

Bees Come Home to Win Double Bill

Columbia Wins First, 3 To 2 But Charlotte Blanks Haughty Beckmen In The Second, 3 To 0

The Hornets and the Bees split a double bill at Wearn field Saturday afternoon. Columbia winning the first by a score of 3 to 2, and the Hornets shutting out Columbia in the second, 3 to 0.

The Bees came close to winning the first game. With the score 3 to 2 in favor of the Hornets when the Bees tried to bat in their half of the ninth. Ben Paschal led off with a three bagger. It looked like he could have made it on in, as the ball was relayed, but he was held by a third. Kirke, Tom Day and Ray Kennedy, the last batting for Devereaux, were unable to do anything for Paschal. A long fly would have tied the game anyway.

Cutie Knutson started the first game for the Bees, but he was wild and ranted out before two innings had gone by. Wilson going in. Wilson gave up four hits. He was put in in the ninth, and Middy came in for Wilson. Middy came across with a two-bagger that became a run later on. Columbia made her three runs early. In the first inning a base on balls, sent Nally, a wild pitch in an endeavor to catch him off first and a hit by Perritt netted a run. In the second inning Lacy and Taverner walked, both scoring later. Devereaux hit a hit and a poorly fielded grounder were responsible.

Charlotte made her first run in the seventh. O'Connell hit a double, went off the bases and scored on Kirke's fly. In the eighth inning Middy, batting for Wilson, hit for two bases. Williams singled, Larley, running for Middy, going to third. He came in on a passed ball a few minutes later.

The second game was a sweet one. Submarine Gheen was in fine fettle, holding the Hornets to five hits. Turk looked like he did not walk any more and struck out six men. The Hornets made one run in the first inning, one in the second and one in the third. The game was clearly theirs after the start. Standard not being up to their usual standard.

Correll, second man up in the first, hit a double to left field. O'Connell singled, Correll scoring. Paschal hit safely and advanced a base on a balk, but Kirke and Tom Day struck out for the two last outs.

In the second inning Kennedy hit a ball that bounded over the centerfield fence for the only run that inning. In the third, with two down, Paschal was safe on Taverner's hobble and scored when Kirke singled to right. Kirk was out trying to steal second. Only one Comer reached second in the second game, Goslin getting a two base hit.

Lee Correll had a nice time in the first game. He accepted three chances. Edgie O'Connell had four putouts and three assists in his credit in the seven-inning second game. The grand stand and the bleachers were crowded to capacity.

Outfielder Signed For The Hornets

Felix Hayman announced yesterday afternoon that Ben Kingston, an outfielder, has been signed to play with the Hornets. Kingston comes to Charlotte from New York, where he has been playing on a team known as the Bronx Giants. He played at one time in the eastern league. He is said to be a fast man and a good hitter. He is due to get in today, and will play in the opening game with Greenville at Greenville, Monday.

SPORTING CARD GOOD FOR WEEK

Forthcoming Big Bout is Being Temporarily Overshadowed.

BY JACK VEICK, International News Sporting Editor.

New York, June 18.—Sporting events of national and international interest will steal some of the glamour from the Dempsey-Carpentier fight during the coming week.

On this side of the pond, the blue-ribbon rowing events of the year will be staged at Poughkeepsie and New London.

The classic intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson with California, Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, Penn and the Navy is one of the coming events.

On Friday those time honored rivals, Yale and Harvard will clash in varsity, junior, varsity and freshman regatta on the Connecticut river.

The representative flavor of the Poughkeepsie event, with the plucky Columbia boys scheduled to row against the crews along the Atlantic seaboard with the lone exception of Princeton's crack "B" varsity eight, makes this race the most important of the season from an all-around standpoint.

Yale and Harvard, though neither has shown much class in races to date, will demand as much attention as ever because of the intense rivalry between them and the historic color of the contest.

An angle of the Dempsey-Carpentier battle, the naming of a referee at Jersey City, will attract attention of sportsmen this side of the Atlantic.

The matches for the international polo cup, which got underway today at Hurlingham with a brilliant victory for the Americans will be continued on Wednesday and Saturday. If a third match is needed to determine the winner. Last but by no means least, the classic international tennis champions at Wimbledon will hold a prominent place in the spotlight throughout the coming week.

William T. Tilden, II, who won the Wimbledon singles last year will defend his title. Mrs. Mollie Mallory, America's woman tennis champion, will attempt to win honors in the women's singles and will pair with Miss Edith Sigourney in the doubles. In the mix doubles Miss Mallory is scheduled to team with Tilden.

CHICKS BEATEN BY PELS, 3 TO 1

Birmingham Beats Atlanta; Nashville Beats Mobile and Travelers the Lookouts.

Manhasset, N. Y., June 11.—Georges Carpentier showed his real class in secret training here today.

The pugilist who went five fast rounds with Max Baer in the morning here, was far different man than the stalling, bowing Carpentier of his public workouts.

Georges cut loose with some really fast punches and the challenger, who has found missing in his exhibition. None of his sparring partners could put a glove on him. The Frenchman fought them entirely on the defensive, slipping and dodging, but he seemed certain to land with an uncanny little sidestep at his own.

Marca Dennis, the French light weight, went two rounds with Georges in imitation of Dempsey. Georges stepped away and the blows caught only the empty air. Then Carpentier called for Italian Joe Gans, possessed of a powerful left hand, and practiced his peculiar defense for that blow. After Gans, cumbersome Paul Journee took on the Frenchman. Carpentier came into close quarters and hit better in the pinches and defeated the Lookouts by today 5 to 3. Each team secured eleven hits. The Peble crew, by bunching hits in the sixth frame, scored four tallies and practically put the game on ice.

Chattanooga 3; Little Rock 5. Nashville 5; Mobile 4.

TRAVELERS BEAT LOOKOUTS

Little Rock, June 18.—The Travelers hit better in the pinches and defeated the Lookouts by today 5 to 3. Each team secured eleven hits. The Peble crew, by bunching hits in the sixth frame, scored four tallies and practically put the game on ice.

MADE THREAT TO CALL OFF FIGHT

Dempsey's Manager and Boxing Commission in Grave Dispute.

BY HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 18.—"We will call off the fight before we will submit to dictation on the selection of a referee," Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, declared tonight.

There will be a New Jersey official in the ring, or there will be no fight," said Commander Lyons of the State boxing commission, which arrived here unexpectedly this afternoon.

The fact that the commission had come here today was a compromise. Reports were being circulated that Harry Ertle would be dropped and that an agreement would be reached on "Slim" Brennan of Jersey City as referee.

WANTS EVEN BREAK The commissioners, however, maintained they had only come here on a visit. Kearns said he would like to have the commission to certify a list of licensed referees. "I would even be willing to have the name drawn from a hat. In the past the champion has always had something to say about the referee, and Dempsey is going to be consulted."

All that Lyons would add to his statement was that the commission has the right by law to name the referee. The champion gave his heavy sparring partners a rest this afternoon and took on Patsy Cline, Joe Benjamin and Eddie O'Hare.

Dempsey has no trouble in reaching the speedy light weights, but pulled all his punches and seemed to be trying for footwork and wind.

O'Hare, a rugged boy and a great boxer, gave Dempsey the best work of the afternoon. The champion put more force into his blows against him than he has in any other fight.

Bill Brennan, big Chicago heavy-weight public house fighter, struck the limelight since he stayed twelve rounds with Dempsey last winter, was one of the spectators.

"He's looking great," Brennan said. "He ought to beat Carpentier without trouble. No heavyweight in the game can stand up before Dempsey's short body punches. Carpentier is too frail to take them."

It was not until the "Virginia judge" of the stage, also saw the champion work out. Kelly saw the Klaus-Carpentier fight in Paris.

"It won't go more than a couple of rounds, but as Dempsey gets going over a couple of punches to the body that Frenchman will fold up. He cannot take them in the body," Kelly said.

Dempsey will go through his usual workout tomorrow, but either will go riding with Max Baer in the morning or take a few miles on the road. The heavy sparring partners led by Battling Chee will be called up to take them at the afternoon session.

TOO MANY HOGS IN BOXING GAME

Promoters Blamed for Cloud That Has Gathered Over the Sport.

BY HENRY L. FARRELL.

New York, June 18.—After watching the ups and downs of boxing, Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, are beginning to make good and go down, the question naturally arises:

"What is the matter with the game?"

Many thousand fans, who recently saw the Leonard-Kansas contest in Harrison, N. J., can come near giving the correct answer.

"It's the fault of the promoters," they say. "The men who are in the game to make money out of it can't seem to lose sight of that fact. They can see nothing but the dollar."

With the nasty rumors of a fixed fight that circulate and the worst treatment ever accorded to ticket holders, the Leonard-Kansas bout will go down as one of the dirtiest entries on the boxing book.

Thousands of New Yorkers paid $11 for reserved seats. They wanted reserved seats and paid good money for them just because they wanted to be sure to get a seat after they made their arduous trip to New York city.

Spinners Shut Out The Pals; Augusta Beats Spartanburg 6-4

Charleston Able to Reach Second Base Only Twice During the Game.

Charleston, S. C., June 18.—Lew Wendell's Spinners circled the bases six times today while the Pals were only able to reach second base twice on account of Henry Thompson's wonderful pitching. He left the Pals slugger, Ed Hinkle, a wild pitch in an endeavor to get back to the mound, but Hinkle, making his season's debut, was rapped hard for singles throughout the contest. Spectacular fielding on both sides, especially the Pals, featured the contest. In the ninth a near riot occurred when Empire Kelly waved Bankston back to the plate. He was hit by a pitched ball but the umpire ruled he made no effort to avoid being hit. In the twelfth Bankston stepped Kelly's hand and stuck his finger in his face. He also used anti-Sunday language according to the umpire, and he was ejected from the game, but not before Pitcher Cothran and some fans mixed it.

AMERICA IS EASY WINNER IN FIRST POLO CONTEST

England Smothered, 11 to 4, Americans Rushing Play Throughout Match.

BY CHARLES McCANN, Staff Correspondent of The News. Copyright, 1921, by News Publishing Co.

Hurlingham, England, June 18.—America smothered England today in the first match for the international polo championship. It is the superiority of the visiting four led British experts to predict tonight that the title would revert to the United States after being held in Great Britain since the last previous match in 1914.

The teams will play again Wednesday, and if a third game is necessary will meet on the following Saturday. In every department—teamwork, individual play and mounts. The visitors rode like demons, keeping the British on the defensive most of the game.

START WITH RUSH. Starting off with a rush in the first chukker or period, the Americans scored two goals and shut out their opponents. Each side scored one goal in the second, and two each in the third. The fourth chukker went to the English one to one. After that the Americans out over the defenders 25 to 1, scoring two goals to nothing in the fifth, sixth and seventh periods.

There are usually eight chukkers in a game, but today's match was limited to seven through an agreement reached shortly before the start.

As had been anticipated, Devereux Milburn, the veteran American captain, was the individual star. Although he scored but one goal, he prevented several English scores by his wonderful blocking.

Until the teams appeared on the field, shortly before the game began it had been believed that Milburn would be unable to play. He wrenched his back in practice several days ago and physicians would not consent to him playing until they made a final examination about noon.

WEBB ALSO STARS. Next in brilliance to Milburn was J. Watson Webb, who played No. 3 on the American team. Although he scored but one goal, he was the Thomas C. Hitchcock, at No. 2, the youngster for the team, was credited with four goals. Louis Stoddard, No. 1, was somewhat overshadowed but clung to Major Lockett, the British champion, like a leech, and neutralized the famous Englishman's best efforts.

Lt. Colonel P. A. Tompkinson, the English No. 1, scored three of his team's goals but was very weak in his short inning and missed several easy chances for scores. Lord Wodehouse, No. 3, rode splendidly. He was outclassed by Webb, however. The playing of Major F. W. Barrett, was excellent.

The English experts were disappointed, however, and one of them was heard to remark that "England needs eight men to beat this lot."

GREAT CROWD SEES IT. The spectators who numbered more than 12,000, the largest crowd yet seen in the history of polo, were seated in the grand stands. The United States was represented by Ambassador Harvey, other members of the diplomatic service and several Rotarians.

Groans of disappointment rose when an English player missed a ball. The huge American contingent whooped with delight over the brilliant team play of its representatives. Both teams were cheered wildly as they walked around the field.

Bands played the two country's national anthems. Referee Euzemaster tossed out the ball for the first chukker at 3:31 p. m. Barrett got possession of it, passed it to Lockett and the latter went for goal, but Milburn blocked. After it had changed hands several times, Webb got the ball and shot the first goal, after two and a half minutes of play. Hitchcock scored the second a minute later.

PLAY GREW FURIOUS. During the two minute rest period which followed the chukker—each of which lasted eight minutes and a half—both teams obtained fresh mounts and the second period with increasing furious play.

The second and third chukkers were the best fought of the game. Fouls were frequent and some of them resulted in the referee awarding the ball to the opposing side. Superiority of the American ponies became apparent at the beginning of the fifth chukker. The challengers remounted as was speedily as those with which they began playing. The end of the game, however, found the English pressing the Americans hard. Milburn blocking the third try for goals as the final gong rang.
