury brought a presentment against the last court, is not being tried and it is expected the case against him will be not pressed.

The defendants are charged with being part there was little or no moonshining outfit which Deputy Sheriff Hunter and Fesperman, Rural Police-man Brown and Johnston and city detectives ran across one morning at daylight several weeks ago near Huntersville. In addition to the outfit itself, one of the largest and most complete ever found in the county, there was found 2,000 gallons of "beer" about ready to be put in a run of whiskey. The officers found the place deserted when they swooped down on the outfit, but there was plenty of evidence it had been tenanted only a short while before. Sandwiches, coffee, and other delicacies, including slices of beef, were found about the place indicating that the operators of the still had been there during the night and had just left. It is believed they got a tip from someone stationed to watch that it was time to run.

The indictments brought by the grand jury at the last court against the present defendants were brought after a number of people had been called before the grand jury and questioned. All three of the men against whom warrants were served are well known in the communities where they have lived and the trial is creating a maximum of interest among the people of Huntersville and vicinity.

The case was called Tuesday afternoon and was still on Wednesday. There was little expectation it would be completed before late Wednesday afternoon. The court room was crowded Tuesday afternoon and at an early Wednesday session it is expected the defendants were on the stand Wednesday morning. They both deny having anything to do with the operation of the still.

F. M. Redd and D. B. Smith are attorneys for the plaintiff and Francis Stewart is assisting Solicitor General Wilson in the prosecution.
