REALTY REVIVAL BEING INDICATED

After reaching a climax of activity last March, the Charlotte real estate market witnessed a period of partial inactivity but is now rapidly going back to the conditions that prevailed in March. These facts are revealed in the number of deeds going through the clerk of the court's and the register of deeds' offices and tabulated by Deputy Register of Deeds John Moore. The high water mark of real estate activity in Charlotte, as indicated in the number of deeds of transfer filed and their value, was when 235 deeds were filed in March, the real estate conveyed being worth $1,145,144.50. In January there had been 190 deeds filed worth $797,664.31 and in February 182 deeds were filed worth $447,863.70. In April there was a slump from the high record of March down to 215 deeds filed and representing transfer of realty worth $734,387.75. In May 191 deeds were filed worth $750,610.33. In June, 180 were filed worth a total of $622,267.13. In July 178 deeds were filed representing transfer of realty worth $591,754. In August 207 deeds were filed and an aggregate value of $758,737.70 was represented in the deeds, showing that there is a general tendency back toward normalcy in the local real estate market. With the sudden advance in cotton and the promise that fact holds out as to a return of normal, or better than normal business conditions, real estate men of the city believe there will soon be a marked revival in real estate activity and one that will exceed in proportions any that has been shown here since prior to 1914.
